VISITING THRONG JOINS CITY FOR HOLIDAY TODAY

Police Prepared for Trafic Rush.

Celebrate at Fair

Chicagoans prepared yesterday to celebrate Independence day today and to entertain a throng of vistors, largely drawn by the World's Fair, which railway and hotel officials predicted would be one of the largest in the city's history.

Forecaster C. A. Donnel promised partly cloudy and somewhat warmer weather for the celebration, with prospects of showers tonight.

Police Prepare for Rush.

In anticipation of a record trafic rush and of possible emergencies arising from the celebration, captains in many Chicago police districts and heads of a number of suburban forces canceled all leaves for the day. Capt. David Flynn, head of the Chicago trafic bureau, said that while he was not augmenting routine details he would have a large force on call for emergencies.

City officials in Chicago and suburbs were busy with plans to keep the celebration safe, not only in the matter of fireworks displays but in other respects. Last year the National Safety council reported July 4 saw only six fireworks deaths in the nation, but there were 66 trafic fatalities and 42 drownings.

A city ordinance prohibits the possession as well as the sale of fireworks. Police Commissioner Allman gave orders to his men to take all children found setting off fireworks to their parents and to warn the latter that they will be liable to prosecution if the children persist in violations. Members of the fire department were instructed to be on the alert both for illegal sales of fireworks and possible fire hazards from their use.

Warns Against Powder Burns.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, issued a warning to the public that to prevent lockjaw all powder burns should be treated with anti-tetanus serum. He also warned picnickers against unsafe water supplies, recommending that they carry drinking water along if they are in doubt about the purity of the water where they are going.

While most of Chicago's organized celebrations will be concentrated at the World's Fair, veterans' organizations will conduct a ceremony at 3 o'clock today at the Chicago Historical society building in Lincoln park. There veterans of the civil, Spanish-American, and world wars will meet to dedicate two civil war cannon, a naval gun removed from the Maria Theresa, flagship of the Spanish fleet sunk at Santiago, and a British five inch field gun used by American troops in France.

Numerous suburbs, among them Oak Park, Forest Park, Berwyn, Maywood, and several along the north shore, will hold community celebrations with picnics, fireworks displays, and parades.

Principal Stores to Be Closed.

All public buildings, banks, stock and commodity exchanges and the principal stores of the city will be closed today. There will be no regular carrier delivery of mail, Postmaster Ernest J. Kreutgen announced, but special delivery service will be maintained. A general delivery window will be open from 8 to 10 p. m. in the lobby of the United States courthouse, and a stamp window will be open there until midnight.

A number of highways closed for rebuilding, will be open to trafic over the holiday, the Chicago Motor club announced. These will include Vincennes avenue, from 68th to 87th street; Ogden avenue, from Cicero to Crawford avenue; United States route 45, north of Palos park; Lincoln highway [United States 30], through Chicago Heights; 147th street, from Cicero avenue to Western avenue; Glencoe road from Scott street to South avenue, and Green Bay road, from the Lake county line to Koehling road.

Wind Whirls Haystack on Power Line; 2 Fields Burn

Smithsburg, Md., July 3.—(AP)—An unusual fire today destroyed crops in two farm fields. A haystack on the farm of F. M. Kretsinger was whirled into the air by wind and carried against a high tension wire. The stack burst into flames and fell back into the field. The fire spread to the rest of the hay and jumped into a field of barley owned by John Martin, destroying it also.

TRAP NEW AUTO STEALING RING; 18 ARE SEIZED

Swift Police Raids Round Up Gang.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

An automobile theft ring which used three garages for stripping stolen cars and a "burial ground" for concealing stolen parts that might be identified, was broken up last night by state's attorney's police. Eighteen men were under arrest at the Warren avenue station.

The ring, which police assert handled from five to eight stolen cars a day, was uncovered by Sergt. Fred O'Day and his special automobile detail. Three raids resulted in the recovery of 19 stolen autos and accessories valued in excess of $10,000.

Because of a possibility that further arrests of thieves and receivers might be made by the policemen stationed at the three garages, the names of all but one of those arrested were withheld.

"Chief Mechanic" Seized.

The one name was Earl Estep, seized in a garage at 3331 Oconto avenue and alleged to be chief mechanic for the ring.

Sergt. O'Day and his squad made their first arrest at the Oconto avenue address. There they found three cars, two of which had their engines and chasses interchanged; a favorite method, police said, of concealing the identity of a stolen car. A number of accessories were recovered.

Near the garage, which was listed under Estep's name, the police found the "auto cemetery" used by the members of the ring to hide engines the numbers of which they were unable to obliterate.

While the police were inspecting the recovered cars in the garage, two thieves, with freshly stolen cars, drove up and asked for Estep. They were arrested immediately.

Raid Two Other Garages.

Two policemen were left to watch the Estep garage for further arrivals, and the others went to two more garages. One of these is said to be in the 7200 block on Belmont avenue, and the other is within a few blocks of Oconto avenue.

At these places the raiders were equally fortunate. They found 13 additional stolen cars, and arrested six more men, all said to be mechanics. Special details were posted by Sergt. O'Day in both these garages to watch for thieves making deliveries, or for receivers calling for altered cars.

The details were posted at 9 p. m., and by midnight nine more men, six of them said to be receivers and three said to be thieves, had been trapped.

Early today the state's attorney's investigators were still looking for more members of the ring, which is said to have had an important branch on the south side. The mastermind of the gang, it was suspected, would be found there.

Suspect Slaying Is Link.

For a time last night it was suspected by the police that the slaying of Fred Zehrol, alias James, alias Enright, 24 year old hoodlum who was shot down in front of 1331 North Clark street during the afternoon, was the work of the thieves' organization.

Zehrol was walking calmly along the street when a car in which four men rode drew up beside him. One of the men leaped out, placed a pistol close to the pedestrian's head, and fired three times. All the bullets took effect.

It was the theory of the investigators that the victim was one of the ring members and that he had been killed by his ex-friends to prevent his giving information on the subject of automobile thefts to the police.

Not the Same "James."

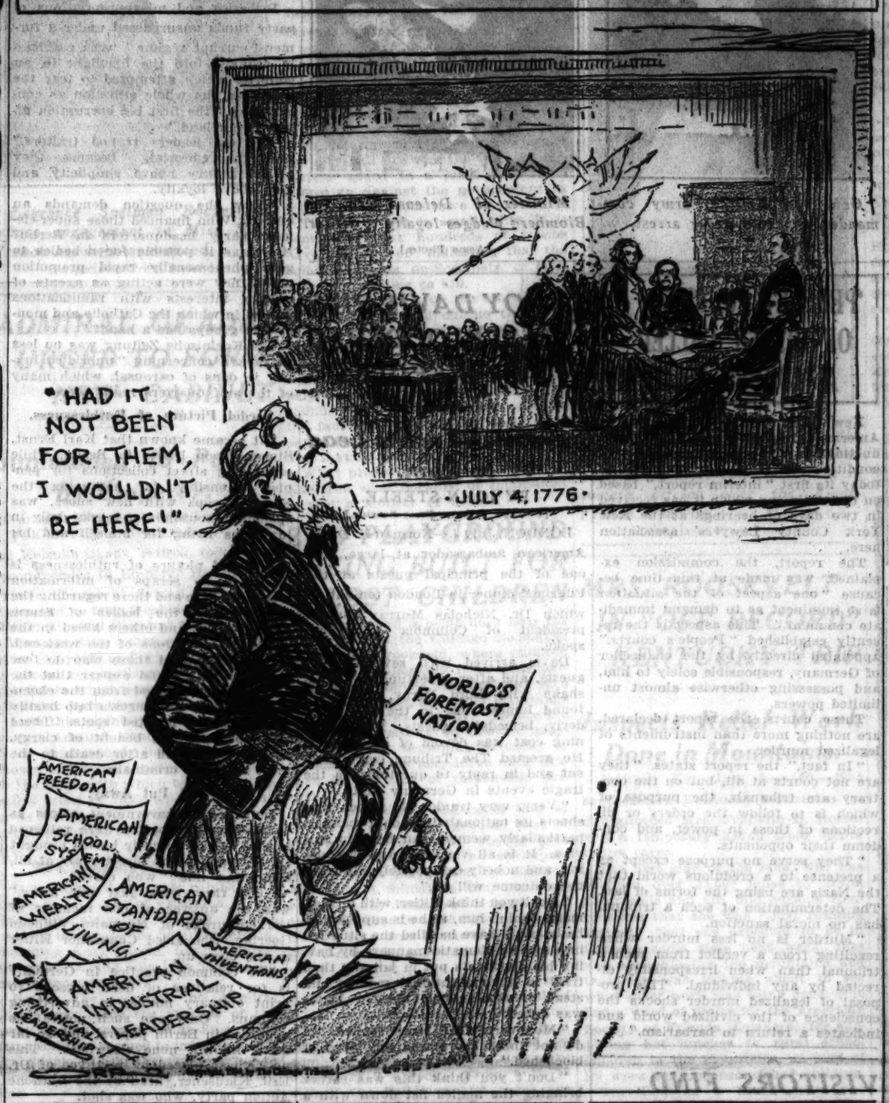
This belief was strengthened when Sergt. O'Day recalled that a man named James had been arrested June 12 and had talked more freely than hoodlums are wont to talk about crimes in which they are engaged. Sergt. O'Day late in the evening went to the county morgue and viewed the body of Zehrol and said he was not the "James" who had been questioned.

However, it was still the sergeant's opinion that Zehrol was implicated in the thefts. He pointed out that the other thieves might have been deceived by the use of the same alias by two men and have erased Zehrol in the belief that he was the "squealer."

'Quints' 36 Days Old; All Gain; Mother Doing Well

CORBEIL, Ont., July 3.—(AP)—All the Dionne quintuplets recorded gains in weight during the last 24 hours, and today, their 36th day of life, all five and the mother, Mrs. Oyila Dionne, were reported doing well.

THE MOST IMPORTANT EVENT IN ALL HISTORY



Riot Blazes in Dock Strike at San Francisco

San Francisco, Cal., July 3.—(AP)—Fighting between nearly 700 police and about 3,000 union pickets resulted here today from a move by business interests to open forcibly the strike paralyzed port to commerce. The action was taken in the face of pleas for peace by President Roosevelt's labor dispute committee.

Roaring guns, exploding tear gas bombs and swinging clubs and fists took a toll of at least 26 injured as hand to hand battles raged more than two hours.

Twenty-eight truckloads of packaged birdseed, coffee, tires and other merchandise were moved by five trucks making relays in running the gantlet of picket lines to move cargo from the congested piers to warehouses.

Overturn Five Trucks.

Five trucks not connected with the strike were overturned by the rioters and one machine was set on fire.

Frank Carmody, representative of the Industrial association, announced his organization considered the port "technically open" and that more trucks were available to clear the piers.

At the same time cargo moving activities were going on in Seattle, Bellingham, and Portland.

The forcible movement of cargo here followed closely two pleas by the President's labor disputes board, composed of Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, O. K. Cushing and E. F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, for settlement of the complicated strike issues by negotiations.

Appeals Go Unheeded.

The appeals bore no immediate fruit. The Industrial association, which, in the last few days, had postponed on five different occasions its start toward "opening the port," announced its determination to go ahead and called for police protection. Chief of Police William J. Quinn immediately concentrated more than 600 officers at the waterfront.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 persons, many of them spectators, assembled along San Francisco's four mile Embarcadero for the "zero hour." From a pier two heavily laden trucks convoyed by police dashed out. A swarm of pickets moved toward the trucks and an officer fired a shotgun over their heads. They did not stop.

Tear gas bombs were hurled by the police.

As the fighting became more intense, police hurled more tear gas bombs, but the strikers picked them up and threw them back into the lines of the officers, where they exploded.

Temporarily routed, the officers donned gas masks and advanced again with roaring shotguns. The firing, again over the heads of the pickets, drove the latter back.

Act on Alaska Blockade.

100 TO DIE AND 2,000 TO BE HURT IN AUTOS TODAY

Hartford, Conn., July 3.—[Special.]—More than 100 persons will be killed and 2,000 injured in automobile accidents tomorrow, according to estimates today by statisticians of the Travelers' Insurance company. This estimate is based on the experience of previous years and takes into consideration that automobile accident fatalities so far this year have increased nearly 21 per cent over last year.

Fatalities from automobile accidents have averaged 81 and the number of injured more than 1,900 every day during the first half of this year.

4 BURNED TO DEATH, SEVERAL HURT WHEN TEXAS BUS UPSETS

Lancaster, Tex., July 3.—(AP)—Four persons were known to have been killed tonight and 11 others injured when a tire blowout caused a San Antonio-Dallas motor bus of the Greyhound line to crash into a bridge near Lancaster and the big machine burned. It was not determined several hours later whether others had perished.

Late tonight, charred bodies believed to be those of two men and two children were removed from the white-hot steel wreckage. They were not identified immediately.

Two of the bodies were taken to Waxahachie, one to Dallas and the other was held here.

Seven of those most seriously injured were placed in ambulances to be taken to a hospital in Dallas, 12 miles northeast of Lancaster.

A woman and two children who were approaching the bridge from Lancaster when the accident occurred said they heard a tire burst and saw the huge bus tear up a steel railing along the side of the bridge for 75 yards, then suddenly burst into flames, as the gasoline tank exploded.

Women and children among the 18 passengers screamed and fought to escape through windows and the one door which formed the only exit.

'Fiance' Jailed After Default in Love Trial

Maurice E. Rapport is in the county jail and Mrs. Marie O'Connell, 41 years old, a divorcée, of 6204 South Park avenue, said yesterday that she was going to keep him there until he marries her. Rapport says he would much rather serve his six months in jail than spend the rest of his life married to Mrs. O'Connell.

Rapport, who is 52 years old, an unemployed diamond cutter, of 4538 Woodlawn avenue, was locked up last Wednesday because he couldn't pay a judgment of $2,000, which Mrs. O'Connell secured by default in a breach of promise suit against him.

A. Henry Goldstein, attorney for Rapport, said the default occurred because he was engaged in another trial at the time and understood there was a continuance in Mrs. O'Connell's suit, so he didn't appear in court.

Pays Board in Jail.

As a result a default judgment of $2,000 was entered and the malice count in the bill permitted Mrs. O'Connell to jail Rapport on payment of $3.50 a week for his board.

Mrs. O'Connell, who is the mother of three grown children, admits that she has been on the relief rolls for the past two years, and when asked how she got the $3.50 she explained:

"O, well, I have friends. But Mr. Rapport paid his own board bill for the first week, although he doesn't know it yet. He gave me some money from time to time and I saved enough of that to pay the first week."

"Became Engaged in 1928."

She added that she had first met Rapport in 1928, and that they became engaged two months later.

"Our wedding date was set several times," she said, "but somehow the wedding never took place. I think he still loves me, and I know that I still love him, so I'm going to keep him in jail for the six months, or until he comes to his senses and agrees to marry me."

Attorney Goldstein, in the meantime, is preparing to file a petition for a pauper's writ in the County court, and thus free his client both from jail and the necessity of marrying Mrs. O'Connell.

'Favor to Marry Her,' Wife Quotes Husband in Suit

Los Angeles, Cal., July 3.—[Special.]—Lucien H. Warner, wealthy New York scientist, now engaged in research studies at Pomona college near here, told his wife, June Warner, he "conferred a favor on her by being her husband," but that he would continue to live with her if she waived jealousy about his "affairs with other women," the wife charged in separate maintenance papers filed today.

Mme. Curie of Radium Fame Dies in France

VALENCE, France, July 4—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—Mme. Marie Curie, twice winner of the Nobel prize and discoverer of radium with her husband, died at 4 a. m. in a sanitarium today where she had been under treatment for a long time.

Mme. Curie was 66 years old.

Shuts Door to Fame.

Fame came to her threshold, but she shut the door of her workshop in its face; wealth was hers for the asking, but she turned all money prizes back into her chemistry or gave them to hospitals for cancer research; luxury might have been her lot without reproach, but she spurned it and lived frugally on her modest salary as a teacher in the University of Paris.

She consented to take but a mite of the huge debt owed by the world for the Curie gift to mankind in 1898 of a substance which enriched many persons and brought relief or cure to countless thousands of cancer sufferers.

She never even owned a speck of radium of her own until 1921 when the women of America raised $100,000, purchased a gram of the precious salts and gave it to her for experimental work. Even this gift, however, was diverted for she rented it out at $3,500 a year in order to obtain funds for the cancer hospital in Warsaw, Poland, in which she had a deep interest.

Brought to America.

So in 1929 her American friends repeated the gift. They brought the frail little old lady with the white, sparse hair to the United States. She was lionized and feted beyond her strength, the homage culminating at the White House when President Hoover handed her a check for $50,000 from the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

She was requested to use this for the purchase of a second gram of radium, short cuts found by her and her colleagues having halved the price since 1921.

Mme. Curie returned to France exhausted by the effort and exaltation of her visit to America. But the day after her home coming she shut herself up in her Paris laboratory and resumed her unceasing work.

Nobel Prize Winner.

Twice she was a winner of the Nobel prize for chemistry, the first time in 1903 as a partner in the reward with her husband; the second time in her widowhood in 1911. Both awards went back into the research work.

The medical world has estimated that radium saved 50,000 wounded men from death in the world war. Its use in the treatment of cancer was suggested in 1910 and physicians have employed it with increasing success, especially on external growths that have not developed to a critical stage.

Mme. Curie spent more than 20 years of her life in the research that ended with discovery and isolation of this substance. During much of that time she worked over a pot of mineral refuse in a Paris woodshed and rode a bicycle around the city streets by way of recreation. Modest almost to a fault, she resisted for nearly a year efforts to persuade her to tell the story of her life and finally consented to do so only because so many erroneous rumors had been circulated about her.

Born in Poland.

She was born Marie Sklodowska in Warsaw, Poland, Nov. 7, 1867. Her father was professor of mathematics and physics in the University of Warsaw and her mother directed a school for girls. Marie was the youngest of their five children.

Growing up in this academic at-

The Day in Germany

Following were the chief developments of the situation in Germany yesterday:

Hitler's personal troops, the Black Hussars, suppressed riots of Storm Troops (Brown Shirts).

Chancellor Hitler flew to Neudeck to consult President von Hindenburg concerning the resignation of Vice Chancellor von Papen. No announcement of their decision was made. Hitler wants Von Papen to remain in the cabinet as minister without portfolio while Gen. Goering will be made vice chancellor.

Hitler decreed the end of summary executions. The dead in the "purge" were officially put at 47.

Turning to the serious economic crisis the cabinet decreed laws to permit retaliation in the threatened trade war with Britain and other nations. Control over raw materials and grains has been established.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

BERLIN, July 3.—The first open manifestation of public dissatisfaction with the ruthless manner in which Chancellor Hitler has "purged" the Nazi party of malcontents appeared tonight. The Black Hussars, Hitler's private hand picked army of bodyguards for Nazi leaders, were called out for emergency duty in Berlin to suppress outbreaks by Storm Troopers.

Groups of these Storm Troopers [Brown Shirts] who were instrumental in placing Hitler in his present position of power, paraded in the streets, crying: "Our leader has betrayed us." They were quickly squelched.

Similar demonstrations were reported at Beuthan and Bautzen, in Brunswick, and a score of other towns. They were all crushed.

Hitler Flies to See Hindenburg.

Meanwhile, Chancellor Hitler flew today to Neudeck, in East Prussia, to report to President Paul von Hindenburg on the events of the last week-end in which many persons were shot down in cold blood by Nazi firing squads.

The main object of Hitler's conference with the 86 year old president was to decide what should be done about Vice Chancellor von Papen, who resigned this noon.

The cabinet would like to keep Von Papen as a minister without portfolio to supervise activities in the Saar, in preparation for next year's plebiscite which will determine whether the territory remains French or returns to Germany. Von Papen, however, wants to be released completely from his ministerial duties. Hitler was in hopes that Von Hindenburg would order Von Papen to remain in the cabinet, as he ordered Count Scherwin von Krosigk, finance minister, to remain at his post when he tried to resign.

Von Papen Talks to Cabinet.

Hitler returned to Berlin shortly before 10 o'clock tonight and is believed to have called on Von Papen for a conference at midnight. On arrival, Hitler refused to talk about his conference with Von Hindenburg. The official news service said the president reiterated his thanks to the chancellor for "saving the nation."

Today's meeting of the cabinet was its first formal session since the "purging" of the party began.

Von Papen was present at the beginning of the meeting. He is reported to have made a brief statement and then departed. He emerged from the chancellery smiling and cheerful.

Von Papen told friends that while he was under the "protection" of the bodyguards named by the government during the week-end he suffered no violence. It had been reported that some teeth had been knocked from his mouth.

According to an official communique, Hitler detailed at length to his colleagues his suppression of the mutiny within the Nazi ranks. His account stressed that lightning-like action was essential to avert peril and the loss of many thousands of lives.

Cabinet Thanks Chief.

At the conclusion of his statement Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of defense, thanked Hitler in the name of the cabinet and the reichswehr [regular army], for his "decisive and courageous action," which "saved the German nation from civil war."

"The leader," Von Blomberg said, "has shown himself a statesman and a soldier of greatness, which has awakened in the hearts of the cabinet members, and the entire nation, a vow of performance, sacrifice, and loyalty in this difficult hour."

The cabinet then gave formal legal sanction to the executions of the Hitler oppositionists by adopting a law which said:

"The measures taken on June 30, July 1, and July 2 to quell the treasonable attacks were lawful because they were undertaken for the protection of the state in a national emergency."

Dr. Franz Guertner, minister of justice, declared that the emergency measures were not only lawful but also were the duty of statesmanship.

Crowds Cheer Weakly.

While the cabinet meeting was proceeding, dense crowds waited outside the chancellery. Police and Black Hussars (Schutz Stoffel) were stationed around the building. The crowd was kept moving and no one was allowed on the sidewalk near the chancellery. When Hitler emerged for his flight to Von Hindenburg's home a weak cheer went up.

Earlier in the day Hitler issued an order designed to put to an end all further violence. The order was brief and for the first time named the Nazi party mutiny as the "Roehm revolt." The order said:

"The measures to crush the Roehm revolt were concluded on the night of July 1. Whosoever on his own initiative, no matter with what intentions, commits an act of violence will be handed over to the normal course of justice for punishment."

At the same time, however, the nation was warned in Chancellor Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, that Germany is still ruled by an iron fist and a strong will and that "der fuehrer" will stand for no resistance.

Admit 47 Executions.

Official quarters today admitted 47 executions in the events of the week-end, but foreign observers place the death toll much higher. This belief was strengthened today when it was learned from reliable sources that a total of 15,000 persons were arrested throughout Germany over the week-end. Many of these have since been released. Hitler enjoined his officers to do everything in their power to restore a semblance of normal legal conditions.

It was also learned today that scores of those executed at the cadet school at Lichterfelde were cremated. Details of other funerals are being kept secret.

Former Chancellor General Kurt von Schleicher and his wife, who had been warned to flee from Germany two days before they were shot down last Saturday, are to be buried tomorrow. Friends anxious to pay them last honors were warned not to attend the funeral. Members of the reichswehr were forbidden to attend.

Gen. von Schleicher's aged mother and his sister, who were upstairs in the Von Schleicher villa, came rushing downstairs when they heard the four shots which killed the general and his wife. The gunmen, however, had already escaped. They were described as young men between 18 and 20 years of age, and were in civilian clothes.

Mother Suffers Stroke.

Frau von Schleicher's mother, Frau von Hennings, suffered a partial stroke when told of the tragedy. She still hopes to regain enough strength to go to the cemetery when her last child is buried tomorrow. Her two sons were killed in action in the world war.

Frau von Schleicher's little daughter by her first marriage was returned to her father today, a broken child. Von Schleicher was wealthy. Nazi laws allow the authorities to seize all property from anybody accused of treason. Von Schleicher's friends hope Hitler will see to it that the child and the penniless relatives who lived with Von Schleicher will be protected from financial want, though no assurance of this has been given.

Prince August Wilhelm, fourth son of the former kaiser, is about the only man of the staf of Karl Ernst, late Berlin chief of Storm Troopers, who has not been arrested or executed. "Auwi," as the prince is known, was cross examined personally by Hermann Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia and Hitler's chief "enforcer." Goering sent "Auwi" away with this comment: "He is too dumb to have known anything."

Potsdam circles assert that the prince and his brother, former Crown Prince Frederich Wilhelm, were told that their presence is not desired in Germany, and that they should clear out within 48 hours. The official Hohenzollern offices deny this.

Pass 27 New Laws.

Among the 27 new laws decreed by the cabinet today was one providing that the chief of staf of the Storm Troops henceforth need not be a member of the cabinet, as did the executed Roehm.

Another new law authorizes retaliatory measure if the United States or other countries enforce financial or trade measures as a sequel to the German moratorium on foreign debts. To counter such measures quickly and emphatically the ministers of the departments concerned are empowered to initiate immediate defensive measures.

Another law, having the same aim, allows temporary changes in customs and tarifs.

Goering today added another title to his already long list. Under the new forestry law he becomes "national forest master." He already is "national hunting master," premier of Prussia, minister of air, director general of state theaters and operas, general of infantry in the Reichswehr, and chief of the Prussian secret police.

May Be Vice Chancellor.

He may also become vice chancellor to replace Von Papen, if Hindenburg approves the latter's resignation, though the government is thinking of abolishing this post temporarily.

The cabinet also prohibited the solicitation of funds in public places until Oct. 31. This should strike a popular note among the public, which is becoming impatient over the constant taking of collections by Storm Troopers and other Nazi organizations.

A prohibition of the sale of wares from automatic machines during the hours when shops selling the same articles are closed is among other measures enacted.

Storm Troops a Problem.

BERLIN, July 3.—(AP)—The status of Chancellor Hitler's Storm Troops, once the backbone of the Nazi party, appeared in doubt tonight.

Well informed persons said that not more than 20 per cent of the 2,000,000 members of the brown shirted army will be called back to duty at the end of the July vacation.

The turning loose of more than a million and a half of these men, heretofore fed and clothed by the Nazi party, would mean a serious setback to Hitler's campaign against unemployment.

It would all but offset the claimed gains made in the last year, and it is evident that subsidies to industries for payment of wages cannot last much longer.

Other Deaths Listed.

One new name was added today to the list of prominent persons reported killed. Munich heard that Gustav von Kahr, the former Bavarian premier who turned against Hitler after helping him plot the 1923 "beer cellar putsch," was killed. This could not be confirmed officially.

A Catholic priest, Father Muhler, was reported to have been killed in a cell where he was confined on a charge of criticizing Hitler.

There was still a bit of sabre rattling at anti-Nazis here and there today, despite Hitler's announcement that "special measures" were suspended.

Helmut Brueckner, governor of Silesia, in a speech to subleaders, warned Catholic priests, whom he referred to as "sensitive old men," that they would face firing squads if they "plot" against the government.

"What good does it do me when I lock up a few Centrist traitors?" Brueckner asked. "I had rather have them enjoy their liberty so I can catch the whole bunch.

"They talk and discuss things in such a lively fashion already. It is best that we do not answer them but write it in our hearts. The priest belongs in the church, not on the street.

Attacks Right of Religion.

"I shall see to it that this camouflaged mischief is stopped in Upper Silesia in which, with slogans, attempts are being made to lead the flock back into ages long gone.

"We respect any religious conviction and when on Corpus Christi day the shrine of the Blessed Virgin is carried in the streets we shall permit any one to express his religious feeling in the streets. But when this is over, religious exercises belong in the churches.

"We shall wait exactly so long until this trick becomes evident, just as we did last week. We will catch all who are against Adolf Hitler.

"If it suffices to punish one with arrest on the first day, I will have him shot the third day if he does not obey."

Count Helldorf Still Alive.

POTSDAM, Germany, July 3.—(AP)—Count Wolf Heinrich von Helldorf, erroneously reported to have been shot and killed in the political disorders last Saturday, today reviewed a detachment of the Schutz Staffel, picked Hitler guards, which he commands.

'PEOPLE'S COURTS' OF HITLER CALLED A MURDER MACHINE

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—The American inquiry commission, conducting an unofficial investigation of conditions in Nazi Germany, issued today its first "interim report," based on the testimony which it has received in two days of hearings at the New York County Lawyers' association here.

The report, the commission explained, was made at this time because "one aspect of the situation is so imminent as to demand immediate comment." This aspect is the recently established "People's courts," appointed directly by the chancellor of Germany, responsible solely to him, and possessing otherwise almost unlimited powers.

"In fact," the report states, "they are not courts at all, but on the contrary are tribunals, the purpose of which is to follow the orders or directions of those in power, and condemn their opponents.

"They serve no purpose except as a pretense to a credulous world that the Nazis are using the forms of law. The determination of such a tribunal has no moral sanction.

"Murder is no less murder when resulting from a verdict from such a tribunal than when irresponsibly directed by any individual. This proposal of legalized murder shocks the conscience of the civilized world and indicates a return to barbarism."

VISITORS FIND A WICKED CITY HAS GOOD POLICE

The Chicago police yesterday morning received a letter from Joseph Marshall, box 62, Orlando, Okla. It read:

"My family and I visited the Fair last week in June. For fear of bandits I hid a $20 bill in the leg of a double bed in my room at Mrs. Cook's boarding house at 2029 Indiana avenue. I forgot to take the bill out when we left. Could you find it for me? Keep whatever you think right for your trouble."

"Enclosed find your $20 bill, which was in the leg of the double bed. It was no trouble at all to find it."

ENVOY DAVIS HITS NAZI BLOODSHED AS "NEEDLESS"

Says Such Tactics Lead to Ruin.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 3.—Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, was one of the principal guests at the Pilgrims' dinner in London tonight, at which Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, spoke.

Davis arrived with several other guests, and after a perfunctory handshake with Lord Derby, chairman, found himself lost in the sea of elderly, bemedaled guests. Davis' evening coat was devoid of decorations. He greeted The Tribune correspondent and in reply to questions on the tragic events in Germany said:

"Very, very tragic. No nation that shoots its nationals in such a manner, particularly women, can hope to survive. It is all very sad and distressing, and nobody can possibly say what the outcome will be."

"Don't you think Hitler, with all Germany behind him, as he is supposed to have, could have handled the situation in a more diplomatic manner—by having his opponents put in jail and then tried in a constitutional manner, instead of shot in cold blood?" Davis was asked.

"Most certainly," Davis replied. "I do not think there was any need of bloodshed."

"Don't you think this was rather bringing the mailed fist down with a thump?"

"Yes, I certainly do. But there are times when it is difficult for one to say what one thinks, and this is one of those moments."

In his speech, Dr. Butler urged the English speaking peoples of the world to unite in a fight against governments which rule by compulsion.

"If liberty is crushed by compulsion in the generation which lies ahead of us it can only be because the English-speaking peoples have failed in the great task," he said.

CORRUPTION AND VICE UNDER NAZI REGIME EXPOSED

Storm Troops Accused of Bribery and Theft.

BERLIN, July 3.—(AP)—Hotbeds of corruption under the Storm Troop leadership of the late Capt. Ernst Roehm were mercilessly exposed today in Agriculture Minister Walter Darre's newspaper, Deutsche Zeitung.

Briberies and misappropriations of party funds unsurpassed under a former "corrupt régime" were ruthlessly dragged into the limelight in an editorial which attempted to tear the veil from the whole situation as constituting "the first big corruption affair in our land."

"Certain leaders turned traitors," said the editorial, "because they placed luxury above simplicity and vice above loyalty.

"Now the question demands an answer: Who financed those super-elegant party headquarters in Berlin? How was it possible for nobodies to gain phenomenally rapid promotion while they were acting as agents of certain interests with ramifications abroad in which the Catholic and monarchist groups had a hand?"

The Koelnische Zeitung was no less outspoken concerning "unbridled luxury in dens of carousal, which many of the staf quarters really were.

"It became known that Karl Ernst, Storm Troop leader in Berlin, while organizing street collections for pennies ostensibly for equipping the Storm Troops with new shoes, was spending thousands of marks daily in luxurious living for himself and his friends."

A sordid picture of ruthlessness is presented by scraps of information picked up here and there regarding the disposition of the bodies of Storm Troop leaders and others killed in the summary executions of the week-end.

Few know, and those who do fear to tell, but it would appear that the corpses were dragged from the execution chambers and thrown into hastily dug holes in isolated spots. There was not even the benefit of clergy, which is extended after death to the most hardened criminals.

"Just Put Away."

Inquiries at government offices as to whether the bodies were returned to relatives or decently buried brought shrugs and, if any direct reply at all, something like "who cares?"

"Oh, they were just put away," was the answer of one member of the entourage of Hermann Wilhelm Goering, who aided Chancellor Hitler in the clean-up.

The common practice in Germany is for relatives of dead persons to print obituary notices in advertising columns. Only one such notice has appeared in Berlin papers, and, so far as is known, none elsewhere. This notice was placed by relatives of Dr. Eric Klausener, head of the Catholic Action party, who was shot.

"He was suddenly taken from us June 30, 1934, after a life of love and achievement," said the notice, which stated that the grieving relatives bow "before the holy will of God."

Causes Remain, Vatican Says.

VATICAN CITY, July 3.—(AP)—Chancellor Hitler's execution squads have not eliminated the causes of the crisis, Osservatore Romano, official Vatican organ, said today, because those crises are to be found deep in the immorality of new Germany.

CAPTAIN GALT DEAD, DEWEY'S AID AT MANILA

Norfolk, Va., July 3.—(AP)—Capt. William Wilson Galt, U. S. N., retired, past grand master of the Masons in Virginia, died late today in the naval hospital in Portsmouth after an illness of several years. He was 81 years old.

Capt. Galt, who served in the navy for 50 years, retiring at the age of 62, was with Dewey at Manila and rendered distinguished service that won him a promotion by congress for extraordinary heroism.

Capt. Galt retired from the navy in 1913, but when the United States entered the world war he tendered his services and was assigned to the post of disbursing officer of the 5th naval district, in which he served for the duration of the war.

Stray Bullet of Early Celebrant Wounds Boy

Anthony Caltabiano, 17 years old, 710 Ehland street, was struck in the right arm early today by a bullet that went through a window at his home while he was asleep. He was taken to the county hospital by the police, who gave the opinion the firing was done by a boisterous celebrant of Independence day.

HASTY MARRIAGE HIT AT PARLEY ON FAMILY LIFE

"Three Day Wait" Law Is Called an Aid.

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—The practice of issuing marriage licenses at one window and performing the ceremony at another without any pause for reflection in between is the cause of many unhappy marriages, Rabbi Sidney E. Goldstein of the Free Synagogue told 200 educators, social workers, clergymen, and public health experts today. He spoke at the concluding session of a conference on marriage and family relations at Teachers' college, Columbia university.

"I think this group ought to recommend to Mayor La Guardia the appointment of an advisory board to sit with the license clerk and give counsel along every line—psychological, economic, spiritual—to prospective brides and grooms," Rabbi Goldstein said.

Three Days to Consider.

Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of the Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles, described the operation of a California law which makes it necessary to obtain a license three days in advance of marriage.

"Through the law," he said, "participants are given a chance to sober up, and we have made an indentation on the problem of hasty marriages."

Dr. Robert L. Dickinson, secretary of the national committee on maternal health, scored the medical profession for "timidity" in facing the problem of pre-marital relations between young men and women.

Gives Startling Figures.

He said that a comparative analysis of case histories showed a sharp increase in the percentage of such relationships among engaged couples, with one case out of five recorded in 1885, one out of three in 1930 and one out of two in the depression years.

"These couples prove very faithful after marriage," Dr. Dickinson said. "Youth today has developed a new substandard of morality such as we would not have believed possible a few years ago. It is our duty to build character and self-control as we never have before."

Dr. Dickinson's statement was borne out by Dr. Lester W. Dearborn of the Massachusetts Society for Social Hygiene, who said that 100 of 200 engaged couples who visited his office had admitted participation in pre-marital experiences.

Takes Issue with Speaker.

Dr. Popenoe took sharp issue with Dickinson's position, denouncing "furtive" relationships. According to Dr. Popenoe the "real question is whether young people should have relations that are open and frank or furtive and ashamed."

"Only marriage," he declared, "can make the relationship open and frank. Furtive relationships do not afford a complete union of personalities."

The conference, jointly sponsored by Teachers' college of Columbia, the American Social Hygiene association and the American Home Economics association, ratified reports calling for a broad program of education for marriage and family life.

The reports, presented by leaders of discussion groups, urged introduction of preparatory courses in every school division from the nursery to the college and adult level. One of the reports advocated dissemination of information on birth control and eugenics.

B. H. MARSHALL FILES PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY

Benjamin H. Marshall, architect, yesterday filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District court. He has ten days in which to file a schedule of assets and liabilities.

According to Attorney Henry S. Blum, member of the law firm of Blum and Jacobsen, which filed the petition, Mr. Marshall's liabilities consist mainly of obligations under various mortgages amounting to about $700,000. Mr. Blum said these obligations are secured largely by real estate collateral.

The filing of the bankruptcy petition, according to the attorney, was mainly caused by a foreclosure action against the building at 199 Lake Shore drive, the bonds of which he had guaranteed.

Mr. Marshall, who lives in a unique studio residence just south of the Wilmette yacht harbor, has in the last few years become interested in the management of a number of apartment buildings and hotels, including the Edgewater Beach apartments, and the Drake, Blackstone and Orrington hotels.

WAREHOUSE MAN, UNLICENSED, IS ORDERED TO JAIL

Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli yesterday sentenced Thomas Gershbock, owner of a storage warehouse business at 4949 North Crawford avenue, to 90 days in the Bridewell and fined him $200. He was charged with failure to obtain a license and to place his business under the jurisdiction of the Illinois commerce commission as required by the state law.

The complainant against Gershbock was Samuel Schaefer who said he had stored a quantity of goods in the warehouse. Fire destroyed his property, Schaefer said, and he was unable to get a settlement. Attorney Irvin Rooks, counsel for the commerce commission, declared the Gershbock case demonstrated the need for strict enforcement of the law governing warehouses.

Plague of Locusts Strikes Town High in Mountains

[Copyright, 1934: By the New York Times.]

LIMA, Peru, July 3.—Reports from Huancayo, an inland town in the province of Junin, tell of a plague of locusts, something hitherto unknown here. As the town is 10,000 feet above sea level and the high Andes mountains act as a barrier against other plague ridden areas, farmers cannot account for the presence of the pests. They are terror stricken, not knowing methods of fighting the insects.

PHILADELPHIA TO GO MOVIELESS IF BOYCOTT STICKS

Result of Drive on Indecent Films.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 3.—[Special.]—Complete shutdown of all the motion picture houses in the Philadelphia area is to take place two weeks from today unless church officials lift their boycott against the movies here, theater proprietors announced today.

The announcement was made jointly by Leonard Schlessinger, Warner Brothers zone manager, in charge of 75 theaters, and Lewen Pizor, president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of eastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey, and Delaware, representing 450 theaters.

Both complained that Philadelphia is the only territory where the church boycott is against the theaters as a whole instead of against certain pictures judged indecent by the church authorities.

Pope Blesses Drive.

VATICAN CITY, July 3.—(AP)—Pope Pius today bestowed his special apostolic blessing upon the campaign against indecent motion pictures initiated in the archdiocese of Philadelphia.

Cardinal Dennis Dougherty of Philadelphia received the blessing during an audience granted by the pope.

Cardinal Dougherty said the pope "treated with me concerning my campaign in Philadelphia against indecent moving pictures and heartily approved of it. He gave his blessing to all those taking part in the movement for the suppression of these exhibitions. He has approved my stand, asking for pledges against attendance at moving picture theaters showing indecent pictures."

YOUTH TO DISCUSS FILMS.

Hundreds of youths from Catholic high schools and colleges of the country will begin assembling tomorrow for the annual meeting of the Students' Spiritual Leadership convention which opens on Thursday. Sessions will be held three days. Following mass each morning at Holy Name cathedral, sessions will open at the Palmer house.

One of the leading questions to be discussed will concern youth leadership, as sodalists, toward clean entertainment. The motion picture situation will be reviewed and methods of extending the Legion of Decency will be surveyed.

358,000 BUSHELS OF FEED GIVEN TO ILLINOIS FARMERS

A total of 358,000 bushels of corn, soy beans, oats, alfalfa, and clover hay have been sent by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission to farmers in the 77 counties of the state designated as secondary drouth areas, since the advent of the drouth relief program last month.

That was announced yesterday by Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the commission. He said the purchase and distribution have been carried out under the supervision of J. H. Lloyd, assistant director of the Illinois department of agriculture.

Since the discontinuance of assistance in the form of direct grants the commission has approved cash loans to a total of 364 farmers in 13 counties, and checks have been mailed. Cook county had the largest total, with $11,075 sent to 97 farmers.

MISS DRESSLER IS ABLE TO EAT SOLID FOODS

Santa Barbara, Cal., July 3.—(AP)—Still in a dangerous condition and not expected to live more than a few days, Marie Dressler, 62, veteran of the stage and screen, was reported tonight to be resting comfortably.

Her physician, Dr. F. R. Nuzum, said she still was able to take nourishment. For the first time in two weeks she was able yesterday to eat solid food.

Dr. Nuzum said that as there seemed no prospect of immediate change in the condition of Miss Dressler, who is afflicted with cancer and heart and uremia complications, he will not issue bulletins on her condition for the next day or so.

HORACE GREELEY WISH MAY HALT LIQUOR IN GREELEY, COLO.

Greeley, Colo., July 3.—(AP)—A clause which Horace Greeley was instrumental in having inserted in deeds to Greeley property will be invoked to prevent the sale of liquor in this city of 14,000 inhabitants. That was announced today.

The clause provides that the title to property on which liquor is sold shall revert to the Union colony, sponsored by Horace Greeley, which founded the city 64 years ago. Nearly all city property comes under this clause, real estate men said.

The Union Colony company, successor to the Union colony, issued a statement today announcing its intention to start court action to recover property upon which the sale of liquor is permitted.

The city council has announced it will permit the sale of liquor tomorrow.

CRANE HEIRESS' HUSBAND ABLE TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, July 3.—William Albert Robinson, explorer husband of the former Florence Crane, Chicago heiress, last night left Gorgas hospital. He has been there since the navy rescued him from Tagus cove, Galapagos islands after he was stricken with a burst appendix and peritonitis.

He went to the Hotel Tivoli where he will remain with his wife until he is sufficiently recovered to undergo an operation for removal of the appendix. He is still weak but in optimistic spirits.

Mrs. Crane's mother, Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr. of Chicago, and the latter's sister, Mrs. E. T. Chadbourne, sailed for New York today aboard the ship Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will join Mrs. Crane in New York as soon after the operation as Mr. Robinson is able to travel.

The Robinsons were on a honeymoon in the Galapagos islands when the explorer was stricken. With his 17 year old cousin, Daniel T. West of Brookline, Mass., they had gone there in a small boat. Two navy planes, on May 23, carried navy physicians 1,000 miles over the Pacific to Tagus cove in answer to Mrs. Robinson's radio plea for help. The destroyer Hale followed, and brought the party back here.

TWO TOREADORS GAIN DELAY IN BULLFIGHT CASE

Alfredo Velasquez and Roberto Aguilar, bullfighters at Riverview park, had their bond forfeitures of $100 each set aside and their trial on charges of bullbaiting continued to July 11, by Municipal Judge Erwin J. Hasten in Town Hall court yesterday. They told the judge they failed to appear in court Monday, when the bond forfeitures were ordered, because they thought the money posted for bonds constituted their fines.

At the hearing yesterday Capt. Luke Garrick of the North Damen avenue police said he witnessed the bullfight, advertised as a real one. Although no harm was done the bull "they certainly ran it ragged," said Capt. Garrick.

Manuel Diaz, manager of the event declared that running a bull ragged did not constitute a violation of the law. Mrs. Julia Baldwin, an investigator for the Anti-Cruelty society, testified that it did.

Homicides Show Decline for First Half of Year

Homicides committed in Chicago numbered 162 during the first six months of this year as compared to 184 committed during the corresponding period of the preceding year, Police Commissioner Allman reported yesterday. Commissioner Allman declared it is impossible to find a reason for the reduction in this type of crime inasmuch as murders, as a rule, are committed on the spur of the moment.

AUSTRIAN POLICE CENTER ROCKED BY BOMB BLAST

Vienna City Hall Attacked by Mystery Fire.

VIENNA, July 3.—(AP)—A dynamite blast in the Salzburg police headquarters and a fire in Vienna city hall, possibly of incendiary origin, together with minor bombings in various parts of Austria today kept government officials busy trying to tighten their defense against terrorists.

The police headquarters was severely damaged by the explosive, which was placed on the second floor despite the fact that the building was heavily guarded.

Today's outbreak—it has not yet been determined for certain whether the city hall fire was the work of terrorists—added to a long, systematic campaign against the government in which nine persons have met death.

The death list is small when it is considered that hundreds of bombs have been set off, indicating that the bombers—Nazis, or Socialists, or both—are not seeking to kill.

The government, on the other hand, has not yet carried out its threat to execute persons convicted of terrorism, although several Nazis and Socialists have been sentenced to prison.

In connection with the Nazi campaign a rumor has been going the rounds that Austrian Nazis, despite the fact that they are outlawed as a party, are contemplating a "cleanup" like that in Germany.

What proportion of the terrorism is Nazi and what Socialist or communist is still a subject of debate.

ADMIRAL OKADA URGED TO FORM NEW CABINET

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, July 4 (Wednesday).—Admiral Keisuke Okada, retired, today was recommended to Emperor Hirohito by Prince Kimmochi Salonji, the elder statesman, to form a cabinet to succeed that of Admiral Viscount Makoto Saito.

Viscount Saito's cabinet had resigned after two years and one month in office to accept responsibility for a financial scandal in which several officials were alleged to have been involved.

Late this morning the emperor summoned Admiral Okada to the palace. It is understood the admiral was chosen to provide a cabinet satisfactory to the navy with which to face the so-called crisis of 1935, when Japan will press her demand for admiral equality with the United States and Great Britain.

Two Ministers May Remain.

It is expected the new cabinet will prove to be a sort of extension of the Saito administration. Many of the present ministers are likely to remain, including Koki Hirota, foreign minister, and Viscount Korekiyo Takahashi, the finance minister.

Before the selection of Admiral Okada was made the attitude of the army and navy received an amount of attention that seemed to indicate a general suspicion that their pledges not to interfere in politics were not very ironclad.

Agree on Army Move.

Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, the war minister under Premier Saito, conferred with Gen. Kinzaburo Masako, inspector general of military education, who is one of the most influential army leaders. They agreed, according to the Nippon Dempo News agency, that the army would demand that certain conditions relating to defense be fulfilled before a war minister would be contributed to the new cabinet.

Interviewed at Shimonoseki, Admiral Nobumasa Suetsugu, who has been comparatively quiet since his magazine article in January excited American opinion, declared that not the navy alone but the whole nation wanted a strong cabinet.

"Too strong a government is impossible in view of the 1935-'36 crisis," he said to the Nichi Nichi correspondent.

Urge Independent Attitude.

"A government is needed that will take an independent attitude at the naval conference, where all Japan has to do is assert her rights. It would be wrong to sacrifice in order to bring the conference to a successful conclusion. I think there is no need to worry even if the conference should fail.

"If it succeeds I am afraid there will be a repetition of incidents like those in Manchuria and at Shanghai."

The fear that incidents would follow a successful conference refers to frequent Japanese assertions that the nine power treaty concluded at the Washington conference was largely responsible for the Manchurian outbreak.

[Admiral Okada was appointed minister of the navy in the Tanaka cabinet in 1927. He served in the same capacity under Premier Saito. He resigned in January, 1933, to be succeeded by Mineo Osumi. Deeply devoted to the Japanese navy, Okada nevertheless has long been among the Japanese who worked for constructive results of disarmament conferences at Geneva. In 1932 he assured the United States that feeling between the nations would improve if the American fleet were taken from the Pacific ocean.]

Letter of Lafayette on Benedict Arnold Found

MOSCOW, July 3.—(AP)—A letter signed by Gen. Lafayette in which he advised the arrest of Benedict Arnold before Arnold's betrayal of American military secrets has been found in the state archives here. The letter was written at West Point Sept. 26, 1780. The name of the addressee is not known, and soviet authorities say they have no knowledge of how the letter reached Russia.

ZOO PLAYGROUND BEING BUILT FOR LOST CHILDREN

A playground is being built near the south gate of the Chicago Zoological gardens at Brookfield, where children separated temporarily from their parents may amuse themselves with slides, sandboxes, and other playthings under a canvas canopy. Meanwhile work is proceeding on another playground where, beginning Saturday or Monday, parents may leave their children in the care of responsible persons.

This playground will cover four or five acres of wooded ground, part of the zoo's 80 acres of wooded area which at present has no structures on it. In the playground the children will have a miniature zoo, including rabbits, baby lions, and a large cage inclosing from 20 to 30 baby monkeys. The 80 acre area is patroled throughout the day by a zoo mounted policeman.

The total attendance yesterday was 3,053, compared to Monday's total of 3,144. Admittance will be free tomorrow, as well as on Saturday and Sunday. Children under 15 years old are admitted free at all times. Gates are opened at 9 o'clock. From 9 to 10 o'clock the buildings and cages are cleaned. Gates close at 7 p. m.

DRUGGIST ROUTS THREE ROBBERS; ONE IS WOUNDED

Joseph Florest, 55 years old, and three robbers battled with pistols last night in the Florest drug store at 3201 Franklin boulevard. In the struggle one of the robbers was shot in the left shoulder and captured and Samuel Florest, son of the druggist, was wounded in the left hand.

The captured robber said that he was Joseph Bush, 18 years old, 1817 Maypole avenue. He was still holding his pistol when he was seized. He had tried to shoot the elder Florest with it, but the cartridges failed to explode. Samuel Florest was struck by a bullet fired by one of Bush's companions, who fled in an automobile.

When the trio entered Samuel was in the rear of the store and his father near the cash register. Both were watchful, as they had been robbed several times recently. The first shot was fired by one of the robbers as the younger Florest started to run behind the prescription counter. Joseph Florest immediately opened fire at short range and routed the robbers.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IN "OFF RECORD" KENTUCKY TRIP

Inspects Relief Work Done in Mountains.

Jenkins, Ky., July 3.—(AP)—The southeastern Kentucky mountains today afforded Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt a temporary haven from White House cares.

The first lady of the land, who has traveled over 33,000 miles by train, automobile and air, told curious Kentuckians that she was "just running around," that she expected to be in Chicago some time next week, that she was enjoying the mountains and that she was looking about to see what relief work was being done. She had a word of praise for the American Society of Friends [Quakers] for supplying hot lunches to rural school children in the mountains, as part of its work for undernourished children.

Traveling in a coupe with two women companions whose names were not learned, Mrs. Roosevelt left Washington yesterday with the simple explanation that she was taking an "off the record" vacation. She came to Pikeville and Jenkins today from Williamson, W. Va., and left Jenkins on U. S. highway 23 headed for Norton and Big Stone, Va.

WREATH SENT BY WHITE HOUSE TO HONOR COOLIDGE

Plymouth, Vt., July 3.—(AP)—The memory of Calvin Coolidge will be honored tomorrow, the anniversary of his birth.

Ceremonies will be conducted at the grave of the former President, which lies on a terrace of the old graveyard down the road a bit from the little village of Plymouth.

More than 200 Boy Scouts are expected to participate. A wreath will be placed on the grave by Maj. Raymond E. Lee of Montpelier who represents the army in Vermont, under commission of his commander in chief, President Roosevelt, who sent the wreath from the White House before leaving on his cruise.

Rob Lutheran Hospital in Machine Gun Raid

Four bandits, one of them holding a machine gun, held up the Lutheran Memorial hospital, 1116 North Kedzie avenue yesterday, menaced half a dozen employés, and escaped with a cash box containing $200. William C. Martens, superintendent, Miss Ruth Oechslin and Miss Dorothy Zimmerman, office workers, and three other employés were forced to lie on the floor while the bandits took the money and fled.

ROOSEVELT EYES CHANCE TO FISH AT THE BAHAMAS

Cruiser Speeds Far Ahead of Schedule.

Aboard U. S. S. Gilmer Accompanying President Roosevelt, July 3.—(AP)—Speeding down Atlantic coastal lanes far ahead of schedule, President Roosevelt was past the coast of Florida tonight, his ship making 18 to 20 knots.

The cruiser Houston, in the bright sunshine of the afternoon, struck moderately smooth water and began to show her heels. Late tonight the presidential party should be off San Salvador.

Hopes for Fishing.

President Roosevelt hoped for an opportunity for some fishing tomorrow off the Bahama islands, his favorite fishing grounds. He has plenty of spare time in reaching Cape Haitien Thursday, and Porto Rico, the first landing, on Friday as first scheduled.

Everything appeared quiet on the Houston after a moderation of yesterday's heavy seas. This brought relief aboard the trailing destroyers, where there was considerable suffering from seasickness.

All hands were reported "okay" this morning, but kept their fingers crossed. The fast pace set by the Houston kicks up heavy going for a following destroyer in any kind of weather.

Watches Coast Strike.

News reports made available to the President told of the longshoremen's situation on the west coast and it was assumed he was watching this closely.

He was occupying his time between resting, reading, and working. He has fun reading the reports of land-going reporters in the Gilmer who are filing through the Houston's wireless. Some of their non-nautical terms appeared to amuse him greatly.

The 13,000 mile voyage will take the President into the Pacific, to Hawaii, and the American west coast. The U. S. S. New Orleans has been ordered to replace the U. S. S. San Francisco as convoy across the Pacific, the latter vessel having damaged a propeller.

Youth Runs Wild with Sword; Slashes Four

San Francisco, Cal., July 3.—(AP)—Running amuck with a two foot sword, a 19 year old Filipino youth spread terror through several blocks of downtown San Francisco today, slashing four persons before he was felled by a policeman's bullet at 6th and Market streets.

WIFE OF PRESIDENT DUE TO ARRIVE IN CHICAGO ON SUNDAY

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is expected to arrive in Chicago about Sunday noon, it was said yesterday by officials of the Blackstone hotel, where she has made reservations for a party of six.

On Monday morning she is scheduled to visit the Art institute. That afternoon she will be the guest at a reception given by the Women's Trade Union League of Chicago in the league's clubhouse, 630 South Ashland boulevard, according to Miss Agnes Nestor, president of the league.

At 9 o'clock Monday night Mrs. Roosevelt will broadcast from the Globe theater in Merrie England at the World's Fair. It will be the first of a series of radio talks, the proceeds of which she will devote to charity.

Mrs. Roosevelt is motoring to Chicago from the east.

TIE CLASP ROW COSTS JEWELERS THEIR NRA EAGLE

Deprived of a Hearing, Concern Complains.

New Dealers of the NRA compliance division at Washington yesterday took action involving two Chicago industries. The Blue Eagle insignia of the Crest Specialty company, jewelry manufacturer of 629 West Washington boulevard, was ordered removed for alleged violations of trade practice regulations; and the Chicago Motor Coach company was granted an extension of 10 days before putting into effect an order of the national labor board on Monday which directed the rehiring of 15 discharged employés.

Removal of the jewelry manufacturer's code compliance insignia was the result of a hearing in Washington Monday afternoon. It was ordered after Lawrence E. Baer, head of the Baer-Wilde company of Attleboro, Mass., and a member of the national code authority of the medium and low priced jewelry industry complained that the Chicago concern was making a chain tie clasp exactly similar to a design of his own creation.

Refuse to Delay Hearing.

The controversy between the two manufacturing concerns began last June 2, when Baer filed his complaint with the national code authority. B. B Manaster, president of the Crest company, then was ordered by telegram to cease manufacturing the article. He refused, asserting that the chain tie clasp was first manufactured in 1888 and was not an original design.

Following an exchange of telegrams between various NRA authorities and the Crest company, Manaster said yesterday, he received a communication last June 27, in which he was informed that code administrators would hold a hearing on the Baer-Wilde company's complaint in Washington on July 2.

Attorney Clarence Threedy, counsel for Manaster, dispatched a telegraphic plea for postponement of the hearing, he said yesterday. The message, sent to W. J. Hoff, one of the administrators, was answered by a flat denial of the request. On June 29 Attorney Threedy sent a similar request to E. W. Dahlberg, assistant to Gen Hugh Johnson, and this, too, was denied. Dahlberg's answer was dispatched from Washington on June 30, a Saturday, but it was not received here until Monday, July 2, the day the hearing was held, said the attorney.

Time Needed for Defense.

"After the hearing one of our associates in Washington informed us that the administrators had ruled against the Crest company," said Attorney Threedy yesterday. "We had been pleading for the time extension in order to prepare an answer and a defense to the complaint. We feel that our client was deprived of a proper hearing and we are taking steps to rectify the situation."

Granting of the time extension to the motor coach company came after John A. Ritchie, president of the concern, sent a request to Washington. Mr. Ritchie explained that he was convalescing from injuries suffered in an automobile accident and asked that the ruling of the labor board by which he was directed to rehire employés be held in abeyance until July 17, when he could be expected to be out of the hospital.

His company was held guilty of violating the sections of the NRA code relating to free bargaining and organization rights of workers, and the labor board ordered 15 men discharged several months ago be rehired within five days.

NRA AND USSR ARE THE SAME TO A PAINTER

President Roosevelt and the letters "U. S. S. R.," which designate the Russian union of Socialist and soviet republics, became linked unintentionally on the wall of the Union League club dining room last week, the club reported yesterday. It came about in this fashion:

Seeking distinctive decoration for the "New Deal Room," Harry J. Doherty, club manager, hit upon a color scheme of three shades of gray upon which large, navy blue stars were painted. Upon each star was painted the initials of one of the government's alphabetical organizations.

Thus the CCC, PWA, PWEHC, TVA, FDIC, and all the rest of the New Deal agencies were immortalized and when the painters had run out of initials 164 sets adorned the four walls.

But one star was still vacant. Further, it was the largest of the lot and held coveted position above a picture of the President. The painters were stumped.

Imagine, then, the consternation of Manager Doherty when he inspected the room and found "U. S. S. R." neatly painted above Mr. Roosevelt. "Gosh," explained the painter, "I'd seen it a million times in the papers. I thought it was a part of the NRA."

The offending letters were stricken and "USBM," a forgotten bureau, was substituted. It means United States Board of Mediation.

NEW YORK MAY GET MILLIONS IN PWA CASH

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—Millions of dollars may be made available by the government shortly for the financing of public works in New York City.

With this end in veiw, Secretary of Interior Ickes and Chairman Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation will begin conferences in a few days to try and work out a plan to solve the problem through the purchase of New York bonds by the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the granting by the Public Works Administration of up to 30 per cent of the cost of the improvements.

Under the law the Reconstruction Finance corporation is authorized to purchase up to 250 million dollars of municipal securities held by the PWA as collateral for loans, the money going into a revolving fund for reallotment by the Public Works Administration. The amount that may be loaned to New York may be 50 million's.

SMASH RACKET OF SMASHING PLATE GLASS

Prosecutor Co-operates with Risk Bureau.

The racket of smashing plate glass windows, which cost Chicago property owners and insurance companies hundreds of thousands of dollars in the years 1931, 1932, and 1933, has practically been stopped in the last six months, according to Ogden Davidson, manager of the Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance company, and president of the Cook County Plate Glass Insurance bureau.

Mr. Davidson said yesterday that there have been few window smashings this year, compared to 3,000 cases during 1933.

Coöperation Is Noted.

Mr. Davidson credited the improvement to the coöperation of the state's attorney's office with the insurance bureau. That coöperation, he said, has made the police more vigilant and has tightened up the prosecution of the smashers.

"The racket which has been broken up is the breaking of windows for the purpose of creating employment. There is still a heavy loss from breakage as an incident to business rivalries and labor troubles. These incidental losses constitute one reason why there can be no immediate reduction in window insurance premiums.

Losses on Insurance.

"Another reason is that the insurance companies are just beginning to make a profit after years of losses on abnormal breakages due to window racketeers.

"In order to make a profit the companies must have a loss of not more than 42½ per cent of the premiums collected. The Chicago loss ratio on premiums last year was about 90 per cent."

PUBLIC DEFENDER REPORTS SAVINGS MADE BY OFFICE

Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach yesterday made his annual report to the judges of the Superior and Circuit courts. The report shows not only that the creation of the public defender's office speeded up the administration of justice, but also resulted in a large saving to the taxpayers of the county.

"During the period from October, 1933 [when the office was created], to July 1, 1934, 8,077 cases were disposed of, and the county was obliged to pay $1.67 for the legal work done in each case," reads the report. Since formerly the county paid $250 lawyer's fees in each capital case for the defense of indigent persons, the report estimates $70,000 has been saved since the public defender began handling these homicide cases.

"More than $200,000 additional was saved because the public defender's office, wherever possible, causes its clients to waive a jury and that expense is saved," continues the report.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—Senator Thomas D. Schall [Rep., Minn.], arch foe of the New Deal, today addressed a letter to officials of four patriotic organizations asking them in recognition of Independence day to join in a movement to protect the American government from radicalism.

The letter, as made public by Schall, was addressed to the Daughters of the American Revolution, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the United States Flag association.

"This year," he said, "millions of our citizens face July 4 with a troubled mind. There are those of us who feel that perhaps all is not well and that there is a grave threat to the document of their creation.

"We have seen assault upon assault heaped upon it by an administration apparently determined upon destroying it bit by bit. We have seen our liberties infringed upon by executive and congressional mandate. We have witnessed a political alliance seeking to control our habits, our business and to confiscate our property without due process of law.

"Tomorrow perhaps I will be accused by the Brain Trusters of waving the flag, and my response will be that it is time to wave the flag—yes, let every real American wave the flag and we who cherish the memory of our forefathers will have a sense of well-being and know that all is well."

FOLSOM TO MAKE PLEA FOR SCHOOL LOAN AT CAPITAL

Richard S. Folsom, attorney for the board of education, will leave today for Washington to confer with officials of the Reconstruction Finance corporation on the board's plan to apply for a $25,447,240 loan to pay overdue salaries to school teachers.

The conference will be preliminary to the actual application for a loan, Mr. Folsom said. "Because the properties the board of education proposes to offer for the government loan are distributed in more than 150 parcels and the data on them is extremely complex, it is necessary to proceed more slowly than we had first anticipated," he explained.

The board's department of architecture yesterday finished compiling information on the school properties to be mortgaged to the government for the loan. The school legal department is combining this report with data from the lease department to give the government a complete picture of the financial status of the school district.

STEEL COMPANY ACCUSES U. S. OF BOYCOTT THREAT

Government Quiz Attacked by Weirton Firm.

Wilmington, Del., July 3.—(AP)—Government requests for information about the Weirton Steel company's business drew an accusation from the company today that "certain government officers" have threatened it with a boycott. It also intimated that unrevealed motives are behind the government's inquiries.

"To reveal the names of 50 of our largest customers, the tonnage and the dollar value [of their purchases] would cost the company millions of dollars in business," Earl F. Reed, chief of Weirton counsel, told Judge John P. Nields in United States district court.

Fears Loss of Business.

"With this information made public our competitors will campaign our customers for a percentage allocation of business. Certain government officers are threatening a government boycott and are threatening to circularize our customers."

Reed's statements were made in his argument against interrogatories filed by the government in connection with its petition for an injunction to restrain the Weirton company from interfering or taking any part in the election of collective bargaining representatives by its employés.

U. S. Attorney Irked.

The attorney's remarks brought an expression of resentment from Lawrence Fly, special assistant to the United States attorney general.

"The counsel for Weirton has made insinuating remarks and has attached improper motives to our questions," Fly asserted. "We are responsible officers of the court and they ought to withdraw their insinuations or produce facts to substantiate them."

Reed made it plain he was not referring to Fly or his associates in the case. He declined to amplify his charges "at the moment."

Fly told the court that he wants the information to establish the flow of interstate commerce in which the government contends the Weirton company is engaged.

BYSTANDER AND POLICEMAN SHOT IN LOOP BATTLE

William Donovan, a detective assigned to the first police district, was shot in the left arm early today when he and his partner, Albert Belstrom, engaged in a pistol battle with three hoodlums at Clark and Lake streets. Alvey Blunk, 30 years old, night clerk of the Hotel Martin, 217 North Clark street, was also wounded, one of the hoodlums' bullets striking him in the left shoulder as he stood nearby.

Belstrom said that he and Donovan decided to question the trio, one of whom was an unusually tall man, when they stepped out of one Checker cab and into another. As the policemen went toward the cab the occupants began to fire at short range. Donovan and Belstrom shot back at them, but one of the trio put a pistol to the head of the cab driver and compelled him to drive north.

Two hours later the cab driver, Nathan Leventhal, 2728 Potomac avenue, reported at the detective bureau. He said he had been forced to drive to Lincoln park, then by a circuitous route to the 23d street entrance of the World's Fair. There the gunmen compelled him to call another taxicab in which they were driven away.

HAY FEVER NEAR; PHYSICIAN URGES TREATMENT NOW

Sufferers from hay fever should start taking precautions now to prevent serious attacks of the pollen-spread disease, for the worst phase of the annual sneezing season is due to begin within the next two weeks, Dr. Samuel J. Taub of the Chicago Medical society said yesterday in a Hall of Science lecture at the World's Fair.

Dr. Taub listed a number of remedial measures which he said should mitigate, if not actually prevent, the annual recurrence of hay fever.

The primary remedy, in his estimation, is desensitivization treatment by serum injections, taken annually from eight to ten weeks before the hay fever season. Treatments for timothy hay fever, which is in full swing now, should have been started June 1, he said. Treatments for ragweed hay fever, the most common of the many varieties, should be started now, for the season will be at its height Sept. 1, Dr. Taub added.

MME. M. CURIE OF RADIUM FAME DEAD IN FRANCE

mosphere, she early determined to qualify as a teacher, attending private schools at first and later going to government institutions. At 17 she took her first position as governess and also began to perfect herself in physics and mathematics.

Then she went to Paris seeking a doctorate and for five years lived in a little garret, preparing her own meals and in winter carrying coal up five flights of stairs. Study occupied all her other waking moments.

Married to French Scientist.

In 1896 she married Pierre Curie, a young French scientist, but managed to keep house, continue her studies, and teach a class of young girls.

The cares of motherhood were added to this program in 1897 when her first daughter was born. Still she continued pursuit of her doctorate, and it was while working on her thesis in the following year that investigation of pitchblende revealed two new substances. The first was Polanium, named in honor of Mme. Curie's native country. The second was radium, but it took four more years of patient effort to reduce this latter to a pure chemical element.

A second daughter was born in 1904, and then in 1906 came tragedy, M. Curie being run down and killed by a truck on a Paris street. After this the widow lived virtually cut off from human companionship except for her daughters. The elder has become her mother's chief assistant in the laboratory. The younger is a pianist of some renown and has given several recitals in France.

Mme. Curie was started on the road toward her big achievement because she had been attracted by the experiments of Henri Becquerel with uranium salts.

14,978 ADDED TO U. S. PAY ROLL LIST IN MONTH

And Ten New Agencies Still to Be Manned.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—And still the federal burocracy grows and grows.

Figures disclosed today by the civil service commission show that 14,978 pay rollers were added to the federal lists in May, bringing the total, not counting the army, navy, judicial, or legislative forces, to 659,086 on June 1.

In 1916 the federal pay roll listed 438,057 workers. On June 1, a year ago, the total was 555,432. Today's figures show nearly 100,000 added in the last 12 months of the New Deal.

All Old Ones Kept On.

That the burocracy will continue to grow apace is self-evident, for President Roosevelt, despite his campaign promises, has retained almost all of the old bureaus and commissions, and has added so many new ones that the list grows vastly confusing.

In the last week alone, before departing on his vacation, Mr. Roosevelt set up 10 new agencies of government.

These new boards, commissions, and other agencies have not yet been listed on the civil service commission's statistical tables, except as they take the place of old agencies, but when they are in full working order the volume of federal pay rollers will be going upward and upward.

List of New Agencies.

National labor relations board.
Steel labor disputes board.
Securities and exchange commission.
Communications commission.
Housing administration.
Savings and Loan Insurance corporation.
Industrial emergency committee.
National resources board.

Tables Show Distribution.

In the following tables is shown the civil service commission's tables of federal employés. First are shown the employés of the new agencies set up by President Roosevelt under the New Deal; then those he has let continue to function, and finally the various cabinet offices of the government and the total.

Dern to Sail Today on Canal Zone Inspection

Washington, D. C., July 3.—(AP)—Secretary of War Dern will sail from New York on the steamship Ancon today for an extensive inspection trip to the Panama Canal Zone. He will stop at Port au Prince, Haiti, and then proceed to Colon to begin a two weeks' inspection of all canal, railway and military activities. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Dern, Miss Betsy Dern, and Maj. Harry Bishop, his aid.

De Valera Wins 14 of 23 County Council Elections

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, July 3.—(AP)—Supporters of President Eamon De Valera won control of 14 of the 23 county councils, it was established today when tabulations of returns of last week's local elections was completed. The last returns came from County Cork, where the political party of Owen O'Duffy, leader of the Blue Shirts, won 37 seats, against 25 won by De Valera partisans.

EXILED 26 YEARS, HE'LL WED GIRL WHO SAVED HIM

France Frees Ullmo from Devil's Isle.

PARIS, July 3.—(AP)—Twenty-six years after he was "perpetually" exiled to Devil's Island, branded a traitor to France, Charles Benjamin Ullmo returned a pardoned man and tonight was ready to "start life anew"—and to marry a fiancée he saw for the first time a few hours earlier.

Ullmo was sentenced to the outpost of the hopeless in New Guinea, condemned to spend the remainder of his life there, after being convicted of betraying his native land. He was then 26, a lieutenant in the French army, and accused of treason because of an actress with whom he had become infatuated.

Lived Alone 26 Years.

"Perpetual detention" was the verdict of the military tribunal investigating the famous spy case, in which Ullmo became the central figure.

He was sent to Devil's Island, and for most of his 26 years of detention lived alone in a shack along the sea. He stared moodily over the ocean, hour after hour. When the maddening loneliness drove him too hard, Ullmo gave names to the sharks which he could see dashing through the water and held detailed, one-sided conversations with them.

Eighteen months before Ullmo was pardoned a priest obtained permission to take him to a native village.

To Wed Girl Who Saved Him.

A few years ago Mlle. Porier interested herself in Ullmo. She worked tirelessly to win his freedom and early in June he was pardoned—free to return to a world which held terrifying changes consummated in the 26 years since he was exiled.

Mlle. Porier met Ullmo this morning when he landed at Havre and accompanied him to Paris. It was the first meeting of the pair and they decided to marry immediately—to make a fresh start for Ullmo.

YOUTH KILLED IN MOUNTAIN FALL AS ROPE BREAKS

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 3.—(AP)—Three survivors of the jagged peaks of unconquered Mount Waddington returned to Vancouver today to tell how a comrade fell to his death while attempting to scale the monarch of the coast range of British Columbia.

Alec H. Dalgleish, 27, lies where his companions buried him in the snow. For almost a week the three have been descending mountain heights, cutting their way through bush and traveling by boat to relate to the family of the young climber the story of how he lost his life.

Dalgleish fell on June 24 while the four were retracing their steps to find another route at 10,500 feet. Waddington towers 13,260 feet. Dalgleish was behind his three companions when he slipped. The rope with which the four were bound together struck a projection of rock and broke. Dalgleish fell 100 feet to the snow below. The survivors were three and a half hours in descending to the body.

In Marital Tangle

Hollywood, Cal., July 3.—(AP)—Friends of Greta Nissen, blonde film actress, were informed today she would return here from London in September to defend herself in an automobile accident damage suit, and to seek an end to her matrimonial difficulties with Weldon Heyburn, screen player, whom she married in Mexico two years ago.

The actress and Heyburn filed mutual consent divorce actions in Mexico within six months after their marriage, but later withdrew them. Subsequently, she went to England to play in films and on the stage, and last Mar. 10 she announced she planned to start a new divorce suit in Mexico. Her latest plans, her friends said are to sever her ties with Heyburn in the local Superior court.

The damage suit against the actress will be tried in Federal court since the complainant, Raoul Roulien, is a Brazilian. Roulien, an actor, is asking for $250,000 for the death of his wife, Tosca Roulien, who was struck by a car owned by Miss Nissen and driven by John Huston, son of Walter Huston, actor.

SEE RICHBERG AS MENTOR OF NEW DEAL'S FUTURE

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt expects to be able to outline to the new congress early in its session the future of American industry under the New Deal.

Such is accepted in Washington as the reason that the President named Donald R. Richberg, who has been general counsel of the National Recovery administration, to head the industrial emergency committee. In this new capacity Mr. Richberg will direct a study during the summer into the federal government's responsibility toward industry under the new order with a view to recommending to the President permanent policies and methods. There is talk that Richberg will also try to untangle the almost countless overlapping alphabetical commissions.

On the basis of the findings of the industrial emergency committee, whose membership also includes Secretaries Ickes and Perkins, Gen. Johnson, and Relief Administrator Hopkins, the President expects to tell congress what to do with the NRA next winter.

In order that he may be free to make a survey of what has happened so far in the government's industrial experimentation and, further, to make recommendations as to what should be done, Mr. Richberg has severed all active connections with the NRA.

PRINCE CONSORT OF HOLLAND DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Death Hits Royal Family Second Time.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, July 3.—The Dutch royal family was thrown into mourning for the second time in a few months today when Prince Henry, husband of Queen Wilhelmina, died suddenly of heart disease. The queen, who was at another palace, did not reach his side in the royal palace before the end came. The death of the beloved Queen Mother Emma threw the country into grief recently.

The prince consort, who was 58, was stricken on June 28 with a fainting spell in his office at the Red Cross. The queen at that time cut short a holiday in Switzerland and hurried home.

Princess Juliana Quits London.

Prince Henry's death brought a tragic end to 10 days of gayety for Princess Juliana, the only child of the royal pair, who was a guest of the British royal family in London. She was reported overcome with grief. She left London with two ladies in waiting on the first boat train.

As Prince Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, the prince consort made one of the most triumphant matches of his generation when he married the reigning queen on Feb. 7, 1901. The people of Holland had grown to love the German, turned loyal Hollander, for his simple and unaffected manner. In 1907 he won their admiration when he went to sea in a rowboat to assist in the rescue of survivors of the steamer Berlin, which had sunk off Holland.

All Social Life Halted.

There had been rumors, especially in the early days of the marriage, of numerous disagreements between the strong willed Wilhelmina and her consort. It was gossiped in court circles that the atmosphere of the royal household at times was strained.

The nation's flags are at half staf in tribute to Prince Henry. All social life is halted. The American legation has canceled its proposed Fourth of July celebration.

BILLION METEORS A DAY HIT EARTH, BYRD'S AID SAYS

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, July 3.—(AP)—[Via Mackay Radio.]—At least a billion meteors a day strike the earth's atmosphere and disintegrate in momentary flashes of fire, Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, senior scientist of the Byrd antarctic expedition, estimated today.

He based his calculations on observations the last two months in the winter darkness here. Taking into account tiny meteors, the flash of which would not be visible to the eye, the number hurtling into the earth's atmosphere daily probably exceeds a billion, Dr. Poulder said. Low temperatures and the clear air here ordinarily make conditions for meteor observations ideal.

Dr. Poulter's studies revealed that high above the earth's surface there are winds of tremendous velocity. Three meteors which he noted left trails of glittering sparks which remained lighted long enough to give some clue to wind velocity and direction. At an altitude of 100 miles, he calculated, a west wind was blowing at the rate of 150 miles an hour.

STORM LOWERS HEAT A LITTLE ON 5TH DAY IN N. Y.

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—A long promised thundershower, preceded by a blinding dust storm, brought some relief to this city tonight after New York, in common with the greater part of the United States, had suffered another merciless roasting.

The fifth successive day of the heat wave here sent the mercury up to 91 degrees this afternoon, killed three men, and caused a number of prostrations. Two drownings and two rescues from drowning were reported.

Generally fair and somewhat cooler weather was promised for the Fourth of July holiday.

NEW YORK CITY BIG VICE RAID FADES IN COURT

Advance Notice Heralds Expose of Syndicate.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—Once again, a great vice raid has been conducted in New York. Once again, the announcement has been made that a gigantic vice syndicate has been uncovered. Once again, the forces of the law have announced that the managers of a white slave ring operating in six eastern cities would be in custody in a few hours.

So today, fourteen frightened women were arraigned in court and dismissed on probation. Two men and four women, known as minor police characters, were held on small bonds. And from the district attorney's office came the admission that evidence against the higher ups in the vice circuit was exceedingly scanty.

Quick with Statement.

The raids were made last midnight in spectacular fashion. There was much battering in of doors in the upper west side district. The twenty prisoners were taken to headquarters and a few moments later a statement was issued by Inspector A. C. Anderson and Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings that a terrific blow had been struck against commercialized vice in New York.

The statement was embellished with lurid details. It stated that the vice ring had recruited women from the mining camps of Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The syndicate made a practice of rotating women among cities and a chain store system was practically in effect, it was revealed. Each week the helpless pawns of the vice ring would be moved to a new link in the chain.

Story Gradually Fades.

The confident assertion was made by the officers in charge that the prisoners were "talking" and that this time the leaders in the syndicate would be found. That confidence began to wane late today.

"Getting legal evidence against the leaders is tough," admitted an assistant district attorney.

An effort to bolster up the importance of the arrests was made by the police. They described Nicholas Montana, 36, one of those arrested, as the "key man" of the vice ring. Montana is known as a petty gambler who specializes in baseball pools. It was stated that Montana had made from $1,500 to $2,000 a week from the operation of the vice chain.

Advertising Enough for All.

Some of the reporters who covered the raids grinned at the somewhat tame ending to the vice ring prosecution. New York must hav its big vice exposé about once a month, it seems. A good series of raids makes copy and gets officials' names in the papers and gives the citizen the comforting assurance that the police are on the job.

A description of sliding panels in many of the places raided, the assertion that the women punched a time clock, checking in at noon each day and checking out at 12:30 a. m. each morning, and other sparkling items in the police statement aroused admiration in some literary observers. The police department is not lacking in imagination, it was hinted. These little details, it was pointed out, help exceedingly in the striking of another terrific blow against commercialized vice.

ILLINOIS TROOPS ON EARLY LIST TO BE MOTORIZED

Washington, D. C., July 3.—(AP)—Motorization of the National Guard units will be accomplished during this summer through purchase of 1,551 motor trucks by the war department from funds allotted under the PWA $10,000,000 motorization program.

Advertisments for bids for the National Guard trucks will be included among the first to be issued from the office of Assistant Secretary of War Woodring during the next month.

Contracts already awarded the Chevrolet company for 1,600 trucks for the National Guard are for "motor pools" and their distribution has not yet been announced.

Among field artillery regiments scheduled to receive 60 trucks each are the following: 139th [Indiana], 120th [Wisconsin], 122d and 124th [Illinois], 119th [Michigan].

Among field artillery brigade headquarters detachments to receive three trucks each are 62d [Ohio], 57th [Michigan], 58th [Illinois].

SENATOR SWINGS FIST AT HUEY DURING DEBATE

Baton Rouge, La., July 3.—[Special.]—Senator Huey P. Long ducked another one this afternoon.

Edward Brodtmann, young state senator from New Orleans, leaped at him across a senate finance committee table in the state capitol, making a wild swing for the Kingfish's jaw. State Senator James A. Noe and Joe Messina, bodyguard of Senator Long, threw Brodtmann's right arm up and pushed him back across the table.

Brodtmann's intended blow would have been a haymaker if it had landed. Long staggered backward. Escorted by Messina and Noe, the Kingfish then left the committee room.

Asks Long to Keep Still.

Brodtmann had asked Senator Long to stop talking while he was discussing a bill before the committee.

"Be quiet, Huey," he shouted. Long ignored that. Brodtmann repeated it, again leaving off the senator's title.

"Don't speak to me," Long blurted. "I didn't address you. Don't speak to me."

"Don't worry, I won't," Brodtmann retorted.

For Tax on Ads.

In addition to his row in the senate committee session Huey had other matters to keep him busy. He was preparing to rush to final passage a bill which he proudly declares "is my own stuff," placing a tax of 2 per cent on the gross advertising revenue of newspapers.

Long's bill exempts those newspapers having a circulation under twenty thousand. In Louisiana this bill will affect the four newspapers in New Orleans and the two in Shreveport. Newspaper publishers declare that Senator Long's bill is one of reprisal because of their opposition.

In appearing before the ways and means committee which favorably reported Senator Long's bill, the attorney for the newspapers declared that Senator Long was attempting to throttle the freedom of the press. They pointed out that the newspapers of Louisiana have backed every worthwhile enterprise, every progressive movement and have devoted columns to fostering and financing charitable enterprises.

Long Attacks Newspapers.

Senator Long said, "The newspapers are the charmed free bull of this country. They don't pay any tax on anything. The government carries them through the mails at a big loss.

"They have newsprint on the free list, and they don't keep enough on hand so we can tax them. They are the only outfit that pays no licenses. If they call a man a thief and he comes around to get it corrected they say that this correction is political advertising and charge him an ungodly rate to print his side of the issue in controversy.

"I believe in freedom of speech, but it's got to be truthful speech, and lying newspapers should have to pay for their lying. I'm going to help these newspapers by hitting them in the pocketbook; maybe then they'll try to clean up."

Support Good Roads.

The spokesman for the newspapers pointed out to the committee that nearly every publication in Louisiana had supported the good roads movement, had supported every reform in the interest of public good; that they had given columns of space to propaganda for worthy enterprises that needed support.

Senator Long stepped in, "we've listened to enough of this. The tax goes on this advertising, and it will be on gross advertising. We ain't going to give these newspapers any chance to juggle their books on the net basis. Come on and vote."

WATER TORRENT BREAKS THROUGH AQUEDUCT SHAFT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 3.—[Special.]—A torrent of water burst through into the San Jacinto tunnel on the 250 mile Colorado river aqueduct project today, flooding a section of the giant bore and rising about 500 feet in the Potrero shaft.

The water broke from an underground mountain pocket into the tunnel, reports from Riverside county headquarters of the project said. It flooded the pumps and other machinery in the shaft and tunnel. The shaft is about 800 feet deep, and from the bottom of it the tunnel has been driven about 200 feet. Workers had been ordered from the tunnel when seepage of water increased.

J. L. Burkholder, assistant chief engineer of the metropolitan water district, said larger pumps are being instaled at the top of the shaft. He expects the water level to be lowered enough in two weeks to permit workmen to go in and stop the flow of water.

Springfield District Pays U. S. 21 Millions in Taxes

Springfield, Ill., July 3.—(AP)—The eighth internal revenue district paid $21,027,125.66 in taxes into the United States treasury in the fiscal year which ended June 30, V. Y. Dallman, collector, announced today. The collections exceed all peace time records for the district.

RULES OVER RUM

[Associated Press Photo.]

New Orleans, La., July 3.—[Special.]—Miss Alice Lee Grosjean, former private secretary to Senator Huey P. Long, today became the liquor boss of this state. The bill, passed by the house, 62 to 36, makes the supervisor of public accounts the issuer of liquor permits. The senate majority will be even larger in proportion than the house. Miss Grosjean is supervisor of public accounts.

Throughout the state mayors and parish [county] officials declared the bill, as drawn by Senator Long, will tend to build through liquor selling a still stronger state political machine.

Long's reply has been, "Yes, we may have one big machine, but we'll bust up these little machines throughout the state."

The bill carries with it a gallonage tax on all liquors. That tax, administration forces said, will bring a million dollars a year; others say three millions.

JOLIET DEATH ATTRIBUTED TO SLOT MACHINE

A coroner's jury in Will county, investigating the death on June 26 of Matthew Zimmerman, 63 years old, 2201 North Wilcox street, Joliet, yesterday determined he had died as "a result of injuries inflicted by a slot machine."

The verdict came after witnesses had testified that on the evening of June 22 Zimmerman had dropped 380 nickels in the slot machine operated by Mrs. Mary Zdrovlezick, who has a saloon at 804 Theodore street, Joliet.

Discouraged as the last coin clinked into the machine without a return dividend, Zimmerman sat down at a table, witnesses said, while Miss Betty Stalzer, a waitress, tried a nickel for herself. The machine stopped at a combination which should have paid four coins, but only two came out.

"I'm a good sport, but shortchanging a lady is going too far," Zimmerman is reported to have exclaimed.

He lifted the machine, loaded down with his 380 nickels, and shook it. His foot slipped and he fell backwards, according to the witnesses. The machine fell on his chest, inflicting the injuries from which he died.

OFFERS PLAN TO RESTORE EAGLE IN MILWAUKEE

NRA Telegraphs Terms to Utility Company.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—The Milwaukee Light and Railway company, recently embroiled in bloody labor trouble, can have its Blue Eagle back as soon as it carries out the agreement it made with its workers and the national labor board.

This was the word telegraphed to the company this afternoon by the NRA. The telegram was sent over the name of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA taskmaster for industry, even though he is in New York today.

Two Conditions Set.

Reëmployment of workers whom the national labor board judges to have been wrongfully discharged and full payment of back salaries to them are the two conditions of the agreement which the NRA demanded be fulfilled before the Blue Eagle is returned.

"The national labor board has advised us," the NRA's telegram to the company read, "that you have made agreement providing, among other things, for reinstatement of the employes found by the national labor board to have been improperly discharged. National labor board recommends that the Blue Eagle be restored. Compliance division concurs in this recommendation. In accordance with these recommendations and my telegram of June 12, I will wire you authorizing you to resume display of the Blue Eagle upon receipt from you of letter or telegram as follows."

Lays Down Compliance Form.

The NRA then laid down a form of compliance certificate to which the company must subscribe and which binds the company to all pertinent NRA codes as well as the President's reëmployment agreement. The form which the NRA demanded that the company sign and return, read:

"We have reinstated with back pay the employés found by the national labor board to have been improperly discharged. We certify that we are complying and will comply with the transit code and with all other codes to which we are subject and with the President's reëmployment agreement as to any part of our business not subject to a code."

Gen. Johnson snatched the light and traction company's Blue Eagle on June 8. His action followed decisions by a special Milwaukee labor board, by the national labor board, and by the NRA compliance division, all holding that the company had violated Section 7-A of the NRA by discharging eight employés.

Sees Anti-Union Plan.

The labor boards held that the discharge of the eight workers was an attempt on the part of the company to discourage unionization of its workers. The company continually denied these charges, saying the workers were fired for misconduct or infraction of the company rules. No agreement was arrived at, and the NRA insignia was taken from the company.

When bloody and riotous labor troubles broke out against the company, the national labor board once more entered the picture and finally negotiated the agreement between the company and its workers to which Gen. Johnson referred in his telegram today.

This agreement binds the company to reëmploy and pay for back time all employés whom the labor board judges to have been discharged in violation of Section 7-A.

The agreement was reached Sunday night, but the NRA did not officially concur in the arrangement by offering to return the Blue Eagle until today.

HUNT A MISSING WITNESS IN U. S. WAR OFFICE QUIZ

Key to Attempted Change in Specifications.

Washington, D. C., July 3.—(AP)—A nation-wide hunt for a missing witness was disclosed today by congressional investigators looking into war department activities and expenditures.

The witness is Frank E. Speicher, wanted to tell the house military affairs committee about efforts he is said to have made to get the war department to change contract specifications.

Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary of war, already has told the committee in executive session what he knows about Speicher.

Tries to Restore Old Item.

Several months ago, Woodring said, specifications were drawn for the purchase of army trucks. Where the specifications previously had called for a combination splash-force feed oiling system, Woodring said that on the advice of army officers he changed it to all force speed.

Later, the committee has been told, Speicher tried to have the specifications restored to their original form. Before any change was made, however, the grand jury investigation of the war department started, and the specifications and bids all were thrown out.

The committee wants to find out who Speicher's friends were and if any of them were employed in the war department. At the time of the splash-force feed specifications, he was representing a puncture-proof tire company.

The committee has been told that Speicher offered to aid the Chevrolet Motor company, whose cars would have been barred had force feed been insisted upon.

Norman K. Haig, representative of the General Motors Fleet corporation, which handles Chevrolet sales to the government, told the committee that Speicher never had been employed by his concern.

Sought in New York.

J. B. Woodside, another General Motors representative, told the committee that Speicher had not been directly employed by General Motors but had offered to see what he could do about the specifications. Speicher's only interest, Woodside testified, was in tires.

On another occasion, Woodside added, Speicher without pay did represent General Motors at the opening of some bids at the agriculture department. The reason, Woodside asserted, was that no other General Motors representative was available.

Recently, the committee heard that Speicher was in New York City. But justice department agents were unable to find him.

The committee today considered the case of Col. Joseph I. McMullen, army officer who received several thousand dollars from the Atwater Kent radio people for advising them in a patent case.

Details of that transaction were explained to the committee in executive session by James L. Schwank, an executive of the Atwater Kent Manufacturing company. McMullen is to testify again, possibly next week, as soon as he obtains his personal records corcerning fees which he told the committee he had accepted from Atwater Kent and the Cuban-American Manganese company.

BIDS RECEIVED ON 46,000 CITY STREET SIGNS

Bids were received yesterday by Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, for the sale to the city of street signs.

The city advertised for 46,000 single signs and the prices of the nine firms bidding ranged from $14,720, the city's estimate, to $160,080. Commissioner Hewitt took the bids under advisement.

Each sign unit has two street names on it, the north and south street and the east and west highway. The sign division thus figured that the 46,000 signs would be sufficient to cover 23,000 street intersections. Chicago has only 16,000 intersections and it was planned to place double units on 7,000 corners and a single unit on 9,000 corners.

When the city made its estimate of $14,720, that was the price quoted by a number of firms. After the bids came in these firms informed the city that they had to raise the price from 32 cents per sign to 58 cents, an increase of 81 per cent because of the national recovery administration code. As the appropriation in the city's 1934 budget for the signs is only $50,000, the cost of buying and installing the signs is prohibitive.

GIRL IS SMALL, BUT RIGHTEOUS WRATH IS VICTOR

Miss Helen Sodak, 26 years old, manager of a hosiery shop at 1607 Belmont avenue, isn't very big, but when she is armed with righteous wrath she can make it unpleasant for shoplifters.

While waiting on several customers last night, Miss Sodak saw a man in the front of the shop slip several pairs of socks under his coat.

Miss Sodak pursued him out the door, tripped him up and was bumping his head on the sidewalk before a crowd of bystanders when Policeman William Raab rescued the thief.

At the police station he identified himself as Harry Hayes, 48 years old, of 24 West Van Buren street. Policeman Raab looked at him coldly.

"Getting beaten up by a woman," he scoffed. "What kind of business are you in, anyway?"

"I'm a structural steel worker," was the reply.

MARLAND LEADS IN OKLAHOMA'S GOVERNOR RACE

Gov. Murray's Choice Democrat Runnerup.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 3.—(AP)—Congressman E. W. Marland, the "new deal" candidate, and Speaker Tom Anglin, flying the colors of Gov. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, drew away from a field of 13 Democratic candidates for the governor's nomination as returns from the statewide primary piled up slowly tonight.

"Bedspread" ballots that clogged the precinct election machinery and heavy voting in all sections slowed the count that will determine the two contestants in the July 24 run-off. The Democratic nomination always has been tantamount to election in governor's races.

From 911 precincts out of 3,352 Marland had 32,642 votes; Anglin, 23,853; "Iron Jack" Walton, once removed as governor, 18,351; Gomer Smith, Oklahoma City attorney, 10,699; Attorney General J. Berry King, 12,904; and Lieut. Gov. Robert Burns, 7,373. These were the leaders.

Piles Up Lead in West.

Marland, once a multi-millionaire oil man, piled up his early lead largely from six counties in the western half of the state and from Oklahoma City, with Anglin close behind in most of these and ahead in several others. Walton's leading counties were on the west side, and Smith was rolling up an impressive plurality from the southwest corner.

A surprise plurality for Marland, about 3 to 1, was recorded in early returns from a southeastern Oklahoma county—Stephens. This section of the state had been regarded as Walton or Anglin territory.

Rogers for Congressman at Large.

Will Rogers, the rural schoolmaster, darted to an early lead in his quest for reëlection as congressman at large. Henry S. Johnston, deposed governor, was in second place, and E. B. Howard, former congressman, held third in the free for all for the Democratic nomination for the office which Rogers won two years ago.

Fourteen other candidates for the congressman at large nomination, including such names as Robert E. Lee, Theodore Roosevelt Wilcox, and Andrew Jackson Jordan, trailed well behind the three leaders.

Perspiring queues of voters, sweltering in temperatures above 100 degrees, trailed from most polling places throughout the state during the day, waiting their turn at the two foot state ballots. The state ballot alone carried around 200 names and there were voluminous county tickets as well.

EXECUTORS OF SOUP KING'S WILL TO GET $1,921,067

Philadelphia, Pa., July 3.—[Special.]—Fees totaling $1,921,067 have been allowed for the administration of the estate of Dr. John T. Dorrance, late head of the Campbell Soup company of Camden, N. J., up to Aug. 31, 1932, approximately two years after his death.

Although the inventoried value of the Dorrance estate, on which New Jersey is still battling in the courts to collect an inheritance tax, was placed at $114,850,733.39, the first account of the executors, covering the period from Dr. Dorrance's death on Sept. 21, 1930, to Aug. 31, 1931, shows the gross estate or principal to be some $6,000,000 higher than that, or $120,861,398.37.

The second account, covering the one year period to Aug. 31, 1932, lists the gross principal as $120,827,938.46 including $17,542,722.99 in cash. The executors are the widow, Mrs. Ethel M. Dorrance; Dr. Dorrance's brothers, Dr. George M. Dorrance and Arthur C. Dorrance, and the Camden Safe Deposit and Trust company.

The executors themselves were allowed commissions of $1,626,594.26 in partial payment of the total they ultimately will receive.

FAIR TO OBSERVE 4TH WITH VARIED PROGRAM TODAY

Attendance Total Goes Past 3,000,000.

BY EARL MULLIN.

Chicago's formal celebrations of the Fourth of July will center today at the World's Fair, where an attendance of more than a hundred thousand is expected to roll the total paid admissions well into the fourth million.

A double celebration had been planned for this morning with the Fourth of July and the first visitor of the fourth million opening the day. But last night the gates began clicking at a surprising rate and the fourth million got a twelve hour start on the Fourth of July. The three millionth visitor arrived shortly before 8:30. At midnight the total attendance for the day was 69,646.

Honor Visitor Is Chicagoan.

The honor visitor was Mrs. Max M. Rothschild, 79 years old, Hotel Ambassador East, who entered the 12th street gate. She was presented with a number of gifts, including a camera, an electric clock, a fleece scotty terrier, tickets to concessions, and souvenir plaques. William Blinn of the Fair staf did the honors and made the presentations. The entrance of the third million visitor at the 1934 exposition came just three days later than at the 1933 exposition. Last night the attendance at the Fair was slightly more than three hundred thousand behind that at a comparable date last year.

Special Independence day programs will dot the Fair starting at 9 a. m., when the gates open this morning. Every village, every concession, and every exhibit has arranged some program or feature.

Troops to Fire Salute.

Official recognition of the anniversary will come at noon when sailors, soldiers and marines at Camp F. D. Roosevelt pass in review and fire a 48 gun salute to the nation. At 1:30 p. m. the 61st Coast artillery will put on a formal guard mount in the Court of States.

At 2 p. m. the Detroit symphony, playing in Ford gardens, will present a fourth of July program featuring compositions by Sousa, Herbert, Grainger, Hosmer, Kreisler and others. At 3:30 p. m. the Chicago symphony orchestra will give its seventh free concert in the Swift bridge amphitheater. The concert will feature American composers.

In addition to evening patriotic concerts by the two symphony orchestras the army, navy and marine corps bands will give a program of martial and patriotic music at 6 p. m. in the Court of States. At 4:15 p. m. the Chicago symphony will broadcast a patriotic program to Japan, which will be answered fifteen minutes later by the American ambassador to Tokio and a Japanese prince.

Program at War Panorama.

Appropriately much of the day's ceremonies will center around the Pantheon De La Guerre, panorama of the world war, and in the French war torn village directly in front. Starting at 10 a. m. with a flag raising, and continuing throughout the day with music by Legion organizations, this area is expected to be a gathering place for veterans.

At 8:30 p. m. the Mundy Jubilee singers will present a special holiday program in the Court of States. The lagoon theater, site of some of the most spectacular free attractions of the Fair, will hold afternoon and evening programs in keeping with the day. The concluding performance there will be a motion picture, "Hail America," at 10 p. m.

Depicting life at the time of the American revolution the Colonial village will, under the direction of the Daughters of the American revolution, present a program of music, speeches and patriotic pageantry. An official reception will be held at 5 p. m. in the Federal building, with U. S. Commissioner Dunne, Fair President Dawes and other dignitaries in the receiving line.

Fireworks Show at 10:15.

The climax of the day's festivities will come at 10:15 p. m. when a fireworks show, three times the size of previous pyrotechnic displays, will be given on Northerly Island, directly across from the Lagoon theater. Patriotic pictures and a sham battle will feature the show.

With Quin Ryan of W-G-N and his "Scalawags" as marshals of the day, Children's day tomorrow is expected to draw thousands of children and their parents to the Fair. Five cent admissions, special children's shows, potato races, and similar attractions, and a military review for the children will be among the features.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

Friday, July 13, has been named as college day at the Fair. Parades, races, tumbling, swimming, and musical events will be presented by representatives of twenty American universities.

At the census bureau exhibit in the Federal building is a large population counter which shows graphically just how births and deaths counterbalance so that a net gain of one citizen is made every 44 seconds. There is a birth every 15 seconds and a death every 23 seconds. All told the country's population gains about 1,900 each day.

Thirty boys accompanied by their instructors in agriculture left their homes at Lufkin, Tex., last Sunday headed for the World's Fair. When they arrive they will be the guests of Maj. Chester L. Fordney, U. S. M. C., for a special tour of the Hall of Science.

Tud Kempf, famous woodworker, will demonstrate his whittling in the home workshop on the second floor of the General Exhibits building in a daily exhibition during the next two weeks. He will show the latest methods in the manufacturing of violins, mandolins, guitars, and other hand made string instruments.

The Wings of a Century, drama of transportation at the Fair, will observe the Fourth of July today with the interpolation of patriotic numbers in all singing scores of the performance. Alice Phillips of the Chicago Civic opera and Frances Glickman of the American Grand Opera company will sing the national anthem as the finale.

Five hundred officers and men of the 48th Highlanders of Toronto will arrive in Chicago July 14. They will troop the color twice a day at the Fair and the regimental band will give daily concerts. The Highlanders will be stationed in the Naval armory while in Chicago.

The Swift bridge last night welcomed its two millionth visitor, Miss Virginia Witscher, 20 years old, of 4917 North Paulina street.

Ten semi-final winners were chosen last night to compete in the finals of the Fair beauty contest Friday night in the Court of States. The judges, all representatives of loop department stores, made their decision after only two ballots.

The Concessionaries' Association of A Century of Progress met last night in an attempt to iron out difficulties which it has encountered with the Fair management. After three hours of discussion, the association decided not to take any further action until after July 15, at which time it is expected that an increase in attendance at the Fair will iron out many of the difficulties.

DRIVE LAUNCHED BY OFFICIALS TO CUT TRAFIC TOLL

Judges and Police in Motor Club Parley.

Mayor Kelly's announced campaign to reduce trafic fatalities came nearer realization yesterday as the judiciary, the police, and trafic engineers consulted at luncheon in the Palmer House as guests of the Chicago Motor club.

Charles M. Hayes, president of the motor club, opened the committee meeting with a recital of the increases in the motor toll. In Cook county yesterday morning 598 lives had been lost in trafic accidents since the first of the year. This is an increase of 20.5 per cent over the toll for the same period of 1933.

"We have too many stop signs and lights that are no longer needed at their present locations," said Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court. "The public disobeys these illogical regulations.

Urges Regular Patrol.

"The public is violating signs and signals flagrantly with a virtual immunity," said Leslie Sorenson, city trafic engineer.

"The morale of the police is broken by the failure of courts to convict," asserted George T. Donoghue, general superintendent of the merged park boards.

"The state highway department," said Chief William Collins of the county highway police, "has built a lot of high speed pavements without protecting the intersections with illuminated or reflector stop signs."

Each conferee criticized branches of regulation and enforcement outside his own domain until it was quite generally agreed that a reform was needed in all phases of trafic regulation.

Subcommittees Appointed.

After coming to this understanding, Mr. Sorenson, who was chosen as chairman, appointed four subcommittees to report next week with recommendations for reforms in all of the important agencies having to do with trafic safety.

"With all of the facts before us," said the chairman, "the motoring public should begin to realize by late next week that there is a safety campaign in Chicago. The improvement that will have the most prompt results in reducing deaths will be a police and court enforcement of our trafic regulations."

Others at the meeting included Supervising Captain Ira McDowell, chief of the uniformed city police; Frank Kreml, head of Evanston's accident prevention bureau; Alderman John A. Massen [48th], chairman of the council trafic and safety committee; Robert Nau, trafic engineer, Chicago Association of Commerce; and Joseph H. Braun, general counsel, Chicago Motor club.

NEW YORK APPEALS COURT BARS PICKETING OF RETAIL OUTLETS

Albany, N. Y., July 3.—(AP)—The Court of Appeals by a 5 to 2 vote today held that labor unions have no right to picket peacefully distributing points of a manufacturer who is experiencing labor troubles.

The decision, in which no opinion was written, was based on an action brought by George F. Stuhmer & Co., Brooklyn bakers, seeking to restrain labor unions from picketing groceries selling its products because it was "destroying the grocers' business" and in effect was an "illegal secondary boycott."

The action of the Court of Appeals affirmed orders of the lower courts granting injunctions restraining labor unions from picketing distribution points.

DENMARK TO GET LINCOLN CABIN REPLICA TODAY

BY JOHN AHL-NIELSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 3.—While Uncle Sam celebrates the Fourth of July, some of his children will flock to the national park in Rebild, Denmark, to join in the festivities. This year the Danish celebration is expected to be one of the most important celebrations that has taken place in the Danish-American National park since its inauguration in 1912, as the Danish king is expected to be one of the speakers.

Lauritz Melchior and Frida Leider will sing. The Danish Royal corps de ballet will also entertain the guests. Dr. Max Henius of Chicago will be master of ceremonies.

Premier to Extend Welcome.

The program tomorrow will be opened by the Danish premier, T. Stauning, who will deliver a short welcome speech. The king will then thank the Danish born Americans for their loyalty to their adopted country and their love of their native country, and the American minister to Denmark, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, will extend greetings from the United States.

Dr. Henius will be the official speaker at the dedication of a Lincoln memorial that has been built in the park. From Danca all over America, logs, timber and relics of the Danish pioneer days in America have been collected during the last year. A replica of Lincoln's cabin has been built and in this the relics will be exhibited.

Flags from 48 States.

From the center of the park to the Lincoln memorial will be an alley of flags from the 48 states, each flag presented to the park by Danes from their respective states. At a gala dinner in the evening the Danish minister to Washington, Otto Wadsted, will speak.

KENNEDY MAPS PLANS FOR STOCK MARKET HALTER

Sees Investor's Paradise Under His Commission.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—Instead of suffering as a result of the stock exchange act, the investment machinery of the country should profit by a restoration of popular confidence in it, Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy of the new securities and exchange commission declared today as he laid plans for the organization which will administer the new law.

"The securities and exchange commission is undertaking its duties with a profound sense of the responsibility which has been imposed on it in response to a widespread demand on the part of the American people," Kennedy said. "When the President communicated this demand to congress he said: 'It is my belief that the exchanges for dealing in securities are necessary and of definite value to our commercial life. Nevertheless, it should be our national policy to restrict as far as possible the use of these exchanges for purely speculative operations.'

Will Take Lots of Time.

"With these views of the President every member of the commission is in hearty accord.

"Of course, in regulating the exchanges, adequate time must be taken to work out many technical details. Too much must not be expected at the outset. But, in speaking for the members of the commission, I wish to emphasize that our one goal will be to protect the interests of the great mass of American investors.

"This does not mean that legitimate business, including the securities business, must suffer. Instead, regulation, properly conceived and honestly administered, will make our investment machinery more adequately serve the needs of commerce and will bring about confidence in our financial institutions and their methods."

Kennedy Admits Operations.

Kennedy made no denial of the fact that he himself had once engaged in the very speculative operations which he must now prohibit. He recalled the feverish days of the boom as an era when one did things as a matter of course which would now be considered in bad taste, even immoral. But he also claimed that he was one of the first to suggest stock exchange control to his friend, President Roosevelt, having become convinced nearly ten years ago that some regulatory system is necessary.

"The cards are stacked in favor of those on the inside," he said. "The ordinary investor who buys a stock waits a year for an annual report to gain information about the corporation in which he has invested. The insiders are able to keep posted daily. The ordinary investor gets caught, the insiders sell out in time.

"So it is the ordinary investors about whom we shall be concerned. Beyond seeing that they get a fair market to operate in, we shall let the speculators take care of themselves. We are not worried about the man who goes into the market on Monday expecting to get out on Thursday with enough money to finance his vacation."

Kennedy a Harvard Graduate.

Kennedy is a Harvard graduate. At 25 he was head of a Boston bank. During the war he managed the Bethlehem ship building operations, employing 55,000 men. Later he became manager of the Boston branch of Hayden, Stone & Co., and an associate of Galen Stone. One of his nine children was sent abroad to study on the advice of Prof. Felix Frankfurter because his social viewpoint was getting warped by living the life of a rich man's son. The son is now attached to the American embassy in Moscow, and his letters home discourse on theories which, his father smilingly admits, make Prof. Frankfurter's look pallidly conservative.

Another new commission, the federal communications commission, also began to get under way today. Chairman Eugene O. Sykes announced that the new body would be formally organized on July 11, and would immediately begin a thorough investigation of all phases of interstate communications.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm By Bob Becker

Ram to Be Rameses

July 3, 1934.

IT'S going to be a big July 4 for the new Corriedale ram on the auxiliary farm, because he is due to be christened on this holiday. After several conferences the judges have selected a name for this aristocrat, and hereafter he will be known as Rameses. Mrs. Louise Peck Ruddick was the first under the wire with this appropriate name for the Corriedale. Later on C. J. Windsor, 180 East Delaware place, Miss Helen Mott of Benton Harbor, Mich., and Zack Proctor, 4202 South Union avenue, Chicago, also suggested Rameses or Rameses I. for the ram.

The judges wish to thank all readers who wrote in suggesting names for the ram. [There were several hundred names sent in, so the task of picking one was not easy.] Just how the ram is going to be christened hasn't been decided. But I am willing to wager that Rameses, the young sheik from Wyoming, will bar firecrackers, Roman candles and skyrockets as part of the celebration. This sheep is on the auxiliary farm where he has become a great pet with everybody. He spends part of his time in the sheepfold and part stalking around the barnyard begging for attention because he likes to be petted.

Charley Sleezer has developed a system to beat the sun on scorching hot days when he is driving the tractor in the fields. Without saying anything to anybody on the place Charley went shopping the other day and purchased a large, gaudy umbrella guaranteed to shed sunshine. Then he rigged up this gay colored umbrella so that when opened up it extended over his seat on the tractor like a big tent. Now Charley goes up and down the fields with his tractor and "beach umbrella" in perfect comfort even though the sun is hot. However, some of the boys are kidding him about his "parasol" and telling him that he "can't take it."

The rare and unusual crops now have neat signs in front of the rows so that visitors can walk up to the fence and know what they are looking at. Sunday I noticed a number of visitors stopping to look over the rows of lespedeza, crotaria, soy beans, cowpeas and other plantings.

The Sunday crowd of experimental farm visitors kept Paul Sleezer, the official guide, on the job every minute throughout the day. Around 2 o'clock in the afternoon he had 8 and 10 people in a group when he took them around to show them interesting things on the place. Mr. Sleezer can be contacted at the information house on the farm. Farm visitors should follow the road signs to the information house and then inquire for Mr. Sleezer, who will be glad to answer questions about the crops and other things of interest on the place. He also is ready to conduct visitors to the different places on the farm that they wish to see.

July 4 is going to be a holiday here on the farm. Except for the usual chores which have to be done on every farm, there will be no work schedule. During the day the recreation program for the families on the farm offers just about everything from an afternoon ball game to a picnic. Young Louis Thurow III, already has his cap and pistol purchased and has saved his money for fireworks which he and his dad are going to shoot off in the evening.

PLEA TO DELAY TORTURE KIDNAP TRIAL REFUSED

Overruling numerous defense objections, which included a plea for postponement because the Criminal courts are now in the midst of the "vacation period," Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday set July 23 for the trial of four men accused of kidnaping and torturing Harry Welch, Toledo clothing merchant.

Those who will go on trial before a jury qualified to impose the death penalty are Rudolph Pisani, 24 years old, also recently indicted as a leader in a $1,000,000 arson ring; Allen Siegal, 25; Arthur Sway, 24, and Edward Greenspan, 27.

"There is no summer vacation in the Criminal courts," Judge Feinberg remarked. "We're operating full strength here all summer. I will set this case for trial on July 23 and expect it to go ahead at that time."

Defense attorneys asked a continuance until Aug. 30. Assistant State's Attorneys Marshal V. Kearney and Gordon Nash voiced vigorous objections, instituting on a speedy trial and describing the case as "one of the most atrocious kidnapings in Chicago's history."

DENTIST SO MEAN SHE'S LOSING HER HAIR, WIFE SAYS

Mrs. Janet Kandel, 30 years old, 4842 North Central Park avenue, appeared in court yesterday and told Superior Judge Joseph Sabath that her husband had been so abusive to her during their five years of married life that she had lost most of her hair.

Her story was told as her lawyer, Norman Becker, sought temporary alimony on her bill for separate maintenance, now pending against Dr. Hugo Kandel, 50 years old, a dentist of 1588 Milwaukee avenue.

Under questioning by Mr. Becker, Mrs. Kandel said her husband borrowed $3,500 from her before their marriage. When he deserted her three weeks ago, she said, he took both her automobile and $300 she had received as a wedding gift.

She then lifted her hat to show what a small amount of hair she had left. Judge Sabath granted her $7 a week temporary alimony, and said he would settle the matter of the automobile and the $3,500 when the case was heard.

BLAST OF MARSH GAS IS FATAL TO WOOLEN OFFICIAL

Frank Wawak Jr., 45 years old, died yesterday in the Alice Home hospital, Lake Forest, of burns incurred last Thursday when an accumulation of marsh gas exploded in the pumphouse of his farm on Townline road, a half mile west of Lake Forest. His brother, Charles, 40 years old, who was also burned, is in a critical condition at the hospital.

The brothers had gone into the pump house to make repairs. According to authorities the marsh gas, generated by decaying vegetation, had seeped into the tank. An electric spark ignited the fumes and the blast followed. Mrs. Elsie Wawak, wife of Frank, helped extinguish the flames and took the injured men to the hospital.

Frank Wawak was secretary of the Wawak Woolen company, 300 West Adams street, of which his father, Frank Sr., of Oak Park, is president. Besides his widow and parents, he is survived by three children, Mildred, 12 years old; Francine, 7, and Frank, 6.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday at the home. A coroner's jury decided that the death was accidental.

SURVEY REVEALS MANY VIOLATIONS OF HARD TIRE BAN

Find Trucks Still Ignore Illinois Statute.

BY HAL FOUST.

Trucks with solid tires are traveling Chicago's worn and rutted streets in violation of an Illinois statute but with little molestation by the city police. The statute, requiring pneumatic tires on all vehicles driven faster than ten miles an hour, was passed by the legislature after engineers had proved that the uncushioned wheels were destroying the public's pavements.

Motorists, who pay gasoline tax and license fees for streets and roads may see these pavement crushers with solid tires operating in almost every section of the city. Here are some noted yesterday: the license numbers, the owners, the places where the trucks were seen and the speeds at which they were moving being listed:

10,327-B—O. Martorana, 11451 South Michigan avenue, produce delivery truck, in State street between 80th and 87th streets; 35 miles an hour. All tires hard. A cloth hanging from the rear of the truck obscured the rear license plate.

6080-C—The Hastings Express company, truck and trailer, in between 71st and 75th streets; 20 miles an hour. Two wheels had pneumatic tires, the other four had hard tires. License underneath the truck not visible.

6973-D—The Enterprise Transfer company, in Western avenue between Montrose and Belmont avenues; 35 miles an hour. All tires hard.

2296-G—The National Fuel company, a large coal truck, in Fullerton avenue between Western and California avenues; 20 miles an hour. All tires hard. Rear license plate too dirty for number to be seen.

Government mail trucks, exempt from city and state taxes for pavements, also travel the streets with hard tires. Most of these solid tired mail carriers will be placed in storage when the new postal offices still remaining in the federal courthouse are moved to the new postoffice, within the next two months.

The tire law was passed by the 1931 general assembly but it did not become effective until Jan. 1, 1933. Truck owners were given this time in which to change their equipment. The deadline for the solid tires was 18 months ago but Chicago police are still closing their eyes to violations.

LINDY TAKES UP "BIGGEST PLANE" FOR A TRIAL HOP

Bridgeport, Conn., July 3.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today took on its first licensed flight the largest American built transport plane. It soon will go into service on South American trade routes. The license was issued by Eugene Vidal, director of the bureau of aeronautics of the department of commerce.

The 19 ton plane of the Pan-American Airways is to be christened Brazilian Clipper at Rio de Janeiro by Señora Getulio Vargas, wife of the president of Brazil, later in the month.

Fully loaded, it weighs 38,000 pounds, is powered with four 720 horsepower motors, and has a cruising range of 1,250 miles. In tests it has developed a speed of 192 miles an hour with a cruising speed of 160 miles an hour.

DEATH IS PROBED

MISS RUTH EAKIN.

New York, July 3.—(AP)—Dr. Milton Halpern, assistant medical examiner, after performing an autopsy on the body of Miss Ruth Morgan Eakin, member of the California board of education, said tonight death may have been caused by an overdose of a sleeping potion.

Miss Eakin, teacher of sociology for a number of years in California high schools, was taken from the liner President Adams when it docked yesterday. She died a few hours later in New York hospital.

She had been on a trip around the world with Miss Louise Nardin, former dean of women at the University of Wisconsin.

A slight fracture of the skull also was disclosed, but Dr. Halpern said it was not sufficient to cause death.

DELAY INQUEST IN FATAL 3-WAY AUTO ACCIDENT

An inquest into the death of Joseph Dillon, 55 years old, 1610 South State street, a city watchman, who was fatally injured yesterday when the car in which he was riding grazed one car, struck another and then overturned and smashed into a light post, was continued yesterday afternoon until July 20 to await the recovery of two others injured in the crash. The accident occurred in front of 7308 Yates avenue.

The others hurt were Joseph Bauer, 53, of 2647 Cottage Grove avenue, driver of the car in which Dillon was riding, and William Hurley, 35, of 31 West Garfield boulevard, also in Bauer's car. According to William J. Shanahan, 2842 East 91st street, driver of one of the other cars, a rear tire on Bauer's car blew out, causing the accident. The third car did not stop.

The automobile death toll in Cook county since the first of the year is now 602.

Mrs. Martha Gollnick, 55 years old, 3424 Parker avenue, died last night in Belmont hospital from injuries she received on June 22 when struck by an automobile in front of 3455 Diversey avenue. She was standing on the sidewalk when there was a collision between two machines driven by Stephen Tkachuk, 513 North Lawndale avenue, and Alex Abrams, 5220 Bernard street. One of the cars was hurled over the curb and struck Mrs. Gollnick.

Three Negroes were killed and two other persons, one of whom was colored, were critically injured yesterday when an automobile and a truck collided on Illinois route 35 south of Kankakee. The dead are Roy Bolton, 31; Blanche Hargrove, 35, and Maude McCullough, 42, all of 20 West 17th street, Gary. They were on their way to a funeral at Memphis, Tenn., with Mrs. Mary Bolton, wife of the dead man, who was seriously bruised. The truck driver, Glenn Penrod, of Dongola, Ill., was on his way to Chicago with a load of produce.

Nathan Gross, 46 years old, 5627 North St. Louis avenue, owner of a dress shop in Evanston, was injured severely last night when his car was struck by a train of the Chicago, North Shore, and Milwaukee electric suburban line. The machine stalled on the tracks on Richmond road near Kenilworth avenue, Kenilworth. He suffered probable internal injuries.

Reveal Canadian Bandit Suspect Is U. S. Fugitive

WINNIPEG, July 3.—(AP)—Confronted with fingerprints, John Erchesson, 22, has admitted, it was learned today, that he is Judy Gordon, fugitive from a Flordia chain gang. He was serving a sentence for murder and escaped last January.

Erchesson is charged with the hold-up of a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada here 10 days ago.

ALBERTA CHIEFS DEBATE OFFER OF PREMIER TO QUIT

EDMONTON, Alta., July 3.—(AP)—The proffered resignation of Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta was discussed today at a long conference of members of his United Farmers' party.

Brownlee, who submitted his resignation after the jury awarded Miss Vivian MacMillan, former government stenographer, $10,000 in her seduction suit against him, discussed the matter with his legislative supporters, but no announcement was made.

Neither the party nor the lieutenant governor of the province, to whom the resignation was addressed, has the authority under Canadian law to reject the resignation and force Brownlee to retain office.

The resignation would involve resignations of other members of the cabinet, but it was understood that instead of an election a United Farmers' government would be organized.

Cheering for Gas Heat

They tried it—they KNOW the real pleasure and comfort it brings to their homes

THOSE 20,000 families in the Chicago area who have tried gas heat as a result of our generous offer actually know from experience the comfort, the convenience, the cleanliness that this modern improvement can bring to their homes. They like gas heat so well that nothing could make them give it up.

Look at their faces. Just the kind of folks who know how to enjoy home life when it is rid of the drudgery, the eternal watching and fixing of ordinary furnaces. For gas heat does so much in any home. Heat automatically controlled just right even though you never give it a thought day or night. No shoveling coal, hauling ashes, getting up at daybreak to fix the fire. And untold cleanliness that comes from the elimination of dirty, grimy fuel from the house.

Try it in your home

And cost. These people can afford it—because its little extra cost is outweighed by the many advantages it brings. And they are not millionaires either. Cost of gas heat is much lower—in fact so low that every home can afford to use it.

But don't take anyone's opinion. Try it yourself. Here's our plan. We'll install a gas burner in your furnace entirely at our expense. You try gas heat one month, two months, a year. If within that time you decide you don't like it, we'll take it out and replace your former equipment in good workmanlike order. While you are trying it you pay only $3 a month rental on the equipment in the average home.

But if your experience is like that of 20,000 other families, you'll want to keep gas heat. If so, the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment. And, you pay rental only during the heating months.

That's why you should install gas heat now. Before the rush begins. Also you'll be rid of dirty fuel in your basement. You'll have a cool summer room, as clean as any room in the house.

Get the facts now

Now, before it's too late, get the facts. Call your local gas company for free estimate of the cost of heating your home and full details of our startling offer. Decide now to banish furnace drudgery from your home forever. Call today.

Gas Service Chosen for Its Convenience

So convenient and cheap is gas service that it has come to be considered a necessity in every Chicago home. Few Chicagoans, in fact, can remember when they didn't have gas to make living more comfortable.

This acceptance of a convenience as a necessity may obscure the fact that the use of gas service is a matter entirely up to the individual customer. Gas service is chosen voluntarily, not thrust upon anyone. It is chosen because it is the ideal way to cook, to heat water, to run a refrigerator, or to keep the house warm.

The extent to which gas service is used is also a matter of choice with the individual customer. In spite of the fact that the company is obligated to serve every customer with all the gas he wants, any time, there is no corresponding obligation on the customer's part to use any stated amount.

Whether or not to use gas service is entirely a matter for a customer to decide. Close to 800,000 individual customers, representing nearly every Chicago home, use gas for its convenience and economy.

This Summer Invite The World To Chicago

YOU INVEST NOTHING To Try Gas Heat

Gas heat can be installed without your investing one cent for equipment. To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas, we'll install it at our expense—remove it at our expense, if you don't like it. Accept this startling offer. Phone your nearest gas office TODAY.

WHAT WE CELEBRATE.

The radio speech of Henry P. Fletcher, new chairman of the Republican national committee, to the country closed with the suggestion that the people resume the old habit of reading the Declaration of Independence. They could well follow that with the reading of the constitution, particularly the bill of rights, and then inquire of themselves what parts they wish to abrogate or surrender. With what do they disagree now?

What guarantees, protections, and stipulations do they prefer now to suspend temporarily or abandon permanently? A check, item by item, through the safeguards should reveal to the inquirer the point where he is willing to depart from the groundwork of government which has been sufficient until the last year and a half.

Mr. Fletcher used the moderate tone, appealing from the meretricious benefits of the present to the near consequences of the future. Many Americans have sold their share in free government for a specific sum paid in hand. Before these sums are all paid out the country will have the biggest debt in its history. Seven billions is the amount conceded by the New Dealers for this year. An early estimate of the aggregate debt was thirty-five billions. It is planned to exceed that. The limit is to be, roughly, exhaustion.

This slush fund has eased a great many consciences, quieted many fears, closed many eyes, and given people a great cupidity which they mistake, when they are conveniently self-deceived, for patriotism and loyalty. It may be easy to be loyal to an idea with cash in pocket derived from that idea.

The New Dealers protest much, both as to what they have done and as to what they intend to do, but judgment will be pronounced on their acts and the consequences and not upon what they say of them. They have taken away the security of private property and have made it impossible for any citizen to provide with any confidence or assurance for his future. They have impaired the protection of life insurance by impairing the contracts representing the investment of company funds. [Frazier-Lemke mortgage bill]. They have made the value of money uncertain by an arbitrary edict that the man who was guaranteed one hundred dollars by the pledge of his government shall be obliged to take as little as fifty dollars for the hundred dollar token he holds.

They have used the illegal weapon, the boycott, to compel citizens to surrender constitutional and legal rights. [The Ford case is example.] They have forced citizens to close their industries even when, as in the Harriman Mills case, the attorney general says no prosecutions could be undertaken under any law, even of the New Deal. They have prosecuted citizens for selling services and commodities within a state, not in interstate commerce, at prices satisfactory to buyer and seller.

They have punished citizens for expression of opinion and they have sought to bring an almost religious opprobrium upon men honestly opposing the unconstitutional acts which they undertake. They have affected the courts and have incited judges, seeking popularity, to unjudicial utterance and decision. They have seized mediums of communication and threaten to establish censorship of transmission of news and views.

They have put inquisitors and controlers in all the great markets and have so affected securities and commodities that private credit is inactive and their government alone can obtain money for enterprise. They have thrown private initiative on its back by invalidating contracts, demoralizing currency, and robbing creditors. They have bribed a great body of citizenship by subsidies politically administered. They have induced citizens to sell their right to cultivate land. They have destroyed food and necessary farm commodities. They have fixed prices beyond the ability of people to buy. They have used public funds to enter into business competition with citizens whose taxes furnish the funds with which their own livings are to be destroyed.

They have made it impossible for the natural forces of recuperation which have brought the country through every other period of hard times to operate in this one. No man feels at liberty to work out his own salvation within the laws to which he was accustomed because these laws have been superseded by the edicts of a dictatorship none the less autocratic for having the blanket warants of a congress surrendering its duties and constitutional responsibilities.

They are meeting the problem of debts by repudiation and cancelation. They impose a future in which no one can feel safe. Their doctrine is one of compelled obedience.

They have taken the constitution out of the law of the land. They have made the Declaration of Independence a lost ideal of the past. The plain facts support the plain statement.

AUSTRIA'S REVENGE FOR SADOWA.

Ironical persons in Europe are probably observing that it now clears up as to the winner of the war, a matter of some doubt for years during which it seemed transparent that everybody lost it, including, not least, the United States with some twenty billion of unpaid bills due on account. Austria won the war, and the evidence of it is the position of the Austrian Fuehrer, Herr Hitler, in Berlin. It is no reproach to the dictator in the third reich that he was once an Austrian house painter. The reproaches may hang upon his career as the extinguisher of German liberties, as the conqueror of rights preserved even under the monarchy.

In her best days Austria, with all the power of Europe's great princely family, never could get the strangle hold on Germany now enjoyed by a single and once humble Austrian subject. He dictates where even Bismarck could not, and when his own army of Brown Shirts is found in revolt he can dismiss them and still hold right, left, and center in control.

President von Hindenburg submits, but he is dying. The conservatives and the junkers submit. Liberty has yielded to coercion and the old German eagle to a Chinese laundry check sign. A cynical European diplomat called Hitler "Austria's revenge for Sadowa."

THE HIGH COST OF STABILITY.

Nothing could more clearly demonstrate the absolute futility of burocratic rate construction than the evidence being offered before the shipping board bureau in its present investigation, generally known as the foreign trade shipping inquiry. One exporter after another takes his place on the witness stand to flatly contradict the statements of a predecessor. When the record is closed, the shipping board bureau, if it runs true to form, will find that a preponderance of the firms engaged in ocean shipping prefer the conference contract method as against individual negotiation for rates, or vice versa, and the opposition will have such method crowded down its throat willy-nilly. The next move will be to patronize "fighting" ships, operated from foreign ports, and other devices to avoid cut and dried standards. And so on ad infinitum.

An analysis of the testimony, however, cannot fail to show that the two camps are interested in distinct types of trafic. The exporter preferring speedy, common carrier, standard conference liners is usually selling high grade manufactured goods, possibly protected by patents, in the marketing of which the volume of the freight rate is not the paramount consideration. The fighting ships that are willing to make rates to open and expand markets or enable their patrons to meet competition from European sources offering the same or analogous commodities derive their principal support from the shippers of lower grade commodities on which the freight rate is the czar of the movement. It has been testified in many instances that the appearance of a fighting line has enabled the shippers of fertilizer ingredients, pipe, and other commodities to open a market previously inaccessible through the standard rates of the conference lines.

After all, the export situation does not differ greatly from its domestic counterpart. Heavy moving, bulky materials on which there is a narrow margin of profit must be coaxed to move greater distances by sympathetic rate construction. Regulation attempts to standardize with an array of ingenious but entirely theoretical percentage schemes, and commerce, in what really forms the backbone of the transportation companies' profits, stagnates.

HIGHWAY MARKING IN THE CHICAGO AREA.

THE TRIBUNE reported the other day the tribulations of the motorist trying to find his way past the construction activities along Foster and Bryn Mawr avenues. The trouble is lack of properly marked detours. That does not seem to be an inconvenience to which motorists ought to be subjected. They have troubles enough in our streets not so easy to cure. But there seems to be a mysterious distaste for signs among the officials responsible for trafic regulations in the metropolitan area. Chicago and its environs are the most inadequately marked region in the civilized world, we believe, and we wonder how strangers entering it ever get to their destinations. All Illinois is almost as bad. One would reasonably conclude from the absence of directive signs at important junctions that a street sign is something rare and costly like a diamond. We suggest here is a plain job for the appropriate officials which can be done and ought to be done without any more shirking. The highways in other communities are competently marked. Wisconsin's are a model. Why cannot ours be?

Editorial of the Day

MICHIGAN'S CENTENNIAL.

[Grand Rapids [Mich.] Press.]

On Jan. 26, 1937, Michigan will have completed the one hundredth year of its statehood. For it was on Jan. 26, 1837, that this state was admitted to the Union. A centennial celebration throughout the state, it seems, would be in order.

But an adequate centennial celebration suitable to the occasion cannot be planned at the last moment. Much time and consideration should be given to it if anything at all is to be done. Michigan could well set aside the entire year of 1937 as a centennial season.

Possibilities for such a celebration and observance are virtually unlimited. Special events throughout the year could be planned and executed in a manner that would draw thousands upon thousands to the state. The Michigan resort area as well as its great industrial centers are admirably fitted to carry out a diversified and versatile program. Opportunities for trade stimulation are innumerable. Centennial models of motorcars, centennial suites of furniture, a Michigan "century of progress," pioneer gatherings, homecomings—all these suggest entertainment, profit, and benefit to the state.

If anything is to be accomplished there is none too much time to prepare. Appointment of a commission and plans for official representation should be a subject for the consideration of the 1935 legislature. There might not be another session after that until the centennial year arrived. Cooperating committees in every town might be named and various other preliminary arrangements completed.

There need be no intention of copying the Chicago World's Fair. The observance could not possibly hope to set up such an exposition. But there can be a distinguished and wholly fitting program devised which will herald to the world the one hundredth birthday anniversary of the state of Michigan. It's time to get busy now.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

THE NEW ARRIVALS.

George Washington, Israel Putnam, Benjamin Franklin, John Hancock, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Tom Paine, and many others had gathered down near Charon's boathouse on the other side of the Styx to celebrate the Fourth of July.

"It's the only place we can shoot off fireworks," explained John Hancock, who was chairman of the celebration committee. "You know there was a lot of complaint in other years by George III., Gen. Howe, Lord Cornwallis and the rest of that crowd who don't especially care to remember what happened July 4, 1776, and so we've had to move down here."

"Anyhow," observed Gen. Putnam, "I had the presence of mind before we left the clubhouse to slip a cannon firecracker under King George's chair and light the fuse. It ought to be going off any time now and I'll bet he'll jump out the window."

There was the sound of an explosion back in the clubhouse and sure enough King George III. came sailing through the window yelling, "Fire! Fire! Fire!" at the top of his voice.

"Tut, tut," observed Benjamin Franklin gently, "thee shouldst not have done that, Israel. However, 'tis done and we must proceed with our celebration."

"Fellow Americans!" continued Mr. Hancock, "while we have departed the mortal life there are two great things we did while we were in the flesh that still survive and will still live and bless our country for thousands and thousands of years. I refer with pleasure and pride to the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States of America." (Loud cheers.)

"I don't see why we went to the expense of buying fireworks," grumbled Tom Paine; "that fellow's voice is louder than a dozen cannons and two tons of firecrackers."

"Yes, indeed, my fellow Americans," resumed Mr. Hancock, "we who stand here have been translated from the world of mortals, but those two magnificent creations of ours, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, are still on the earth, still doing their magnificent work, still the noblest things created by man—still——"

"May we come in?" asked two strange shades who had just joined the festivities.

"Why, who are you?" demanded Mr. Hancock, somewhat irritably, looking up from his speech.

"Oh, papa, don't you know your own little children?" shouted the two new arrivals in chorus. "We are the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution."

"But!" shouted Mr. Hancock while the entire audience gasped in amazement, "I thought—we all thought—that you were still down on earth, that you were immortal! It isn't possible that you are no longer down in the U. S. A.?"

"Oh, isn't it!" said the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution together. "Well, you'd be surprised!"

(THE END.)

FERRY ADAMS.

NO NEWS comes from Germany saying how many conspirators have been given the happy dispatch by Herr Hitler, but a significant item leaks out of Berlin that the number of enumerators who had been assigned to take the census in Germany have been reduced one-half.

AND MAY WE NOT ASK the thousands and thousands who are traveling in their gas buggies far out to the cool countrysides and the shady woods to do one little thing, please? When you find yourselves in a long line of autos—stay in line. When you jump out you are so often hit by a demon driver bowling along in the other lane. And your car is picked up and hurled ruthlessly back on us patient, meek, safe drivers who have kept our places in the line. And it's so embarrassing to find a two or three thousand pound automobile sitting right in one's lap.

ONE OF THE MOST cheerful salutes that could be given on this Day of Independence today would be the magnificent pop of a champagne cork leaping from the bottle. A loud noise but a soothing, happy noise. But with champagne costing what it does we must forgo this tribute to our natal day. So get thee behind me, Patriotism! Yes, get thee behind me. And push.

AND GREAT SCOTT! Nobody has mentioned it! Not a word has been said about it. But the Vice President of these United States is now acting President for a few weeks. And darn it all, who the heck is the Vice President? R. H. L.

HAY FEVER AND FILTERED AIR.

THE widespread prevalence of hay fever due to ragweed pollen is well known, and the annual pilgrimage in search of summer resorts free from this irritating substance is a practical necessity with many sufferers. Certain hay fever victims, however, find it impossible to journey to a northern climate, and various means have been suggested of rendering the air breathed by the hay fever patient free of ragweed pollen. As a makeshift expedient sheets soaked with water have been hung over open windows. The wearing of masks covering the nose and mouth has been suggested and tried but without satisfactory results.

It is impossible to live in a closed, stuffy room, as the average individual requires two and three hundred cubic feet of air per minute for ventilation and comfort. If some simple means may be found of filtering pollen from the air admitted to the room containing a hay fever patient a veritable boon will be conferred upon sufferers from this annoying disease. Difficulties are at once encountered when it is realized that pollen floating in the air is microscopic in size and will pass closed windows that are not absolutely air tight.

In recent years ventilating engineers have been experimenting with air filters, and after many attempts it has been clearly shown that while a wet spray will clean a high percentage of dust particles from the air, pollen will pass this barrier. Bacteriologists have learned that a plug of cotton in the mouth of a test tube will prevent the entrance of bacteria to the culture media contained in the tube.

Using this principle, air forced through wool, wood, or cotton fibers that are sufficiently dense will be freed from a high percentage of noxious pollen. By using an accordion plait design a large surface may be condensed into a relatively small space. After many experiments, a mixture of wood fiber and cotton has been found to be reasonably efficient.

The windows and doors of the room must be tightly weather stripped and the frames calked with some plastic material. Increased efficiency will be secured by the installation of double windows, a tightly fitting casement sash inside the sliding sash. Air from the outside may be either forced or drawn by suction through the filter. The lower the speed the greater the efficiency of the filter.

Sometimes a home made apparatus works well. In one instance a sufferer from hay fever took an ordinary single sash wire screen, covered it on each side with a half inch layer of cotton, and installed it tightly just inside the lower sash. An ordinary twelve inch fan was boxed in on the outside of the raised window, forcing air through the improvised filter, with the result that the hay fever sufferer was able to obtain a comfortable night's sleep.

In this particular case the patient started his experiment by remaining in the room for forty-eight hours. At the end of this period he noted definite relief from the acute symptoms. Subsequent to this it was necessary that he expose himself to the ordinary atmospheric air because of the nature of his occupation. On his return from business he promptly entered the experimental room and was usually able to secure a comfortable rest. While the arrangement was not perfect the relief was so great that he was able to carry on his ordinary business activities during the height of the pollen season.

HIVES FROM MILK.

A. F. A. writes:

1. For many years I have been bothered with burning blotches, possibly hives or wheals, after eating certain foods. Is there any remedy for this other than avoiding those foods? Is there any medicine I can take to counteract it?

2. I am certain that cream causes these hives, and milk affects me, though not as much as cream. I believe that eggs, chicken, and vinegar also cause these hives. What could I substitute for milk, cream, and eggs? I seem to be sensitized to so many foods that it is almost impossible to eliminate all of them from my diet and maintain my health.

REPLY.

1. Taking calcium lactate helps some cases. In some instances desensitization is possible. In most cases avoiding the foods that cause trouble is the only satisfactory method.

2. Among the substitutes for milk are soy bean milk and cheese. In many parts of the world the people get little or no milk and they thrive. Any lean meat can be used as a substitute for milk and eggs. Vegetable proteins are reasonably good substitutes. Vegetable oils and fat meat can be substituted for cream and egg fat.

HAS FOOT TROUBLE.

Mrs. A. E. writes:

1. My toe is red and swollen, but is not painful unless I touch it. My doctor told me I have rheumatism, but I can't figure out how it can be that. What seems to be the trouble?

2. What can be done for athlete's foot? Is it dangerous if it runs a long course?

REPLY.

1. If your physician says it is rheumatism it must be that. Gout causes a similar inflammation of a toe joint, but, as a rule, the pain is greater than you complain of.

2. Athlete's foot can be kept well in hand by frequent cleaning and using one of the many remedies for it sold in drug stores. When there is oozing, cleaning should be done with creams; when there is no oozing, with soap and water. Athlete's foot is never dangerous to life.

EXPANDING WAISTLINE.

Mrs. J. E. H. writes: Why is it that when most persons get around 35 years old they start to get a large stomach? How may this be avoided? My weight is normal and I exercise daily, but I am beginning to get fat just through the stomach.

REPLY.

Exercising too little and eating too much is the explanation. It can be obviated by avoiding the causes. Bending exercises help.

LIABILITY ON NOTE.

Chicago, June 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A signed a note with B, his wife, as first co-signer. C, D, and E also signed the note as co-signers. A died about two weeks after signing the note. B averred her signature was a forgery and would not pay the note. Later, however, she made a payment of $100 on the note. The holder accepted this money and has advised C, D, and E that he had given credit on note for this amount and expected C, D, and E to pay the balance with interest. 1. Is B liable for the full amount under the conditions stated? The note was made out to cover a previous note on money borrowed by A, as he could not meet payments. 2. Can B be forced to pay the full amount of the note? F. L. W.

1. We would not consider the fact that her having made the payment as a conclusive answer to the defense of forgery, but it would be one circumstance to be considered with other circumstances. Even if B is liable, the creditor is entitled to collect from any of the other co-signers, leaving them to enforce contribution.

TO COLLECT INHERITANCE.

Chicago, June 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am aware that I was left a bequest in a will entered for probate in February, 1933. Up to the present time I have received no notice from the court or the lawyer in charge. 1. Who is responsible in a case of this kind, the court or the lawyer? 2. If the lawyer, is he subject to penalty for neglecting to notify me? A. S.

1. The personal representative of the estate should see that proper distribution is made.

2. There would be no penalty for the delay stated. If you wish to bring pressure to bear you can ask the clerk of the Probate court to take steps to compel closing.

AUTOMOBILE PURCHASE.

Chicago, June 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I bought a car last October for $100 and gave in down payment a 1926 coach valued at [1] $25, and [2] $20 in cash, the balance in notes. 3. In all, I paid about $132 and I have spent about $25 in repairs. Last week two men came to my home and [4] said they had a claim on it for unpaid notes from the former owner. They did not show any papers or anything giving them authority to take the car, so I went with them to the salesroom where I purchased the car. The owner told me they had no right to take it, and if they were in the right they could get a writ of replevin from the courts. As I use the auto often I am afraid to let it out of my sight, as it is liable to be taken by these men. 5. Please advise me what to do.

T. O.

1 and 2. We assume that $45 is all that you have paid.

3. We assume that you mean that $132 is the purchase price specified in the papers. We incline to the opinion that the $32 is a cover for usurious interest and that a successful defense could be made as to this part of the price.

4. You can check up their claim by examining the chattel mortgage records in the recorder's office.

5. Their rights depend upon the wording of their papers and on the facts as to recording. Apparently it is their next move.

ANNUITIES.

An annuity is not as a rule adapted, nor does it appeal, to those who have children, especially if they are in need of support or if it is desired to leave them an inheritance, because the only benefit to be derived from an annuity is the income return during life. The class of people to whom an annuity may appeal are unmarried men and women who will leave no dependents and who desire to make adequate provision for their own comfort during life, widows and widowers without children, or parents whose children are comfortably provided for. For persons in these classes an annuity furnishes a definite life income which is free from the care and danger of loss attaching to the ordinary methods of investing money. The purpose of an annuity is to guarantee that one's income will be fixed and continuous for life. The insured is relieved from all anxiety incident to the investment of the funds, and usually receives a higher return on the money paid to the insurance company, except at the younger ages, than could possibly be obtained from any other safe investment.

A MEMORIAL TO JEFFERSON.

Morrison, Ill., June 29.—Excerpt from a news item in THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE for June 28, 1934, page 5, column 4: "Among the measures signed by Mr. Roosevelt was. . . . An act to authorize the creation of a commission to build a memorial in Washington in honor of Thomas Jefferson."

That is quite an anomaly. My understanding is that Thomas Jefferson was almost ferociously opposed to the doctrine of implied powers which Mr. Roosevelt is using so effectively for his own ends. Jefferson was an individualist; knowing that government had to be, in a complex civilization, he wanted that government to interfere as little as possible in the daily life of the people. He believed in the essential wisdom of the masses and in their power to work out their own problems. A strict interpretation of the constitution was his ideal, to use only those powers which were specifically delegated to the government by the constitution and to leave all the other powers to the states, and through the states to the people. He was enthusiastic about the confederation which preceded the present constitution until he saw that such a loosely bound piece of work was bound to fall apart by reason of the play between the component parts.

And now our President, with more delegated power than any peace time President has ever had, has signed a bill creating still another commission to erect a monument honoring Jefferson. Mr. Roosevelt may honor the person of Jefferson, but I believe that he is farther away from honoring the ideas of Jefferson than any President we have had since. WALTER HUXLEY.

A PROPHET OF LIBERTY.

Chicago, July 1.—I wish to compliment THE TRIBUNE upon the editorial, "We Hold These Truths to be Self-Evident."

Without in any manner attempting to detract from the credit due the men who made these truths effective and a part of our daily life, I would like to call your attention to an earlier political writer to show the fate that was meted out to such heretical doctrines.

George Buchanan of Scotland wrote "De Jure Regni Apud Scotus" in 1579. He lays down the doctrine that the source of political power is the people, that the king is bound by those conditions under which the supreme power was first committed to his hands, and that it is lawful to resist, even punish tyrants.

This work was condemned by act of parliament in 1584 and again in 1664. In 1683 it was burned by the University of Oxford.

It was written in Latin and undoubtedly read by Rousseau, Jefferson, and others. It was known to the Presbyterian ministers who made the Mecklenburg declaration in North Carolina.

There is now a translation by Wallace available.

I am calling this to your attention because writers on liberty gain but little applause in this world and have little to show for their efforts but an assortment of brickbats hurled by those who wish to acquire special privileges.

One who believes in liberty is now called a Tory by those who have never understood the word. PAUL M. LA BACH.

ECONOMIC PLANNING.

Washington, D. C., June 30.—I am very appreciative of THE TRIBUNE'S willingness to print in full Mr. L. A. Hawkins' statement about the mechanization of industry and your comment upon it.

Mr. Hawkins or the writer does not deprecate invention or consider machines a menace, as you suggest in your editorial that we do. Mr. Hawkins says, "We are not going back to hewing our own wood; we must learn to use our slaves—the machines."

Machinery has done much, as you point out, to increase the standard of living, but living standards are of little consequence in the face of mass unemployment to which the machine contributes so enormously. Since neither the advocates of economic planning nor its opponents wish to destroy the machine, what plan have you to offer to take care of the surplus which the machine produces? This is the crux of the problem, and in no single instance that I am aware of have the critics of economic planning offered a substitute for that of lessening production by governmental control in order to balance demand and supply.

It is true that economic planning is shot through and through with intricate and difficult problems. This would be true if there were no legal questions to complicate the problem. But the alternative to economic planning has been tried and found wanting. Social evils of the most dangerous and extreme type have sprung up under laissez faire. Overproduction with no consuming power is the primary cause of these evils.

You are in error when you suggest that I am in favor of a reversion to medieval economic organization as a hopeful experiment in government and in economics. Indeed, I believe that medieval history has comparatively little to teach us concerning modern economic problems. The medievalists were not bothered by modern transportation, electric power, and automatic machinery. It is these inventions which require most modern and realistic thinking, and which the policy of THE TRIBUNE is to strictly ignore.

You point to the development of THE TRIBUNE as a refutation of the medievalists, so-called. You have a very wonderful publishing plant, but in the development of it and in its construction you have followed economic planning to the last degree. Why not admit that the policies which you have used in the development of your paper might well be used in the world of industry in general?

Your economic thinking is decades behind the machine age in which we live. Mr. Owen D. Young in his great address to the students of the University of Nebraska stated that social and economic experimentation was long past due. Economic planning is a part of this experimentation through which the country is passing. WILLIAM E. SWEET,
The National Recovery Administration.

THE PLACE FOR NUDES.

Chicago, June 29.—The south park commissioners will allow no nudes in the open air art show, claiming that "nudes should be confined to the art museums." This, in my opinion, is the ultimate in the ridiculous, and I may add that nudes are apparently not the only things that should be confined to museums! V. W.

Country Clubs Plan Fun for Children Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE best way to insure a safe and sane Fourth is to provide so much entertainment for the youngsters that they won't have time to wish for cannon crackers and all the other explosives that drive mothers to distraction if their young sons and daughters have them. This is the wise opinion of modern parents and consequently today belongs to the young generation in almost every household.

The country clubs come to the aid of mothers and fathers by providing amusement for the youngsters, too, and almost every club has included in its Independence day program something to amuse the children. Out at the Onwentsia in Lake Forest there will be "big doings" all day and up until bedtime for the youngsters, starting with a parade of pets at 10:30 o'clock and ending with fireworks after dark.

The pets that will be in the parade will include the fifty that have been entered in a pet show that will be held from 10 until 7 o'clock in the riding arena in connection with the Lake Forest Kennel club dog show. Thomas C. Dennehy Jr. is in charge of the dog show and Dickie Stevenson, the Richardson D. Stevensons' son, is his major domo who has taken entries for the pet show. Goats, cats, turtles, rabbits, gold fish, chickens, canaries, white mice, angle worms, almost anything in fact, have been entered in the show, and those that can pull carts will do so in the parade.

All the carts are homemade and we hear that some wonderful equipages have been constructed by the pets' owners. John T. Pirie, that genial gentleman who is so willing to help the younger generation as well as his own in whatever it undertakes, is to have the really difficult task of judging all the pets.

Dog Show Will Be Large One.

The dog show is to be a large and very good one, Mr. Dennehy says, with 495 entries. A feature of the day will be an exhibition of retrieving by the Thomas E. Howells' Labradors. Jimmy Heyworth and Gordon Kelley will show their Labradors and the Prentice Porters have entered their graceful Irish wolfhounds. Hulburd Johnston hopes to add some ribbons to his collection by showing his dachshunds, and the intelligent Dobermann Pinschers from the Reynolds Lake Villa kennels will give an exhibition of police work that is certain to be interesting.

Tonight there will be a buffet dinner at the Onwentsia to which children as well as grownups are invited, and between the time that dinner is over and before it is dark enough for the fireworks there will be entertainment for the youngsters.

The Shoreacres club, the Onwentsia's much smaller neighbor to the northeast, hasn't anything special planned for today, but its lovely golf course and its charming dining room will be in use, of course.

An old fashioned band concert is the highlight of the entertainment planned for the members of the Knollwood club and their guests. The band will play from 5 to 8:30, part of the time in the band shell near the dining terrace and the rest of the time at the pool.

Special Programs at Other Clubs.

The Exmoor and the Glenview clubs will be havens for children all day, too. There will be six clowns wandering around the Exmoor to provide plenty of laughter, and music in the evening will be followed by dinner, with fireworks at 9 o'clock. The Glenview club is beginning the day with a swimming and diving exhibition at 10:30 o'clock in the club's new pool, followed by children's swimming contests.

There will be a special luncheon for the youngsters and in the afternoon they will be amused by a dog circus and a magician. There will be a 12 piece brass band furnishing music all day, and a dinner-dance will end the celebration.

No women will be allowed on either the Exmoor or the Glenview course. Exmoor is having its usual Flag tournament and play for the "Al" Anderson Memorial trophy. The dinner will be served [buffet style] indoors, followed by dancing outside, with the fireworks during the intermission. At Glenview the play will be for the president's trophy in the morning and in the afternoon there will be several contests. Among those who have made reservations for the dinner-dance at Glenview are Carleton Blunt, Fred Yegge, Cecil F. Elmes, Frank R. Elliott, Henry Pope Jr., Dr. Vernon C. David, Willard W. Jacques and John E. Warner.

Indian Hill Course Open to Women.

Women will be allowed to play golf late in the afternoon at the Indian Hill club, which is going in for golf exclusively today. The thirty-six hole handicap men's tournament for the Thomas McInnerny trophy will be played off. There will be a buffet luncheon served, followed by ladies' bridge on the cool porches. A buffet supper is planned for tonight and tomorrow night also, and on Saturday there will be another ladies' bridge, preceded by a buffet luncheon and followed by a dinner-dance.

The Chicago Golf club at Wheaton, south and west from all of these north shore clubs, was a very gay place last night, for they had the biggest dinner dance of the summer there. About 150 members and guests were present, and the outdoor dancing terrace and the swimming pool looked very gay with lanterns strung around. Today the members will play for the president's trophy, presented by Gorton Faunfleroy, president of the club, and tonight there will be dinner followed by fire-

Casting Director Says No to Stage Star.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 3.—[Special.]—Fred Astaire thought it would be fun to see how the other half of Hollywood [the extras] get along. He put on a mustache, disguised himself otherwise, and joined a group of extras. They were applying to Dave Gould, casting director, for $10 a day work in dancing sequences of "The Gay Divorce" at Radio studio.

Astaire is the star in this photoplay. He didn't get to first base, because Gould dismissed him with one glance without even permitting Astaire to show his dancing ability.

Fay Wray has a younger actress sister, Willow Wray. She is playing the rôle of the Indian chief's daughter in a local pageant play. . . . Not all the actors in M-G-M's "David Copperfield" will be British because Lionel Barrymore has just cast as Dan Peggotty. . . . Greta Garbo is in front of the camera the first time in seven months, her "Painted Veil" starting under Richard Boleslavsky's direction today. . . . Myrna Loy went to San Francisco for a two weeks' pleasure trip. She fell ill and has been sick a week.

Josephine Hutchinson was kissed twelve times as her first day's work in the movies. All twelve kisses were implanted by Dick Powell at Warner's for rehersal, long shots, closeups, repeats, and stills in "Gentlemen Are Born." The New York stage actress was playing a girl whom Powell mistakes for some one else in a semi-dark hallway in a New York chop suey parlor on New Year's eve.

Virginia Pine's windup as a contract actress at Warner studio came because "she couldn't stand those 7 o'clock in the morning calls to work," the studio reports. . . . George Brent has taken his first airplane solo flight. . . . Shirley Temple's mother has taught the five year old actress to play casino, saying "it teaches her concentration and her numbers."

John Boles is practicing horseshoe pitching so that he can make good on his vacation trip to his boyhood home, Greenville, Tex. Word got around Greenville that John thought he was pretty good at the sport, so the home town people scheduled a horseshoe tournament. . . . B. P. Schulberg, movie producer, is back from a hasty airplane trip to New York, where his film protégé, Sylvia Sidney, again is undergoing surgical treatment for her throat. . . . Donna Damerel, who is Marge of the Myrt and Marge combination, saw considerable of Hollywood in Glen Boles' company recently.

Felix Weissberger, assistant director for Max Reinhardt, arrived from Vienna yesterday to make preparations for Reinhardt's staging of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" as a spectacle in Hollywood Bowl this summer. The cast will be recruited almost entirely from movie ranks. Plans include moving the orchestra shell and developing a forest setting. Reinhardt is in Venice presenting "The Merchant of Venice."

THE news stories about Dillinger and about the measures taken by the clubwomen of Louisiana in pledging their jewels —Isabella-like— to eliminate Huey Long from public life bring to mind an incident that occurred at the recent council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Hot Springs, Ark. A reception was tendered the General Federation officers and delegates by the Arkansas federation, and the guests greeting the celebrities named their native states. As Mrs. Nettie A. Downey, editor of the Indiana Club Woman, stated that she lived in Indiana she felt she had created an atmosphere of literature, best sellers, art, and statesmen. She was disillusioned when Mrs. Edward Pilsbury of New Orleans, president of the Louisiana federation, said:

"O, Indiana! Dillinger's state! Well, we've got Huey Long, but we'd rather have Dillinger."

LAND of the free note. "Hohum," said the iceman Saturday morning as he heaved a hundred pound piece of ice over his shoulder at a suburban home, "it looks as if it were going to rain this afternoon and spoil my golf game."

NOT even knowing what we're going to talk about over the radio this very evening, it is with a shock of admiring surprise we learn that plans for a Christmas Merry-Go-Round already are being made for the Chicago Lying-In Hospital benefit the first week in December. The enterprising Mrs. Charles King Corsant already has discovered things about dolls that will be on sale for holiday buying. It seems that dolls are now all modern children and no longer cry. The old "mamma" doll is out-moded. There is one that drinks milk, however, and has wrinkles in her forehead like a tiny baby, but there's not a cry in the lot. (Perhaps the cry contraption is German made, and it's really a racial matter, who knows?) A doll hospital is to be a feature of the show, too, so all the little girls whose favorite dolls have met with accidents had better look after them carefully until December and bring them down to the doll clinic.

Sally to Read Her Letters on Fair Tomorrow

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If you're burned you can't very well enjoy your Cubs-Pirates game on Friday, nor will you be able to write your letter for an invitation to our World's Fair party next week.

Today's the last day you can possibly get your letter to me by mail, you know. Tomorrow I'll read all your letters and select the writers of the best 100 of them as my guests for our second party of the year, which is to be held at A Century of Progress on Wednesday, July 11.

I think it's the best possible way for any child to see the Fair, because I've planned this trip especially for you youngsters, and I know you're going to enjoy it all—the rides we'll have on the big blue Greyhound buses —all along the main road and then over to the island—the funny brown bears in the Swiss Village—the interesting buildings in the Colonial Village—sliding down the toboggan and seeing the icy Black Forest Village—the tiny people and their miniature homes and shops in Midget City.

We've room for 50 boys and 50 girls, and they'll be the youngsters who write the best letters telling me why they'd like to be my guests. These letters must include your name, address, and age, and must be on my desk by tomorrow morning! Address Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

While this pattern dates back to early American days as "Ladies' Delight," it probably is better known as "Stars within Stars." The early examples of this design are pieced in turkey red, blue, and white calico, and unbleached muslin. Quilters of this generation undoubtedly will find the newer and daintier fabrics and color combinations more suited to their decorative schemes.

Good Morning!

Gwine give you a lot for your money this A. M.!

As today's the Fourth, and you may be shopping for a movie to see during leisure hours, I'll tell you briefly and in one fell swoop, as it were, about the three remaining openings in town not reviewed till now.

"Sorrell and Son" is a fine, clean picture. One to set pulsing anew belief in the good old virtues of loyalty, steadfastness of purpose, and self-sacrifice.

This talking version of the Warwick Deeping book comes to us from the English studios, with H. B. Warner portraying Sorrell as he did in the silent adaptation.

He plays sincerely, effectively, the rôle of the broken down officer who, returning from war, is deserted by his wife and left with a small son to rear.

Peter Penrose, as the boy, is a competent young actor who wins your sympathy. So does Hugh Williams as Kit, grown up. Mr. Williams is in Hollywood now. You saw him in "All Men Are Enemies."

All other depicters of this story of father love do excellent work. Scenery and sets charm. Direction was adequate. Dialog, delivered with clipped, English accent, satisfies.

"SHOOT THE WORKS."
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Wesley Ruggles.
Presented at the Chicago theater.

Nicky	Jack Oakie
Joe Davis	Ben Bernie
Lily Raquel	Dorothy Dell
Jackie	Arline Judge
The Countess	Alison Skipworth
Sailor Burke	Roscoe Karns
Larry Hale	William Frawley
Bill Ritchie	Paul Cavanagh
Axel Banratiz	Lew Cody
Man from Board of Health	Monte Vandergrift
Head waiter	Tony Merlo

A comedy—"Shoot the Works." It marks the last performances of two fine players—Dorothy Dell and Lew Cody, who died recently—and also features the screen debut of Ben Bernie, "the Old Maestro."

Though the scenario was no brilliant piece of writing, the film is worth while by reason of adept performances throughout.

"The Old Maestro" is in a large share of the episodes, big as life and twice as natural. The Chicago audience loved him—with his cigar and his "Yowsah," and got heap kick from the antics of his versatile and playful band members.

The plot includes incidents reminiscent of the Bernie-Winchell feud, which helps to keep your interest buzzing.

"CIRCUS CLOWN."
Produced by First National.
Directed by Ray Enright.
Presented at McVickers theater.

Happy Howard	Joe E. Brown
Alice	Patricia Ellis
Bebe	Dorothy Burgess
Jack	Donald Dilloway
Frank	Gordon Westcott
Sheldon	Charles Wilson
Ajax	Harry Woods
Dickie	Ronnie Cosby
Moxley	John Sheehan
Kingsley	Spencer Charters
Ringmaster	Earl Hodgins
Happy Howard (as a boy)	Bobby Caldwell

KIND: Farce comedy about circus life. Timely—what?

ACTING: The sort the story needs. Joe E. Brown in the dual rôle of a father who'd once been a circus performer and a son whose life ambition IS to be one, is his usual good humored, grinning, bumbling, yowling self. Other players saw what to do and did it.

DIRECTION: Satisfactory.

SETS, SCENERY, DIALOG, ETC.: All right.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Considerable for adults in holiday mood and much for youngsters. The latter will be delirious with delight over Mr. Brown's haps and mishaps. Kids always HAVE loved this mammoth-ed comedian.

Meshed Net for Coolness

Fashion Expert Talks of Ways to Keep Cool

Dark Sheer Goods Ideal for Street Wear.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Keep cool with clothes that are cool, comfortable and smart! Wear things that take to the tub without a lot of fuss and worry as to how they will emerge.

For street, try the wash cottons, the printed thin linens, and the better grades of chiffon and silk. Frost them with plenty of sheer white accents, top them with spanking white hats, and wear white gloves and the newest of air conditioned white footwear [the entirely perforated models]. Then you are ready for the hottest of heat waves.

There are all kinds of dark sheer materials for street wear, from big meshed cotton nets to extremely effective combinations of chiffon in contrasting shades. These are unquestionably the coolest looking outfits to be found. Watch the brown nets. They are incredibly cool, with loose wide sleeved jackets and wisps of white for collar and cuff accents.

Most of the nets have slim sleeveless frocks that can be worn with another jacket, or without a coat. And the diagonal striped nets are another buy for an easily wilted shopper.

The dresses of these striped outfits seem a bit darker than the jacket because most of them are worn over a dark silk slip. Consequently the jacket becomes a mere veil of the striped net over the top and the general effect is dainty and refreshing.

One of the newest dark brown net street suits has been photographed. It is one from a collection featured in a Chicago shop. The dress is tailored, designed with snappy plaits in the skirt and white buttons to repeat the white collar accent. The skilfully tailored jacket has deep bands for the sleeve cuffs and hangs wide and loose around the hips. Other similar models come in black and navy.

THE WRONG MAN

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Cara Follette, only daughter of a Canadian business man, anticipates becoming her father's partner. While traveling in Europe she meets Jerry Flint, a poor young singer. She stakes him to Toronto, where she can get him auditions impossible for him to gain abroad. Benjamin Follette and his wife, Anny, had grown apart in the years he was busy becoming successful. Now Follette is about to lose his business to his rival, Redman Harmer. Harmer recently returned from Europe, where he saw and fell in love with Cara. He asks Follette for an opportunity of meeting his daughter. When Cara returns home her father tells her of his failure and urges her to meet Harmer. It would mean much to him and he likes Harmer. Cara decides to go up northwest to Mulligan's camp for a month to think it over. Meanwhile no one is to get an inkling of their business troubles. Anny will find friends for Jerry Flint, whom Cara has decided she loves. Cara sells her car for expense money and gives half to Jerry. He follows and joins her on the way. Harmer hears of Cara's plans from her father. He flies to Mulligan's ahead of her and hires the place from Dan Mulligan for a month and the use of his name. He meets Cara and Jerry as Mulligan. He and Jerry are antagonistic. After three days Jerry is fed up with camp life. He tricks Cara into leaving with him. They become lost in the wilds. Jerry's true character is revealed to Cara when she confesses her father's failure. Harmer comes to their rescue. He sends Jerry on his way back to Toronto, though Cara thinks Jerry has returned to the camp.

INSTALMENT XXXIX.

AN UNSOOTHED HEART.

"Tell me how it all happened," Harmer invited, to distract her. Cara recalled faintly that she had been eager to tell him. "Well, I promised Jerry we would have a day together, and he arranged for much more than I meant. We came too far. He wanted to cross to this side of the stream and we tried to swim the horses across. It was very rough. First, a log hit Buck and he slipped his bridle and made off, then Jessie got away from me and followed him. All our clothes and provisions were on them, and——"

He took it up.

"We found them grazing three miles or so from here. They weren't getting much, poor brutes. We caught Jessie easily, but Buck, being without a bridle, and not having any, he soon made himself scarce. It's quite likely he'll get home."

"O, then Jerry is riding Jessie back?"

"Yes." He headed her from the subject of Jerry Flint. "I knew Bill would carry you and me. He's a straping big horse, and, anyway, I shouldn't trust any one with him out of my sight. We'll make an early start, if you're game."

"I'm game to do anything you want to make up for such stupidity. And——" She hesitated. "I believe I've made it sound more like his fault than mine, but I'm the more experienced of the two, and——"

"It was his fault," said the hunter, grimly; "and you are not the more experienced of the two. You may know a bit of woodcraft, but you don't know the other crafts men are up to, Miss Follette."

She blushed all over her tanned skin. He knew! She felt this man knew everything that she could never tell. And she felt his hands lightly on her shoulders and she looked straight up into his eyes.

"That's all I am thinking of. To catch up with Jerry."

The bluest, fiercest eyes in the world, as they had been that day in the car, when she had asked of him, a stranger, a question.

"I know you better than you know him," he said unexpectedly.

"I . . . know him."

"You mean . . . now?"

"Now," she acquiesced.

"Well, that's enough of it, then," he said. "Bacon!"

He put sizzling slices of bacon thickly between biscuits and they ate it like sandwiches, knifeless and forkless.

"Do you remember a question I asked you once?" she said.

"Yes, about marrying."

"You'd give the same answer now?"

"Now, and always."

She helped him clear up the camp, and when all the kit was disposed and she was kerosened against insects from head to foot, and he was mounted, she put a bare foot upon his booted one and he pulled her on to the horse's withers in front of him. Bill stood like a rock, compliant.

"He likes both of us," she murmured.

"Because we like him," said Harmer.

They started well before the sun was hottest, and cleared the prairie and were into the dense shade of woods by midday. "I'm anxious to get back before night," she kept insisting. "There's something I must say to Jerry. I told him something dangerous, when I was angry. I forgot my responsibilities. It is vitally important that I get his promise not to tell any one anything about it."

"So?"

"Vitally important. I have done what I have never done before, betrayed a trust because I was angry. It didn't seem to matter, lost there in the woods."

"No doubt you had difficult decisions to make."

"There is no excuse for me, Mr. Mulligan, difficulties or not."

They stopped for a brief snack and to rest Bill. The dogs lay down thankfully. The hunter swung himself off the horse first, then lifted her down, and somehow, for a long moment she stayed in his arms.

"So you were angry with Flint?" he asked slowly.

"When you were so dismayed this morning because he'd gone, I wondered if it were because you—loved him."

"Why should you want to know that?" she said.

"I do want to."

She considered his possible reasons blankly. "You mustn't send him away from the camp whatever answer I give. He's got to stay till I go."

He only repeated: "You must tell me the real reason why you were so troubled."

"I've told you. It's because I've given him a secret and I must get his promise to keep it."

"Was that all?"

"Yes, it was all," she cried bitterly, "and more than enough."

"You don't care for him?"

Mistrusting still his reaction to further answers, she shook her head, and said in a low voice: "Please don't cross-question me."

She sat down against a tree trunk, woodland nymph. They ate lightly. He wandered about, finding some edible berries. The wild strawberries were not yet ripe, though he told her that here and there they might be found in these parts. She kept thinking more and more of the secret she had told Jerry. The secret of Follette's. She thought of a dozen dangers now, all depending on his realization of news values. Supposing, suddenly, he thought of it, set off for Swan Lake, even before she and the hunter returned this evening, got in touch with the nearest telegraph or wireless station—where would that be? before he reached Edmonton certainly—and wired to the big newspapers?

She was desolated and ashamed of being able to believe such treachery of the ardent young man in whose arms she had been happy.

The hunter offered his cigaret case. He sat down beside her and they smoked in silence.

"We haven't overtaken them," she said.

"So that is what you were thinking of?"

He persisted: "Simply for the reason that you told me?"

This time that she reasserted the fact, she felt a loneliness and a bleakness, the loneliness and bleakness of a young girl when first bereft of the warmth and light and beauty of what she had thought to be a great love. Even the thought of Follette's did not soothe her heart, since the way in which she must save it would rob her even of itself, her lodestar. With a great sigh she looked up at the hunter.

"I don't know why I should answer you," she said, "but I do. Why do I?"

Three Meals Are Enough.

U. V.: Three meals a day should be sufficient. Let your meals be well planned and contain properly balanced foods. Also learn to enjoy your meals, giving sufficient time that there may be no need for bolting.

Blemishes Are Blisters.

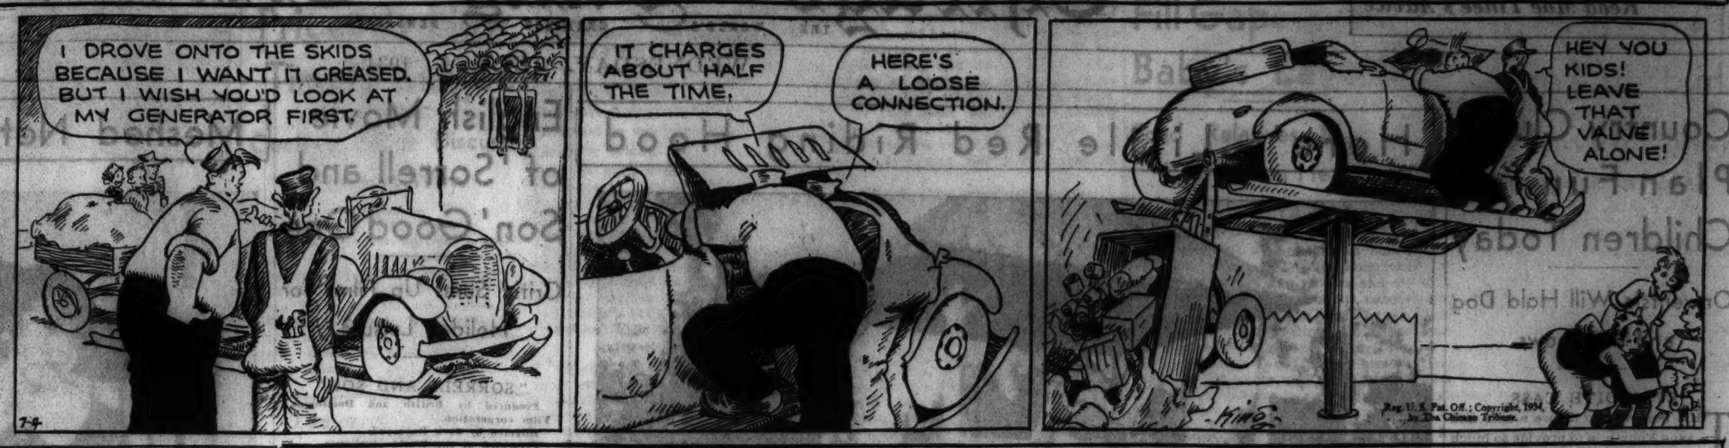
GASOLINE ALLEY—THEY JUST WANTED TO FIND OUT



Give Beau with Grouchy Mood an Exit Ticket

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She's been going out with her Angelo for four years. Most of the time, she volunteers, he is cranky, scolds about the smallest things: the way she has her hair done; her clothes; her manicures. Scolds her for being extravagant in these things, although she says she is not extravagant, but has to keep up a nice appearance for the sake of her job. He asks her frequently how much money she is saving. She is saving a little each week. He thinks it should be more. He never tells whether he is saving anything or not. He's cranky when they go anywhere; doesn't want to spend the money; doesn't like her friends when they spend no money but just an evening with them. In fact, we sum Mister Angelo up as a young man with a perpetual grouch, based upon a petty character. As a husband possibility, we'd vote him out on the first count, unless the girl is willing to go on explaining for life her every expenditure and be isolated from old friends into the bargain.

Of course, a girl has to have her hair done, and her nails, and wear as smart looking clothes as she can afford, in order to hold a job these days. She should spend a certain amount on personal upkeep for her own morals, with no questions asked by the young man.

He should be willing to spend on amusement for her sake now in these courtship days, and do it as if it were his particular delight. And, if he is inquiring the state of her savings account, it is her privilege to become acquainted with his own savings account.

It is two people like this who find many things to complain of in each other before marriage who foolishly marry and expect there will be happiness in store for them. If that is the character of the man, marriage will not change him, unless the woman turns out to be rarely smart in the way she can handle him. If he hates to see his sweetheart spend a nickel on personal upkeep, he'll think his wife should be beyond any human vanities. If he won't give her a little amusement ungrudgingly now, he certainly won't later. So why sign away a future with so little promise?

The Chicago Golf club is well filled with summer residents, both in the cottages on the grounds and in the clubhouse. Among those who are staying there for the summer are the Ernest P. Wands, Addison Stillwell, the Walter Goodwillies, Mrs. John D. Cady, the Orville J. Taylors, the Paul Walkers, the John Blacks, and George Bates.

The Fourth of July will be just like any other midweek day at the Saddle and Cycle club in town, for nothing has been planned especially for the occasion. The club feels that too many members will be out of the city.

In town, at the Town and Tennis club, where the men's national clay court championships are being played this week, there will be a gay dinner dance tonight, with a diving exhibition and fireworks display for the benefit of the visiting players. Miss Ethel Dixon and Miss Lois Jaques will be assisting at the dinner dance. An added attraction at the play today will be a match between "Bitsie" Grant and John McDiarmid, whose match was postponed because of rain during the finals of the Western championship matches played recently at the River Forest club.

Two Gay Parties on North Shore.

There will be two especially gay parties at the Onwentsia tonight, one that Mrs. George A. Richardson is giving for two debutantes of the coming season and one that Mrs. Francis S. North is giving for her niece, Miss Morgan of Atlanta, Ga., and her son, Francis North.

Mrs. Richardson's especial guests are Miss Ethel Johnston and Miss Betty Brooks. Miss Johnston is a niece of the Morris Leidy Johnstons and is living in Lake Forest this summer with her brother, Hulburd Johnston, and Miss Brooks is a daughter of Mrs. Mason Phelps. Miss Nancy Morse, Mrs. Richardson's daughter, will assist her mother as hostess.

Miss Morgan, whose brother, Otho Morgan, was an usher at the wedding of Williams North to Sally Jackson last week in Asheville, N. C., is visiting her aunt for a few weeks. William and his bride are expected here the middle of the month to spend a week, and then will go to Bermuda to finish their honeymoon. They will live in Cambridge next year, where he is taking a post-graduate course. Mrs. North and Francis are going east to spend August on Nantucket island.

Luncheon Parties at Arlington Today.

Those socialites who are racing fans will spend the Fourth at Arlington.

There will be a dozen or more smart luncheon parties in the Post and Paddock, some of the hosts and hostesses being Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. James G. Condon, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. George Woodruff, Mrs. John F. L. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright; the Gustavus F. Swifts, who will have a small party of their own friends and one twice as large for their daughter, Miss Marie Swift; Leonard M. Florsheim, the Milton Florsheims, Armin W. Brand, the Silas H. Strawns; Edward F. Wilson, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson; the Watson Armours, and the Benjamin Behrs.

The Stanley A. Morrills and the J. Glen Samples usually celebrate the birthdays of the men of the families on the eve of July Fourth with a big birthday party, but this year the celebration was very quiet. It was the Morrills' turn to have the affair at their home, and they had just eight guests: The Taylor Strawns, the Phelps Dunhams; Robert S. Hotz, whose wife is away, and Harlan B. Eldred, whose wife also is away, and the Samples, of course. Mrs. Eldred and her son Eugene and her mother, Mrs. Eugene Andrews, are in Cotuit, Mass., for the summer, and Mr. Eldred goes east now and again to visit them.

Logan Granddaughter in South on Honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan are disappointed that their granddaughter, Mrs. Allen Grant, and her new husband won't be coming to Chicago on their honeymoon. Carolyn Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer H. Logan of Mamaroneck, N. Y., was married to Allen Grant of Tarrytown, N. Y., last Sunday in Mamaroneck. They are spending their honeymoon in South Carolina. They will live in New York.

The thoughts of many Chicagoans will be in Mitchell field, L. I., today with Mrs. Agnes P. Wilder and her daughter, Miss Laura Louise Wilder, who went there recently from their Montecito home for Miss Wilder's marriage today to Lieut. William Stephen Pocock Jr., United States Army Air corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Pocock of Detroit.

The wedding, which will be a military one, will take place in the Officers' club. Lieut. Pocock and his bride will make their home at Mitchell field.

Thomas Wilder, the bride's brother, is on Long Island for the wedding. Mrs. Wilder is the daughter of Mrs. James A. Patten of Evanston and formerly lived in Chicago.

The Walter Schuttlers had a dinner-dance in their Wheaton home last night for Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bigelow of New York, who are visiting the Schuttlers' daughter, Miss Jane Schuttler. Leighton Stevens of New York, who was an usher at the Farnum Bigelow wedding, is arriving today to visit the Schuttlers until after the week-end.

ENGAGEMENT

Dr. and Mrs. Fred W. Parker of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Charles W. D. Hanson of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hanson of Omaha, Neb. Mr. and Mrs. Hanson are spending the summer in the Parkers' Lakeside, Mich., home.

Program for 2 Pianos Wins Critic's Praise

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Out of the Chicago Musical college came Dorothy Crost and Berenice Jacobson to give a program of music for two pianos yesterday at Curtiss hall. They are admirable artists for this sort of program, making, it is true, a semi-occasional slight slip just to show that they are not infallible, but in general playing with excellent command and the best kind of ensemble interchange. Their program dealt in great part with modern music, and they were particularly effective in a group by Ravel, even though that group contained the now slightly ageing Bolero.

Associated with them on the program was George Graham, baritone, who displayed a distinct gift for dramatic projection of moods. Hugo Wolf's "Sailor's Farewell" was a notable example of his ability in this direction.

In the all-American program of the Chicago Symphony orchestra on the Swift Bridge of Service this afternoon and evening three Chicago composers will appear as guest conductors in the performance of their own works. Felix Borowski will conduct his fantasie overture, "Youth"; Robert Sanders will do likewise in his folk tune, "Hill Billy," and Leo Sowerby in his "Set of Four."

Deems Taylor's "Through the Looking Glass," John Alden Carpenter's "Adventures in a Perambulator" in the afternoon, and Dvorak's "From the New World" Symphony in the evening are also features of the programs to be conducted by Eric DeLamarter. An international broadcast to Japan will be made during the afternoon.

Through a rearrangement of time it is now possible to hear both the Detroit and Chicago orchestras in the same afternoon. The Detroit Symphony plays between 2 and 4 o'clock in the Ford Gardens, the Chicago Symphony from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock in the Swift Bridge. Both orchestras have the same evening schedule, 8 to 10 o'clock.

BY MARY MEADE.

This business of keeping up with the acrobatics of food prices is about as dizzying as attempting to see all of a three ring circus. Months ago, long before the drouth made its appearance in earnest, but when government activities were promoting higher prices in foods, we were advised that prices in foods would immediately take a dizzy climb and we'd have to go up after them if we wanted to eat.

But surprisingly enough the sharp rise was not as general or as abrupt as was expected. Many items did ease up a way, but the majority stayed much as it has been. Matters, however, stand differently today. The long dry spell over a great share of the agricultural district, coupled with the more effective methods now used to boost prices for the farmer, has given a new impetus to rising prices which will be felt quite definitly in food budgets from now on.

According to a recent report from the American Institute of Food Distribution food prices have inched up gradually to the point where the prices producers are asking are about 14 per cent higher than a year ago and the prices we pay to the retailers are nearly 10 per cent above last year's figures.

What's more, the prediction is that this price advance will keep on unless the weather man should be unexpectedly kind to the cornfields and the acres of tomatoes, root crops, and late vegetables.

From the cereal angle corn cereals especially will rise in price if fields continue to be parched. There is already a shortage, with a corresponding boosting in prices in this year's production of wheat, oats, barley, and rye.

In the dairy industry one reason for the upward trend in products is the dwindling amount of forage and the high feed prices. Butter is up because the drouth has made impossible the storing of the large supplies that is usual in the spring.

The meat and live stock people are likewise in difficulty. Because so much of the stock has had to be marketed at deficient weights, the total poundage of meats promises to be seriously off schedule and much of the meat on the market last month was below the usual standards of Chicago retailers.

Fresh vegetables are having an even tougher time of it here in the middle west. Already they are up in price and promise to rise higher. Peas especially have been badly damaged in Minnesota, Wisconsin, New York, and Alaska, sections from which the majority of our canned peas comes. This has very decidedly crippled the canning production and has already sent up prices of canned peas by several cents. Other canned products—corn, tomatoes, beans, cucumbers, and cabbage for kraut—may not follow this upward trend if favorable weather prevails during the growing season.

Among the fruits, raspberries, cherries, peaches, and others have already been slightly affected by the heat and drouth. However, the peach crop, largely killed by winter freezing in Illinois and Michigan, is to be plentiful in the next few weeks with supplies from Georgia, Florida, and other states.

Even salmon, among the canned foods, is having its troubles. Not the drouth this time, but a longshoremen's strike which is making shipments difficult from the Pacific coast. Canners have been having difficulty in getting supplies to their Alaskan plants and, all in all, it looks as though we would have to select wisely among the salmon cans next season if we would stay within the food budget.

Hollywood

BY SIDNEY SKOLSKY.

Hollywood, Cal., July 3.—[Special.]—Mae West's picture can't be titled "St. Louis Woman," either. There is an independent picture belonging to a Screencraft production by that name. It is now playing theaters, cashing in on the West publicity. Paramount is trying to buy the title from them, but it doesn't seem likely.

The new title for "It Ain't No Sin" will be the one they were holding for the next West flicker. It will be called "Gentlemen's Choice." For a while they were going to call it "Mae West in 'Keep It Clean,'" but they were afraid of offending the censors.

Bruce Cabot and Adrienne Ames have been saying words to each other right out in public. Nancy Lyons and Garret Ford, the writer, are whispering their words. Director William Wellman and Dorothy Coonan now can be listed on the stork exchange.

Madge Bellamy, once a Fox star with a drawing account of $2,500 weekly, is working again at the Fox studio. She is a member of the stock company, salary $40 a week.

Marlene Dietrich and Briane Aherne drove up in an auto to a preview. They waited for the next car to draw up. Marlene's husband and a lady generally seen in his company got out of that car. The four of them went into the theater.

Serge Mdivani saw Barbara Barondess. The next day Miss Barondess received a note from him. It read: "You will meet me for lunch today at 1 o'clock." Miss Barondess didn't keep the appointment. She sent a note to the restaurant which read: "Next time say please."

Virginia Bruce sent a telegram to John Gilbert congratulating him on his rôle in "The Captain Hates the Sea." . . . She received word please not to communicate with Mr. Gilbert as it disturbed his artistic temperament.

Fox is concerned about the Charles Boyer walkout only because he is Pat Patterson's husband and they fear Pat may go to Europe with him. Pat is supposed to do the four pictures assigned to Lillian Harvey, who walked out.

Miri Reri, the famous Reri's cousin and companion who never got a chance on Broadway, will do the hot dances for Bobby Connolly in "Flirtation Walk."

Gloria Shea and Robert Dalton, new Metro stock player, are learning the meaning of romance.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

REBIDDING AFTER JUMP TAKE-OUT OF ONE NO TRUMP.

The past few articles must have convinced you that my belief in making only strong original no-trump bids is based on safety from penalties and ease in bidding for games, but also on the high degree of precision obtainable in slam bidding. Being able to rely implicitly on the soundness of the opening bid, the responding partner may safely take the bidding to five on his second bid, even when holding only three primary tricks and a jack, if they are in a suit pattern similar to those which we discussed in yesterday's article.

Another Type of Responding Hand with Reserve Values.

If you have a secondary five-card suit not headed by the ace, but with tops such as K J or Q J 10, if your first takeout received a signoff, make a minimum takeout in this second suit. If it is only a four-card suit, do not mention it when it is not headed by the ace. If you have reason to make another bid, rebid your first suit, thus indicating reserve values but no second ace. With

Sp. A x	Di. K Q x x x
Hts. x	Cl. K J x x x

if the bidding goes: One no trump, three diamonds, three no trumps, now bid four clubs. This tells your partner that you have a second five-card suit headed by two honors, but no other ace. If the opener has only one ace, he must immediately sign off by bidding four no trumps or bidding for game in whichever of your suits he prefers as trumps. With two aces against you, slam is out of the question. However, with two aces in his hand he can make another move in view of his knowledge that your hand contains only three cards in hearts and spades, one of them an ace.

Giving and Drawing Inferences.

Sp. K Q x	Di. A x x
Hts. Q 10 x x	Cl. A Q x

he would be able to count immediately ten tricks in the minor suits, but if your ace is that of spades, two heart tricks may be taken in against you in no trumps. Having a minimum no-trumper in terms of primary tricks, he must leave the slam decision to you, and it is clear that the slam safety is in a suit, not in no trumps. His bid is five clubs, showing better support for clubs than diamonds. Now with the responding hand given above, you can eliminate losers. In the minor suits opener can have at most two and one-half primary tricks. He must have a primary trick in the major suits. If it is king-queen of hearts, the ace will make against you, but you can then clear trumps and discard your losing spade on the established heart honor. If he has the ace of hearts, he is without one of the minor aces, and must have king-queen of spades to make up three and one-half tricks. In that event, your only loser will be the missing minor ace. If on the previous assumption his major suit trick is king-queen of spades, only a heart need be lost.

Eliminating and Counting the Losers.

The responding hand is therefore in a position to count losers and should bid six clubs without fear. If opener's heart holding were K x x x instead of Q 10 x x, he should bid six no trumps over four clubs. He knows that with the lead coming up to him only the ace of hearts can make against the hand. If responder's ace is in spades, the declarer will probably take in thirteen tricks unless the ace of hearts is cashed on the first lead. With an ace and a king in the major suits, and the same minor suit holding as above, the opening bidder could bid seven no trumps over the four clubs. It must be a laydown except against J 10 x x in diamonds.

When a King Makes All the Difference.

If the opener's hand were

Sp. K Q x	Di. A x x
Hts. Q 10 x x	Cl. A x x

his no-trumper would be so thoroughly a "minnie" that over four clubs he would bid four diamonds, discouraging the slam try and telling you that he has no preference for clubs and no rebid of any kind. You would then bid for game in diamonds, realizing that there must be a finesse in clubs against the queen and also an ace to lose. With the heart holding changed to K x x x he would have three and one-half clear primary tricks and could bid six no trumps, to get the heart lead up to the king. There will be a club finesse for the slam, even if your hand consists of the ace, king-queen, king-jack minimum we have supposed. If you have king-queen in your second suit also, six no trumps will be a spread. With this holding, responding hand could bid six diamonds over four diamonds.

Beautiful Neck Is Purely Gift of Inheritance

BY ANTOINETE DONNELLY.

A recent photograph of a friend was an impressive reminder of a well deserved compliment she received several years ago: "You'll never be anything but youthful with a throat line like that."

The woman has one of those enviable slender throats upon which a head can rest only with distinction, upon which a chic coiffure is always possible, no matter which way the hair is turned. But that kind of neck is something with which you're born, an inheritance. With all the reducing hints known to mankind it is impossible to convert a naturally round, stubby throat into a swan dream. Outside of taking off unnatural fat rolls, which are more often attached to the chin than elsewhere, the neck proper has to remain in silhouette pretty much as nature made it, except for certain artifices of hair arrangement, collar line choice, and bead wearing intellience, bound to create the illusion of slender neckline if cleverly adopted. Of these latter, there is much to be said, however, for the good work they do accomplish in the way of greater neck beauty.

It is difficult to understand why women who are reasonably persistent in the care of their faces will leave off their youth drive down where the throat begins, doubly difficult when we all know that the neck reflects the first signs of age. We see countless numbers of women whose faces show every mark of studied and consistent rejuvenation, with necks that aren't consistently well cared for. As a result we find deep set circular lines the throat round, or perhaps criss-cross lines under the chin line. Anyway, the throat is wrinkled, the skin looks dry, yellowish, and neglected. That throat skin responds just as happily to preservative care as the skin on the face. Pat the throat and neck with a special astringent, using a large patter made of cotton, and squeezed out of cold water, dry the skin, and then apply a suitable cream to overcome crêpiness. This cream should remain on at least a half hour, or preferably all night.

Dominicans Mark Seventh Centenary of Founder's Sainthood

ROME, July 3.—(AP)—World-wide commemoration of the seventh centenary of the canonization of St. Dominic, founder of the famed Dominican order, began today.

Simultaneously there were commemorative services at the tomb of St. Dominic at Bologna, where he died Aug. 6, 1221, and similar services were held in dozens of nations where the Dominicans have penetrated in their work covering more than 700 years.

An American pilgrimage, under the Dominican Father Thomas F. Conlon of New York City, is scheduled to come to Rome at the beginning of August.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 3.—[Special.]—Members of the cabinet are widely scattered over this Fourth of July. The secretary of the interior, Harold L. Ickes, who is remaining at his suburban home on Glenbrook road, is the only member of the President's official family in the city. However, several are close by. The secretary of state and Mrs. Cordell Hull are with their niece, Mrs. Paul Hays, at Staunton, Va., and the secretary of the navy and Mrs. Claude A. Swanson and the attorney general and Mrs. Homer S. Cummings are taking short holiday cruises down the Potomac river.

In New York for the holiday is the secretary of agriculture, Henry A. Wallace. The secretary of labor, Miss Frances Perkins, is visiting friends in the country near by.

Gifts Usually Fill Gaps in the Baby's Layette

Fond Relatives May Be Counted on Heavily.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The girl who as a bride has had a regular wedding with all the glamorous accessories of veil and flowers and attending maidens and solicitous ushers and an audience should profit by experience when it comes to planning for her first baby. That is to say, she should not stock up with every blessed thing her baby may need, because she will be sure to have lots of baby presents.

Even the bride and bridegroom who spontaneously—or ecomonically—dash off to a justice of the peace for the cementing of matrimonial bonds without issuing a long invitation list may leave gaps in their buying for the coming baby that loving friends and relatives may fill with gifts.

These presents, which often people will ask advice about ahead of time, will range from the luxurious to the strictly utilitarian. Delicate baby caps, tiny sweaters, dressup dresses, fleecy knitted squares, dainty kimonos, and jar sets are among the smaller things that may come along as presents, while some interested bystanders who want to make substantial contributions may present the baby with bassinettes or cribs or carriages.

So much for the suggestion that you refrain from buying everything your baby will need—which, by the way, even the saleswomen in the stores recommend you to do. "Presents must always be counted on," they say.

While writing in such a way about baby things, my heart always hovers a little over the young mother-to-be who only has a little to spend and whose people may not be able to give her baby what they would like to. To her I want to say that you can manage beautifully if you have to and can dispense quite happily with many things that sound necessary and expensive. For instance, you can make up your own jar set for cotton and boric acid and such things. You can use a clothes basket instead of a "handling" basket. You don't need both a bassinette and crib to start with. Baby carriages or expensive perambulators can be replaced by really "ducky" little folding carriages of corduroy or other fabrics in a steel frame. You can enjoy your baby and keep him healthy and clean without a luxurious layette or equipment.

We have for prospective mothers: Reading references for themselves, advice on where to obtain medical and nursing care, and a layette list. We have also two lists: One of boys' names one of girls' names. It will be necessary to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for each piece of printed matter requested.

Chicago Opera Group Ends N.Y. Season; Blames Unions

New York, July 3.—(AP)—The Chicago Opera company closed its summer season at the Hippodrome today, it was announced, because "of excessive demands by the Musicians' union, the Stage Hands' union, and the Choral union." The company said it had asked the unions to make salary concessions but that they had declined.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

The world is full of a number of beach kits, as we well know. We didn't dream that we'd get tremendously excited about any new one after inspecting so many, but we've gone and done it. And when we tell you that we have what is undoubtedly the most devilish cold in the head any poor woman ever had you'll understand that it's something special if it rouses us from our sad state of sniffles.

It's plenty special. It's the most inexpensive one on the market, one of the most stunning looking, and one of the best equipped. It was made especially for a Chicago store in a quantity that permits the enchantingly low price.

This beach kit is one of those sporty looking numbers in natural color cork, the shape and size of a binocular case and, like such a case, destined to be suspended over one shoulder by its beige cord. Its got great style, but with no sacrifice to sense.

Cleverly tucked in are a tall bottle of liquid cleansing cream, the light kind that makes the most pleasant cleanser for summer use; an equally tall bottle of sun oil to keep you from burning to a crisp; and—these the real inspiration—a small bottle of waterproof mascara and a container of waterproof rouge that can be used for both cheeks and lips. Doesn't that sound pretty good, seeing as how lolling on the beach is no excuse for not being beautiful?

When we carry ours off we'll stick cleansing tissues in just to complete the dressing table illusion, and perhaps a nail file, and we'll not give our looks a worry all day long.

One of these kits makes a clever bridge prize or a most acceptable small gift, but if you've any love for the great outdoors don't overlook it as a slick summer possession for your very own self. You'll be stunned at the low cost. ELEANOR NANGLE.

'REVERE' LEADER RIPS ROOSEVELT BRAIN TRUSTERS

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

In what he characterized as "an uncensored, non-political" speech, Col. Edwin Marshall Hadley, national commander of the Paul Revere Patriotic society, flayed the brain trusters at Washington yesterday, from President Roosevelt down, declaring that they have delivered this country into the Russian brand of slavery and have wrought ruin from which it will take 50 years to recover.

He pleaded with the members of the Central Lions club at the Hotel La Salle to give more attention to their country's business and to work for the election of men to congress, either Republican or Democratic, who will represent the basic thought of America and stand up for it instead of becoming rubber stamps for the radicals in temporary power.

Undesirable Citizen Defined.

"That man writes himself down as an undesirable citizen who in a time of crisis stresses partisanship," he declared. "I believe the best interests of this republic [it is not a democracy but a government by representation] lie in powerful Republican and powerful Democratic parties. The one in power needs a powerful party to check activities. I would speak exactly this way if the Republican party were in power today. Many wrongs evident today started with a Republican administration.

"Our national house is burning down. Today the American people are not smiling but are going about their tasks with the grimness which tells of the crisis in their lives.

"It is time for plain speaking, clear thinking, direct action, if we are to preserve this country. The crisis is here. You Democrats who think your party is in power are only fooling yourselves. You are as much outside as the Republicans.

Democratic Party Stolen.

"The great Democratic party of Jefferson has been stolen. The great Democrats and Republicans are not in Washington today. They are outside, looking in at a foreign controled circus redolent of the pungent smells of Moscow.

"The renegades of both parties are in Washington, marching under the communistic-Socialistic banner, with the dripping red of the Russian flag. The reason you are having trouble in your business and in meeting your pay rolls, the reason you employés are having trouble paying off the mortgage, is due to one fact. We used to work one day out of twenty for the government. Now out of every five days' work, two go to the government.

"Never in the history of the world has there been such a colossal debt. Today it is 30 billions of dollars, with 19 billions of state debts. The United States is absolutely bankrupt. Not any word or acts of individuals can prevent disaster.

Says Only Hope Is Salvage.

"The failure is accomplished. The wreckage has already occurred. The only thing we can do is to salvage the wreckage. Those in temporary power have sold a gold brick to the American people. Temporary measures, they said. They knew all the time they were riveting on the shackles.

"The American people voted for a concrete program in 1932. Today every gold bond of the United States is a lie.

"Last week they foisted on us this bill of the radical Frazier from the northwest, this rank Socialist. It is known as the Frazier-Lemke bill and it is an open invitation for the repudiation of debts. There is not an insurance company in the United States but has had its assets lowered 25 per cent by this bill.

"Today the United States controls 5,700 banks. The time is coming when the farms on which the government has loaned money will be foreclosed. The United States will own them.

"Farmers Headed for Slavery."

"What difference between the men on them and the mujiks of Russia, who were sold with the land? They are headed for slavery. It is the aim to make a sweat shop of the United States, with Kerenskys in power.

"Old 'Tuffy' Johnson, whose appropriate birthplace would have been the cave of the winds, says he is going to crack down on us. I'd like to stick my head out and say: 'You old blatherskite, try it here.' It is time for old fashioned men to stand on their hind legs and say go to hell.

"When Mr. Roosevelt came into power he surrounded himself with a coterie of men. These were not men you had elected. The American cabinet was sent to the cellar. This coterie is from radical colleges like Columbia and Harvard. They have no mandate but they are telling you you are going to be regimented and you must swallow their socialistic measures.

Warns of Burocratic Perils.

"The danger of this burocracy is such that if it grows any larger, made as it is of burocrats, plus their relatives and friends, they will be so numerically strong that it will be useless to hold an election. This crowd plans to confiscate wealth, put the government in business, make everything a national movement headed for Russia. Our money has been depreciated, our foreign trade killed, and our credit structure is gone.

"There is only one way out of our distress. We must elect real Democrats and real Republicans this fall. They must tie the hands of the renegade Republicans and Democrats. We may stumble back to a semblance of prosperity, although it will take 50 years to get rid of the things the Ickeses and the Johnsons have fastened upon us.

"We are going to be brought to the level of the dark ages unless you realize your duty and restore America to the glory that was ours under the old constitution. Send men to Washington who will represent the basic thought of America, and kick out the radicals as you would drive rats out of a house."

LEG SEVERED BY TRAIN, HE DIES.

Michael Tufano, 52 years old, 119 Taylor street, who confessed to the police yesterday that he shot and fatally wounded Mathew [Irish] McNamara, young west side hoodlum, because McNamara persisted in annoying Tufano's 14 year old niece, Marie, was absolved by a coroner's jury last evening. The jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

McNamara, who had a minor police record, was fatally wounded Sunday night in Tufano's home and left in front of the Mother Cabrini hospital where he died Monday, refusing to name his assailant. Tufano, arrested, at first denied the shooting but confessed after several hours of questioning.

At the inquest Tufano said McNamara had beaten him several times and had repeatedly made advances to his niece despite warnings. The girl substantiated her uncle's testimony.

John McNamara, 1028 Aberdeen street, father of the dead youth, attended the inquest and declared he would beat Tufano "the first time I catch him on the street." Deputy Coroner Jacob Schewel threatened contempt action and McNamara subsided.

U. S. WILL ENTER N. Y. INQUIRY ON COAL DEALERS

Calls for Testimony Given by Company Chief.

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—Joint action by United States Attorney Martin T. Conboy and District Attorney William C. Dodge was promised today when the inquiry into the activities of coal dealers was resumed at a public hearing before Commissioner of Accounts Blanshard.

Irving Ben Cooper, special counsel, announced federal authorities had asked for a copy of the testimony of E. A. Thompson, president of the Champion Coal company, which has sold the city more than $2,000,000 worth of coal. Mr. Thompson also is affiliated with the Thompson Trucking company.

Called to Jury Quiz.

Yesterday he swore than he had employed Owen (Owney) Madden, ex-convict, beer runner, and parole violator, as an employé at $50 a week. Mr. Thompson also was served with a subpena to appear Thursday before the county grand jury.

Federal authorities are reported to be ready to look into income tax returns of various corporations Thompson controled.

There have been several inquiries into the alleged money that Broadway has believed Madden received from several of his enterprises such as restaurants, night clubs, a brewery that was doing bootleg business during prohibition, and other activities. Madden's activity in the coal business apparently is a new lead for the income tax inquiry.

"Families Victimized."

"In Brooklyn and Queens there are about 375,000 one, two, and three family homes, and it is these people who are victimized by small and large concerns," Mr. Cooper said. "They never are able to determine if they are receiving the correct weight in coal and if the coal is of the quality which they have ordered.

"I propose to show that householders are deceived as to the weight; that the coal wagons have false bottoms and carry the coal into cellars in barrels that have false bottoms. A man thinks he is receiving 8,000 pounds of coal, but through this packet he actually gets 6,000 pounds."

DUCKS HATCHED ON LAKE PILING, REPORTS COOK

Emil Svestka, cook at the Two Mile crib in Lake Michigan, telephoned THE TRIBUNE yesterday to declare that the six baby mallard ducks now inhabiting the Chicago Yacht club harbor off Monroe street were hatched in a nest 1½ feet above the water on some old pilings at the crib.

He later admitted the possibility that it might be another family of mallards, however. Those in the harbor at the foot of Monroe street made their appearance in the wake of their mother a week ago yesterday on a day when the lake was rough and the new born ducklings in apparent peril. Mr. Svestka Sunday first saw the offspring of the mallard hen and drake who had kept house at the crib for a month. As he and other men attached to the crib had been watching the nest pretty closely, he is convinced they were but a few hours old then.

"The whole family sailed away Monday morning," Svestka said, "and we haven't seen them since. The mother went first, then the six children, with the drake bringing up the rear. He seemed to be conducting them across the lake. They set out in the direction of Grant park. The crib is about three miles from the harbor, but those little ducks can sure swim."

Mrs. Pauline Dohn Rudolph, 745 Sheridan road, Winnetka, widow of Franklin Rudolph, former vice president of the American Can company, who died June 19 in Los Angeles, left an estate estimated at $214,000, it was revealed yesterday when her will was filed in Probate court here.

Bequests of $1,000 each are left to the Ethical Society of Chicago, the Grove Home for Convalescents, Evanston, and the Winnetka Community house. Beside minor gifts to relatives and James Exelby, a servant, the remainder of the estate is divided among three children, Franklin Dohn Rudolph, Charles Rudolph, and Pauline Rudolph.

Other wills filed yesterday were:

C. D. SMITH, died April 19. Estate, $26,000, to widow and two sons; Robert C. Smith, son, executor.

MARTIN J. EGAN, died May 21. Estate, $6,500, to widow and executrix, Elizabeth Egan.

FIRE ON FARM OF JAMES SIMPSON; LOSS IS $10,500

Fire destroyed the superintendent's home on the farm of Congressman James Simpson Jr., half a mile west of Wadsworth in Lake county, yesterday. The loss was estimated at $10,000 on the two story house and its furnishings. Five hundred dollars in cash which Frank Clark, the superintendent, had on the premises also was lost.

Congressman Simpson had left his farm to drive to Chicago when the flames broke out. Leona Slaton, the housekeeper, was preparing the noon meal on an oil stove in the kitchen. She left the room for a few minutes, she said, and when she returned the kitchen was ablaze.

Members of the Gurnee fire department were called, but Chief Joseph Dada said it was useless to try to save the house.

Hold Rites for Policeman Slain in Bank Robbery

South Bend, Ind., July 3.—[Special.]—While hundreds watched silently, the body of Howard Wagner, South Bend policeman slain by bandits Saturday during a raid on the Merchants National bank here, was buried this afternoon. All trace of the bandit gang, said to have been Dillinger's, which wounded four and escaped with $29,890, has been lost.

EX-SHOW GIRL ASKING DIVORCE TRIES 2 COURTS

Despite several trips from one courtroom to another yesterday, Mrs. Helen Titus Smith, 22 years old, a former show girl, was unable to find a judge to hear her divorce bill against Donald Smith, 25 years old, son of Charles B. Smith, former president of Stewart-Warner corporation.

Mrs. Smith filed her bill in the morning, charging that her husband, an automobile salesman, deserted her on April 10, 1933. In the afternoon she sought to have the case heard at once, since it was to be uncontested.

Judge Joseph Sabath refused to hear it, explaining that he had a rule against hearing a case on the same day it was filed. A visit to the court of Judge Rudolph Desort brought no results, Judge Desort declining to hear a case which had not been assigned to him.

Mrs. Smith went back to Judge Sabath's court and he agreed to hear the matter tomorrow. Mrs. Smith, who lives at 7330 South Shore drive, is a sister of Mrs. Katherine Titus White, who obtained a divorce four months ago from Maj. Andrew White, an official of the Columbia Broadcasting system.

RESERVES.

NATIONAL LEAGUE—Infielders, W. Herman of Cubs, Pepper Martin of Cardinals, and either Vaughan or Jackson, depending on which is in starting lineup; outfielders, Berger of Braves, Paul Waner of Pirates, and Cuyler of Cubs.

AMERICAN LEAGUE—Infielders, Foxx of Athletics, and Dykes of White Sox; outfielders, Chapman of Yankees, West of Browns, and Averill of Indians.

New York, July 3.—(AP)—Proponents of a subway series this fall between the Yankees and Giants for the world baseball championship may enjoy something of a preview when the all-star teams of the National and American leagues battle next Tuesday at the Polo grounds.

Ten players from the two New York clubs, including six Yankees and four Giants, are among the forty stars named today for baseball's spectacular midseason show.

Joe Cronin, field boss of the champion Washington Senators and manager of the American league all-stars, paid his tribute to the Bronx brigade by selecting Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Lefty Gomez, Red Ruffing, and Ben Chapman. Bill Terry, besides playing first base and managing the Nationals, has recruited Carl Hubbell, Mel Ott, and Travis Jackson from the Giants.

Cuyler Replaces Moore.

Terry also planned to have Joe Moore, his agile left fielder, on the all-star bench, but Joe has a lame arm and yields the honor to Kiki Cuyler of the Cubs. This change gives Chicago the honor of contributing five stars to the National league squad, as Terry already had chosen Chuck Klein, Gabby Hartnett, Lon Warneke, and Billy Herman for regular or reserve duty.

All eight American league clubs have at least one representative in the all-star cast, but the Phillies and Cincinnati Reds failed to muster a single man for the Nationals. In the ordinary process of events, Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Phillies would have been the third backstop for the Nationals; but Terry decided to limit himself to a pair of catchers, Al Lopez of Brooklyn and Hartnett, in order to have an additional infielder.

The selections by Terry and Cronin, which are final, tally for the most part with the results of the popular poll, conducted by newspapers throughout the country. Terry, if he starts Jackson at short, will differ with the fans only in the selection of Ott, in place of Wally Berger of the Braves, for the third outfield job. Cronin disregarded the fans' vote in naming Hig-

EARLY INNING ASSAULT WINS FOR HALLAHAN

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Guy Bush, the man with the burnsides, had nothing with which to annoy the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday and some of his pitching mates experienced similar trouble. Neither could the Cubs devise any ways to bother Bill [Lefty] Hallahan, at least until it was too late. Under the circumstances the Cubs were forced to curl up, 7 to 3, and accept an even break in the two game series. It was the third setback the Cubs have received from the Cards in ten starts this season and also Bush's third trimming of the year.

Bush went on the losing end before two men were out in the first inning, so his eventual retirement, coming in the fourth, wasn't surprising. By the time he walked out of the party the guests were in possession of four runs, which in view of Hallahan's southpawing would have been sufficient. But for good measure the Cardinals picked up two more when Roy Joiner and Pat Malone went wild in the fifth and one more in the eighth when Ducky Medwick varied the program by hitting a homer off Bud Tinning.

Cubs Waste Hits.

So far as hitting was concerned the Cubs did well enough to enhance their batting averages, at least some of them, but a good bulk of the safe drives produced nothing. In the first three innings they were able to prod their southpaw adversary with five hits, but didn't get a man past third. Then they experienced a three inning lull in which only one hit appeared. After this they did pretty well, both as to hits and runs, but this belated attack only served to boost their total of men left on bases to an even dozen.

When Hallahan finally did weaken, either because he couldn't help it or didn't see the necessity of bearing down, he discovered the left handed hitters to be his most persistent tormentors. Of the eight hits he surrendered in the last four innings, two were produced by Chuck Klein, two by Manager Grimm, and one each by Babe Herman and Stanley Hack. The Babe, however, had fanned three times in four appearances prior to the ninth. Ki Cuyler's sufferings were more extensive. Although a right handed swinger, he was stopped five times in a row.

Cards Score; Cubs Fade Out.

The Cards needed only two hits to get a one run lead on Bush in the first inning. Rothrock doubled to center with one out and scored on a single by Frisch. The next two batters caused no trouble. The Cubs got busy immediately in their opening half, but it didn't do them any good. Billy Herman opened with a single to left and took third on English's single to right. Then Klein struck out on a curve ball and three strikes took care of Babe Herman. Cuyler ended the half with a roller to Frisch.

Orsatti walked with one out in the second inning, and before Bush could restore order two more Cardinals scored. Durocher pushed a single past Billy Herman and Orsatti sprinted to third. Hallahan laid down what was intended to be a squeeze bunt, but it became a hit. Bush picked up the bunt, saw there was no chance to keep Orsatti from scoring, and turned to make the throw to first. First base was uncovered, so Hallahan profited by one hit. Then Martin singled to center and Durocher scored. Rothrock and Frisch were easy on infield rollers.

Force Bush to Quit.

The Cardinals didn't annoy Bush to any extent in the third, but they let loose a pair of singles in the fourth and caused the Mississippian's banishment. Durocher opened the inning with a one base drive to center and was nudged to second on Hallahan's bunt. Martin's infield out put him on third and he went home on Rothrock's single to center. Bush then turned

BRITISH OPEN GOLF.

RECOVERY of the British open golf title by a British player, Henry Cotton, after ten years of American ascendancy, need cause no pangs here. In fact, this hiatus, if it proves only a hiatus in Yankee tenure, will add interest, particularly in Great Britain, to an event which had seemed almost wrapped up in advance only awaiting to see what American would take the trophy home.

While it's true that Bobby Jones, now retired from tournament play, and Walter Hagen, now a veteran with oncoming youngsters ready to take advantage of whatever slips his years impose, were winners in six of those American victories, Tommy Armour, Gene Sarazen, and Denny Shute in succession carried on where Jones and Hagen left off—until Henry Cotton came along.

In recital of American winners, it is only fair to the British to admit that Armour was a British developed player.

Only four American topflight players competed abroad this year. They were Macdonald Smith, Joe Kirkwood, Denny Shute, and Gene Sarazen. Because of the sequence of Yankee victories the title had lost some of its glamor. Expense of the long trip was considerable. The American open and the P. G. A. were almost as valuable commercially on this side.

But no matter how many we had sent over this year the result would have been the same against the caliber of golf played by Cotton. This 27 year old pro, now holding a club position in Belgium, threatened to set all-time records with 67 and 65 for the first 36 holes, followed with 72, needing only 78 for a tournament record. He took 79 on the last round, his frayed nerves unequal to the test, to tie the mark of 283 set by Gene Sarazen in 1932.

Against those first three rounds anything but a stern chase was hopeless. That Americans did not even press close and finished not better than fourth was gratifying to the British, who had recently seen their amateur title lifted by W. Lawson Little, the Stanford collegian.

The point The Wake is trying to make is that a break in Yankee continuity will be a good thing for golf, especially so for British pros who were becoming somewhat discredited in their own country.

1922—Walter C. Hagen, 300.
1923—Arthur G. Havers [British], 295.
1924—Walter C. Hagen, 301.
1925—James Barnes, 300.
1926—Robert T. Jones, 291.
1927—Robert T. Jones, 285.
1928—Walter C. Hagen, 292.
1929—Walter C. Hagen, 292.
1930—Robert T. Jones, 291.
1931—Tommy Armour, 286.
1932—Gene Sarazen, 283.
1934—Henry Cotton [British], 283.

LADYSMAN RATED AS FAVORITE AT ARLINGTON TODAY

Peace Chance Due This Morning; May Start.

BY FRENCH LANE.

There promises to be plenty of Fourth of July fireworks at Arlington Park about 5 o'clock this afternoon when the field gathers at the starting gate for the sixth running of the Stars and Stripes handicap.

Overnight 22 of the best middle distance runners in America were named for the race and should all of them go to the post, which is hardly likely, the handicap, which is at a mile and a furlong, will have a gross value of $15,880. It carries an added money prize of $10,000.

While Ladysman, from W. R. Coe's stable, was installed as the favorite when the entries were made public, an air of mystery was thrown into the contest by the appearance in the entry list of the names of Peace Chance, the Belmont stakes winner, and his running mate, Golden Way, from the Joseph E. Widener stable of New York.

Makes Late Entry.

Judd Alt, western representative of the Widener stable, dropped the names of Peace Chance and Golden Way into the entry just about the time the horses were leaving New York. The two Widener stars are in charge of Trainer Pete Coyne. Western horsemen can hardly make themselves believe that the Widener pair will step off the cars this morning and be asked to race in the Stars and Stripes this afternoon.

Yet Trainer Coyne is not in any sense of the word an orthodox trainer. He never hesitates to put a new idea into his methods and if he is of the opinion the night on the train will not handicap Peace Chance and Golden Way this afternoon he will not hesitate to send them to the post.

The fellows quoting the overnight odds took no chances with the Widener pair and installed them as the second choice at odds of 4 to 1. The price against Ladysman and his running companion, Black Queen, was at 3 to 1 last night, but likely will be as low as 2 to 1 this afternoon in the event Peace Chance and Golden Way do not enter into the contest.

Many Like Indian Runner.

Indian Runner, the winner of the Stars and Stripes last year and of the Inaugural handicap a little more than a week ago, which will have Patchpocket as a running companion, was held in high regard and the best the players could get against this entry was 4 and 5 to 1.

Brookmeade stable will be represented by Inlander and Good Goods and unless it should rain and the track turn muddy Good Goods will be the main hope of America's luckiest racing establishment. Both the Brookmeade horses have trained exceptionally well for the race and in the event of mud, Inlander, the Classic winner

Talking It Over

THERE is not much chance that the White Sox will break a record this season. . . . For a while it appeared they might tie or better the American league's all time low, established by the Athletics in 1916 when they won only 36 games while losing 117 for a percentage of .235. . . . The Sox are traveling at a .330 pace. . . . In 1924 the Sox finished eighth with a percentage of .431, the highest recorded by a tail end team. . . . The Senators won the pennant that year with an average of .597. . . . The lowest percentage ever made by a championship team in the majors was .578 by Rogers Hornsby's St. Louis Cardinals in 1926. . . . The highest was the old Cubs' mark of .763 in 1906. . . . That was the year they lost to the Sox in the world series. . . . Januscz Kusocinski of Poland has run four miles faster than the Yale crew stroked the distance against Harvard. . . . Ever True, Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin's young filly, is unmanageable when separated from her stable companion, Judy, a black Nubian goat. . . .

JOE LOUIS.

Casey Stengel, manager of the Dodgers, says the Cubs owe much of the credit for their good showing to Billy Herman, the best second baseman in the league. . . . Joe Louis, 1934 Golden Gloves light heavyweight champion, makes his professional debut tonight at Bacon's arena, 49th street and Wabash avenue, against Jack Kracken, heavyweight. . . . Louis, who fought through THE TRIBUNE tournament as a member of the Detroit team, appeared to be one of the most skilful contestants in the history of the meet. . . . He now weighs more than 180 pounds and will campaign among the heavyweights as a pro. . . . An East St. Louis automobile dealer gives Dizzy Dean $100 cash for every game he wins for the Cardinals. . . . Sam Byrd, Yankee outfielder, holds the Birmingham, Ala., Country club course record—64. . . . Charley Paddock says Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette sprinter, is so far superior to all present day dash men that he is in a class by himself. . . . In case you don't know, the real name of the coach of Stanford's national collegiate track champions is Robert Lyman Templeton. . . . The father of Dave Cook, Illinois football player, is coach at Soldan High school in St. Louis. . . . A sliver proof wooden floor has been completed in the Notre Dame gymnasium apparatus room. . . . The wood is placed cross grain, giving the appearance of inlay work. . . . Statisticians are still trying to find out whether any manager besides George Gibson of Pittsburgh has been fired twice by the same team in midseason. . . .

The attendance in the bleachers at Comiskey park last Saturday afternoon was 239. . . . This probably is a new low for a Saturday when weather conditions were reasonably good. . . . Jim Vaughn, former Cub hurler, thinks Dungan Rigney of the Logan Squares is one of the most promising pitchers in Chicago semi-pro ranks. . . . Rigney, 20 years old, was a member of the St. Mel basketball team that reached the finals of the 1932 National Catholic tournament at Loyola. . . . FRANCIS WISTERT RECEIVES BIG TEN BASEBALL AWARD

Francis Wistert, Michigan pitcher, was named the Big Ten's most valuable baseball player in a vote of eight conference coaches, Kyle Anderson, University of Chicago coach, announced yesterday.

Announcement of Lineups Closes All-Star Contest

Because of the announcement yesterday of the lineups for the all-star baseball game by Managers Joe Cronin and Bill Terry, THE TRIBUNE will consider only letters postmarked July 2 in its contest. The contest was to have closed today. A $250 prize will be awarded to the fan who picked the starting lineups for the game, which will be played at the Polo grounds next Tuesday.

BLACK HELEN IS BLACK MARK ON BRADLEY'S BOOKS

Filly Colonel Slighted Sets Record; Wins Stake.

Black Helen, the little filly which Col. Edward R. Bradley refused to nominate for the rich 2 year old fixtures, made the Colonel's race turn red again at Arlington Park yesterday.

Black Helen was out in the Daisy purse, which engaged many of the most fashionable candidates for Saturday's running of the $35,000 Lassie stakes. And she tied her nine rivals into a sailor's knot when she won by six lengths after leading from flag fall to the finish. Just to add a bit more brilliance to her performance, she ran the five furlongs in :58 2-5. This shattered the track record of :58 3-5.

Bye Lo, owned by Mrs. Roy Carruthers, finished second, and as a result of her good showing, looms as a dangerous contender in the Lassie stakes, during the running of which Black Helen will remain in her stall because Col. Bradley or some of his trainers forgot to nominate her for the rich stake.

The race over the turf at Arlington yesterday was a real thriller. Strait Jacket, Gray Back, and Single Stripe were leading as the field neared the turn into the stretch. Then the three leaders lost their bearing, jumped over the hedge into the infield, which automatically disqualified them, and threw the race into a wild scramble. Miss Corinne, paying $14 in the mutuels, turned up as the winner after these stoutly backed horses dropped out.

Jocky Budddy Haas, star of the Fairmount park season, joined up with the John Marsch stable of Chicago yesterday. He climbed into the saddle of Chirac, the favorite in the third race, and won easily from Luna Bright and Durga.

C. J. Fitz Gerald, steward representing the Illinois racing commission, announced that horses to be subjected to the saliva test would be selected by lot before the races each day. Two horses will be examined daily, the winner of one of the first four races and the winner of one of the last four events. This method was followed Monday, when Tiny Kitty, winner of the first race, and American Smile, victorious in the last race, were drawn.

Not Immune to Jitters.

Miss Helen Hicks, women's national golf champion in 1931, and Mrs. E. R. Reinhardt, three times western champion, visited THE TRIBUNE golf school classes at Elmgate course last week at the invitation of George O'Neil, one of its trustees. While there the young women kindly gave an exhibition of their own shots for the benefit of women players.

A friend of Mrs. Reinhardt related this conversation with the former champion the next day: "Can you imagine it? After all these years of playing golf, as I stood there before all those people showing my shots the thought kept flashing, 'What if I should miss the ball?'"

It was the first game of the season which Hamlin had started. He had a touch of malarial fever early in the year and only recently recovered sufficiently to serve as a relief pitcher. Score:

MOON MULLINS—THE NEW ARRIVALS

Homer Helps Braves Beat Giants, 5 to 2

Boston, Mass., July 3.—(AP)—Bill Urbanski's home run off Roy Parmelee with two men on base in the fourth inning, gave the Boston Braves the margin by which they defeated the New York Giants, 5 to 2, today, concluding the two game series with an even break.

It was Parmelee's first start for the Giants since April 19, when he opposed the Phillies. The Giant right hander, who had been recovering from an appendectomy, yielded seven hits, walked three, and made a wild pitch in four innings. Score:

Qualifiers to Get Medals in Tribune Swim

BY WILFRID SMITH.

There's no doubt that last year's ten winners in THE TRIBUNE'S annual 100 yard free style races composed about the last word for speed. Equally certain is the fact that the ten lucky boys and girls who win gold medals this year will be as proficient. But the 1934 meet offers more for the average contestants than ever before.

With the adoption of the plan of four qualifying sections it also was decided to award the qualifiers with medals. This, of course, is in addition to the merit badges which will be given to all contestants who report for trials.

May Award 160 Medals.

The number of qualifying prizes depends entirely on the number of swimmers chosen for the final races on July 29 at Lincoln park. It is likely that at least 160 boys and girls will be chosen for the finals. Each of these will receive a gold medal. This is the new feature for the fifth annual races.

If 160 boys and girls qualify, it means four swimmers in each of the 10 age classes [five for boys and five for girls] will be chosen from each of the four pools, Sherman park, California park, Cermak pool, and Whealan pool.

BOYS.

Class A, Filipp Kreissl, Evanston, Ill.
Class B, Harold Long, Kenosha, Wis.
Class C, James Gilson, Evanston, Ill.
Class D, Robert Brundage, Oak Park, Ill.
Class E, Michael Howlett, I. A. C.

Class A, Patsy Heekin, Community Recreation Center.
Class B, Jacqueline Nicholson, Lake Shore A. C.
Class C, Glennette Holmes, East Chicago, Ind.
Class E, Claudia Eckert, Shawnee Country club.

These champions are eligible if they compete in the next highest age, whether they would be classified in that division by their present age or not. Class E winners can not compete again.

Set Back Deadline.

Notification will be sent to all contestants at least three or four days before their sectional meets. This card will admit them to the sectional swims without the customary charge for use of the pool, and it also will furnish each contestant with his racing number. For this reason, when team entries are made, the address of each swimmer must be sent to THE TRIBUNE for the permanent records.

In order to give the contestants on July 14 and 15 more opportunity to enter, the closing date for acceptance of entries has been changed to midnight, July 10. Entries for the trials at Cermak pool and Whealan pool will close at midnight, July 16.

POLISH TRACK STARS OFF FOR WARSAW MEET

Cubs Pick Lee, Weaver to Face Cardinals Today

The Cubs and Cardinals will resume their business affairs today in a doubleheader at St. Louis. Bill Lee and Jim Weaver will be the Cubs' starting pitchers. Tex Carleton and Bill [Lefty] Walker will perform for the Cards.

Frankie Frisch, the Cards' manager, was fined $100 and Coach Mike Gonzales $25 for their run-in with Umpire Bill Klem Monday. John Heydler, National league president who witnessed the incident, slapped on the fines for delaying the game.

The Cubs have purchased from the Lafayette, La., club of the Evangeline league a catcher named Walter Stephenson. The young man will not be called in until fall and possibly not until the next spring training trip.

Appendicitis reached into the ranks of the Cub family for the third time within a month yesterday when Mrs. Billy Herman was taken to the Illinois Masonic hospital suffering from an attack. An operation probably will be necessary, Dr. John F. Davis, the team physician, said. Billy Jurges and Mrs. Riggs Stephenson are convalescing from recent appendectomies.

The Cardinals began to swing open the exit door for Joiner in the fifth when Medwick led off with a single and took third on Collins' single. Collins continued to second on the throw in. Davis was purposely passed, filling the bases. Orsatti walked, forcing Medwick to score. Malone came to Joiner's rescue at this point. Durocher's tap to English forced Collins at the plate. Hallahan bounced to Billy Herman, but Durocher inadvertently interfered with the play and was called out. Davis and Orsatti had to return to their original bases. Then Davis was forced to score when Martin walked. Billy Herman staved off more runs by making a brilliant stop of Rothrock's hard bounder.

Klein Starts Rally.

There was a lot of excitement in the Cub sixth but only one run. Klein led off with a single, the first time he was able to get a ball beyond the infield. Babe Herman fanned for the third time and Cuyler grounded into a force of Klein. Cuyler took third on a single by Hartnett. Grimm doubled to left, Cuyler scoring and Hartnett stopping at third. A pass to Hack filled the bases, whereupon Stephenson was elected to bat for Malone. Stevie's batting brought forth nothing more potent than a fly to Medwick.

The Cubs had a chance to do more damage in the seventh, but missed by a matter of inches. English walked with one out and went to third on Klein's double against the right field screen. Babe Herman lifted himself out of the strikeout class by bouncing to Martin and being retired at first. Then Cuyler sailed one to deep right, but Rothrock leaped up in front of the bleacher screen and speared it. A moment later Medwick sent one of Tinning's offering over the bleacher in left center, making the score 7 to 1.

Three hits were mixed up in the production of two Cub runs in the eighth. Grimm singled after Hartnett had popped out. Hack bounced a fluke hit off Hallahan's glove. Stainback did Tinning's batting and furnished a two bagger past Martin to score Grimm and put Hack on third. Hack scored on Galan's infield out, after which English fled to Rothrock. The only sign of trouble encountered by Hallahan in the ninth was a single by Babe Herman;

Sox to Tackle Browns in 2 Games Today

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The St. Louis Browns, who have licked the White Sox five times this season in seven contests, will engage the Chicagoans in a double header at Comiskey park this afternoon. It will be a one day visit, after which the Browns will hie to Detroit and the White Sox will shuffle off to Cleveland for a four day stand.

Rogers Hornsby's lads are not nearly so hot as they were on the occasion of their last visit here, June 5, 6, and 7, they having encountered some buzz saws which cast them from third to sixth place. But even so they have won seven more games than the Sox and the Sox have lost two more than the Browns.

Simmons May Play Center.

The Sox may shift Al Simmons to center field in the games today if Mule Haas' charley horse still pains him. This will be an emergency and not a desire to brush up Al on the position he will play in the All Star game in New York on July 10. The shipping of Bernie Unalt back to Oakland leaves the tallenders short on outfielders, and their only reserve, Milt Bocek, can play left field better than center.

Sox Like Macks.

The Sox yesterday gained a half game on the Philadelphia Athletics, but remained five games out of seventh place. Despite this gap they have high hopes of getting out of the depths during the home stand, which will open against the Athletics on July 12 and closes against the Tigers on July 29.

The Sox have no especial fear of the Cleveland Indians, with whom they have split each of their three series, two in Chicago and one in Cleveland. Each team has won five games thus far this season.

Regatta to Be Held Today at Navy Pier

The annual Lake Michigan Yachting association regatta will be run off Navy Pier today with approximately 100 sailing craft, from 15 feet up to 90 feet in length, and 25 high speed runabouts expected to participate. From 11 a. m. on, at 5 minute intervals, class C, B, and A cruising sail boats, Universal yawls, schooners and ketches; Seawanhaka sloops; class R sloops; Eagle sloops; Star class sloops; Pup class sloops; and the little Snipe and Jacks will be dispatched.

Speedy power boats will compete in the regatta. The speedboats will cross the line off the east end of Navy Pier in race horse start formation. Six classes for Dodge, Chris Craft, and Gar Wood standardized runabouts, and a free for all will provide the spectators with thrills. The speedboats will be started at 12:30 p. m. and one class after the other thereafter.

Officials Unite Forces.

NOTED PAINTINGS KEPT IN CELLAR OF ART INSTITUTE

Lack of Space Crowds Out Treasures.

The need for enlarged quarters at the Chicago Art institute was revealed yesterday with the announcement that approximately $1,600,000 worth of art treasures are store in the basement of the edifice because there is no place to display them.

Seven years ago, when the institute housed $12,000,000 worth of art work, officials started plans for a $10,000,000 expansion, justifying their project by the statement that the galleries already were insufficient to accommodate the invaluable paintings.

Since that time, the holdings of the institute have increased. Valuable works of art have been donated, equally valuable ones have been purchased and, finally, the World's Fair collection has been hung there, bringing the total value of the displays to $75,000,000.

A stroll along the galleries will convince even the casual visitor that space is at a premium there, and pictures, for proper appreciation, demand space before all else. It has not quite come to the point where the watercolors are running into the pastels or the oils dripping down on the bronze statuary, but merely that every inch of wall space is utilized.

To achieve even this result, it has been necessary to relegate to the cellar some invaluable works of art-paintings, sculpture, rare china and glassware, and rugs that would bring credit to a Sultan's palace.

An institute official when questioned yesterday about the crowded condition of the galleries, said, "Yes, we're badly crowded there, but you should see what we have stored down in the basement."

Many Stored in Basement.

Down two flights of stairs and through a block of corridors he led the way to a gray storeroom and, with a casual toss of his hand, pointed to long iron racks, hung with pictures, that extended from floor to ceiling, from wall to wall.

A list of the canvases hanging there is breath-taking. Among the more important ones were a portrait by Goya, two portraits by unknown artists of the Rembrandt school, the famous "Virgin, Infant Christ and St. Catherine" from the Van Dyke school, "Marquis Spinola" by Rubens, "A Gentleman's Portrait" by Gainsborough, "Miss Anne Mead" by Sir Joshua Reynolds, a landscape by Monet, "Nymphes Sortant du Bain," one of the rare figure pieces of Corot; Daumier's celebrated "Don Quixote," "The Flageolet Player" by Teniers, "Portrait of a Woman" by Giacomo Palma ["Il Vecchio"], "Concert" by Parassie Michiele and works by Peter Brueghel, Cuyp, Palamadeaz, Sidaner, Jacob von Ruisdale, Bartolo of the Sienese school and an unknown artist of the 15th century Flemish school.

Noted Watercolors There.

Fully 50 watercolors were there, including many of the vivid scenes of Signac, master of the broken color palette; several by Vlaminck, distinguished for his work with translucent color; Manfra and one by Cezanne.

On the opposite side of the chamber were ranged, on tables and shelves, boxes of Graeco-Roman glass, black basalts in Wedgewood ware, Spanish plates valued at from $1,500 to $3,000 apiece, an English crystal bowl for which the institute paid $2,000, ancient peasant pottery, colorful Bavarian plates, iridescent crystal wine glasses.

This collection, which contains so many pieces that no recent attempt has been made to count them, is placed there because "there is simply no room for it anywhere else."

The property of the Decorative Arts department of the institute, of which Miss Bessie Bennett is curator, is valued conservatively at $50,000, with another $50,000 invested in stored rugs. Furniture and costumes belonging to that department, but also stored away, have not been estimated as to value.

Expansion Plans Laid.

"I need two wings right now to display what I have here," Miss Bennett said. "We know exactly how we want to expand to benefit the people most."

In still another basement room lies the last of the stowaways, a collection of early Greek sculpture and casts made from originals. Among the figures latent there are the crouching Venus, Venus di Mflo, the Knife Grinder, Hermes and the Infant Dionysus and several casts of Praxiteles originals. This array is valued conservatively at $500,000.

The pictures, the glassware and the sculpture, with their aggregate value of $1,600,000, all are receiving the best of care in their dungeon treasure house. They are dusted and wiped off at regular intervals and occasionally are shifted from one niche to another.

But they are not on exhibit, and that, officials say, is what they were bought or given for. Unless the institute is successful in its plans for expansion, they must stay in the cellar.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Be Kind to Outlaw Today

BUCK WILL GET NEW CARGO OF WILD ANIMALS

Beasts to Be Brought to World's Fair.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Frank Buck's Fourth of July fireworks, if any, will come a few days late this year. Buck will pass up the pyrotechnics at the Fair tonight and board a train for New York. Friday or Saturday the Seafarer is to dock there with a load of Buck's wild cargo, fresh from his compound near Singapore. Then there will be plenty of excitement for several days. Frank's much publicized No. 1 man, Ali, and Ahmed, an assistant, who are in charge of the cargo, will help Buck unload and rush the animals by train to Chicago over the week-end. They will be on view at his Fair exhibit early next week if all goes well.

Among the jungle denizens aboard the Seafarer are several who "starred" in Buck's picture, "Wild Cargo." Radio listeners will make the acquaintance of some of these when Buck's forthcoming series starts on Monday, July 16. No, they won't actually be heard in the broadcasts, but stories about them are likely to be used. The newly arriving film celebrities include the python that killed the black leopard in the picture and the snake that swallowed the pig. There are also honey bears, gibbons, and many birds.

Buck will pinch hit for Amos 'n' Andy and the Goldbergs on the air. His program of jungle dramatizations is in rehearsal now. Following their 1,892d NBC broadcast Friday, July 13, Amos 'n' Andy will start their vacation. Charlie Correll [Andy] and Mrs. Correll will sail July 17 on the Bremen for England. Freeman Gosden [Amos] and Mrs. Gosden will go fishing in Alaska.

Quin Ryan, the World's Fair reporter, will interview Sally Rand, onetime fan dancer, at 6:45 o'clock this evening on W-G-N. Quin will quiz Sally on details of her new balloon dance, which she puts on at the Italian village. Sally will also be given an opportunity to explain the entertainment idea she has which she maintains would double the gate receipts of the Fair.

Eugene Ormandy will lead the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra in a new series of 26 sponsored broadcasts over CBS beginning Sept. 25. The orchestra will use 92 musicians for this program. . . . Clara, Lu 'n' Em wire that New York's pace is breaking them down. They had their picture taken yesterday with Fred Allen just as he felt his first smile in 13 weeks coming on. [Wonder why his Wednesday night show isn't called the Hour of Laughs, instead of Smiles.] . . . Ray Knight, radio's head cuckoo, who is always first with the news, will spend the Fourth reminding the public that Christmas is only 178 days away.

On the advice of his physician, Gen. Pershing is dropping his plans to participate in the two Byrd broadcasts tonight from Paris. . . . Joe Rudolf, the pianist, who used to be featured with Pratt and Sherman, the "Two Doctors," is on the air at 5 p. m. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday over WCBD, Waukegan [1,080 kilocycles]. . . . Herr Louie and his Hungry Five are heard on WCFL regularly. They're on at 8 tonight. . . . Jerry Marlowe, Jim Little, and Mary Jane Walsh get a CBS net of more than 30 stations for "Two Pals and a Gal," beginning today.

UPHOLD DOLLAR DEVALUATION IN RAIL BOND SUIT

Case to Go Before Supreme Court.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., July 3.—Constitutionality of public resolution No. 10 of the 73d congress, which involved the devaluation of the gold dollar, was upheld by the New York state Court of Appeals today in a four to one decision. The action was that of Norman C. Norman, New York, upon a bond of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The complaint demanded payment in gold or its equivalent of the quarterly interest, which was alleged to be $38.10. Judgment was directed for Norman for $22.50 called for on the face of the coupon.

The case is to be taken to the United States Supreme court for final decision, it was learned here today. The railroad company was willing to pay the $22.50, but defended the contention that $38.10 was due on the ground that in the devaluation of the gold dollar it was prevented from fulfiling its contract under the usual gold clause and decided it could pay only "dollar for dollar" in the face amount of the bond and coupon.

Decision Four to One.

Chief Judge Cuthbert W. Pound wrote the opinion and Judges Crane, Lehman, and Hubbs concurred, but Judge O'Brien dissented and voted to reverse. Judges Crouch and Loughran did not sit in the case.

"In view of the enormous property value at stake and of the possibility that congress may stamp as legal tender such a vast quantity of paper money as potentially to destroy the value of all past promises to pay in the future," wrote Chief Judge Pound, "the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States on the question will be fraught with gravest results. It is becoming that we should express our views on the question, even though the ultimate decision rests with the court of last resort on questions arising under the federal constitution," he added.

Define Money Powers.

After declaring that "No controling authority may be found for the rule that the money power of congress may make public currency legal tender for obligations expressly limited to payment in gold," and citing the constitution and other authorities, Judge Pound said:

"The rule seems well established that congress may establish a uniform national currency, declare of what it shall consist, endow that currency and every unit thereof with the character and qualities of money having a defined legal value by requiring its acceptance at its face value as legal tender in the discharge of all debts, whether preëxiting or subsequently incurred and to regulate the value of such money, unless by so doing property is or may be taken without due process of law.

Must Uphold Constitution.

"All arrangements for payment in money in the future are necessarily under the paramount authority of the political sovereign delegated powers of congress. The courts should not interfere with the economic policies adopted by congress, if such powers are vested in that body.

"Those who would affirm the unconstitutionality of an act of congress do more than raise a doubt; they must do more than establish the unwisdom of the legislation; they must show clearly that it is in violation of provisions of the constitution."

Declaring state courts should uphold the constitutionality of acts of congress "whenever possible," Judge Pound said that "if the gold clause in contracts is an interference with the ability of the government to accomplish legitimate results it may well be urged that congress may remove such interference without regard to consequences."

Two weeks ago in St. Louis, Mo., Federal Judge Faris handed down a similar ruling when he decided bonds of the Missouri Pacific railroad should be paid only at their face value in money now current.

Gasoline Price Is Raised 2c a Gallon Here

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The gasoline price war in the Chicago district apparently was settled yesterday as a number of the major companies and members of the Independent Brands Petroleum association announced that they are raising prices at the service stations two cents a gallon, effective tomorrow morning.

A. H. Sus, district manager for the Sinclair Refining company, was the first to announce a price increase, stating his company was taking this action in the belief that the gasoline situation in the Chicago district was about to improve. The Sinclair company was followed by Shell Petroleum corporation and the Pure Oil company.

Independents Vote Increase.

John Carson of the George C. Peterson company, spokesman for the Independent Brands association, stated that a poll was taken of the membership on Monday evening when it was decided to increase prices to the level ruling among the major companies.

Under the new scale prices will be: Ethyl gasoline 19.3 cents, regular, 17.3 cents and third grade, 15.8 cents.

At the offices of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the Texas company it was stated that a decision as to what prices they will charge will be announced on Thursday.

It was reported yesterday that the rise in prices followed a series of negotiations between the various interests, although officials of the various major companies said they knew nothing about them. It was stated that negotiations were conducted through the office of Ralph Horwein of the Petroleum Administrative board. The board recently was instrumental in bringing about peace between major companies and independents on the Pacific coast, where prices were raised recently.

Price War Month Long.

The Chicago price conflict developed early in June when the independents announced that they were raising prices, effective June 4. This increase only was in effect a day or two when prices were cut again. At that time the Standard Oil Company of Indiana asserted the independents were not keeping their prices up. The first reduction was followed by several others.

Along with service station increases the various companies are increasing tank wagon prices 1 cent a gallon on the two lower grades of gasoline and two cents on ethyl. Tank wagon prices are two cents a gallon below the service station prices.

Settle 5 Gasoline Price Wars.

Washington, D. C. July 3.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes today announced settlement of five gasoline price wars in the vicinity of Roanoke and Richmond, Va.; Nashville, Tenn.; and Huntington and Parkersburg, W. Va.

PENNSYLVANIA ROAD'S $50,000,000 OFFERING IS OVERSUBSCRIBED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 3.—Subscription books on today's offering of $50,000,000 Pennsylvania railroad company general mortgage 4¼ per cent bonds were closed automatically at noon, the earliest possible closing time under the code. The bonds, due in 1984, were offered by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. at 97½, to yield 4.37 per cent. A heavy oversubscription was reported.

According to the application made to the interstate commerce commission, the bonds were sold to the bankers at 95. The loan indenture provides for a sinking fund of $250,000 a year out of net income of the preceding calendar year, to be applied to the purchase of bonds. The proceeds of the issue will be used to retire the fifteen year 6½ per cent secured bonds and other obligations maturing in 1935 and 1936 and for other corporate purposes.

In connection with the offering it was stated that the company is not indebted to the RFC or the Railroad Credit corporation and has no bank loans outstanding.

The company has sold or agreed to sell to the Public Works administration thirty year 4 per cent serial bonds in an amount not exceeding $45,000,000 for the electrification of the New York-Washington lines; 4 per cent equipment trust certificates not exceeding $32,000,000, and $3,650,000 of ten year secured 4 per cent serial notes to finance the purchase of rails.

HEAR HARRISON, NORMAN TO MEET ON STABILIZATION

LONDON, July 3.—(AP)—The world currency situation will be one of the chief topics of the forthcoming conference between Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, and George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve board, when they meet at Basle, Switzerland, it was reported today in informed circles. Officials maintained for the most part an eloquent silence on the significance of forthcoming talks.

There were widespread reports that stabilization of the American dollar and the British pound would be discussed. It was pointed out that neither of the two officials had official power to make any arrangements, even if they so desired, although they might officially explore the subject.

Even the most optimistic observers do not expect immediate action, believing that Great Britain desires to wait until the world political and economic atmosphere is clearer. The gold bloc, which France organized and operates, is anxious for stabilization, said a government financial expert, especially in view of present high prices in gold standard countries.

A monetary expert in touch with American financiers said he is convinced President Roosevelt is beginning to attach greater importance to stabilization.

BRITAIN PLANS $10,000,000 TRAMP SHIP SUBSIDY

LONDON, July 3.—(AP)—The government today announced its intention to apply a $10,000,000 subsidy to the British tramp ship industry and at the same time to aim at reduction or abolition of all shipping subsidies.

Announced in the house of commons by Sir Walter Runciman, head of the British board of trade, the plan was termed a "defensive" one, which will be confined to vessels carrying tramp cargoes under tramp conditions. He indicated that the government immediately planned to sound out foreign nations as to the possibility of an international agreement controlling shipping and shipping subsidies.

Sir Walter said the immediate aim of the plan was to obtain greater employment of British shipping and British seafaring men. He said the government's policy aimed at supplying shipping tonnage equal to world demand. Restoring freight rates to a profitable level, the subsidy would be employed only until Britain could get other nations to reduce or eliminate their subsidiaries, he said.

DOLLAR LOSES GROUND AGAINST MOST CURRENCIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 3.—The dollar lost ground against practically all foreign currencies today. The only exception was provided by the German mark, which fell early but rallied to close unchanged at 38.37 cents.

Sterling provided the greatest rise, moving a full point above yesterday's close to $5.06⅜. The franc gained ⅛ cent to 6.59¾ cents. Guilders advanced 5 points to 67.90 cents; Belgas moved up 3 points to 23.38 cents, and Swiss francs improved 3 points to 32.57 cents. The lira rose 1 point to 8.58 cents, while Canadian dollars went to a full cent premium on a rise of 1-16 cent.

The Federal Reserve bank of New York reported an additional receipt of gold for Monday amounting to $1,149,500 from France and $390,100 from England. There were no transactions today.

PAY EAST PEORIA BANK DEPOSITS DESPITE SUIT

Peoria, Ill., July 3.—[Special.]—Despite the filing of a bill for an injunction to restrain the government from paying off depositors of the closed Fond du Lac bank, East Peoria, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation continued its pay-off. Attorneys representing stockholders made a plea for the injunction.

"If they want to go ahead and pay they will have to assume the responsibility in case the court grants our plea," the attorney said.

The bill filed at Springfield claims that the bank was not insolvent when it was closed and asks that a further investigation be made. It is directed against Edward J. Barrett, state auditor, and William L. O'Connell, receiver for the bank.

GRAIN EXPORTS FROM U. S. DIP; CANADIAN RISE

Washington, D. C., July 3.—(AP)—Grain exports from the United States last week amounted to 40,000 bushels against 77,000 in the preceding week and 442,000 in the corresponding week of last year. Commerce department figures today gave the following comparison between last week's exports and those for the week before:

Barley 5,000, against 48,000; corn 34,000, against 17,000; oats 1,000, against 6,000; rye none, against 1,000; wheat none, against 5,000.

Canadian grains exported last week from United States ports totaled 715,000 bushels against 709,000 in the preceding week, while exports of North American wheat flour were 15,000 barrels against 24,000 barrels.

WHEAT PRICES RALLY MILDLY; CORN IS LOWER

Southwestern Crops Now Nearly In.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

An abatement of hedging pressure from the southwest enabled the wheat market to rally moderately yesterday. The big southwestern crop movement is now drawing to a close and the movement of Illinois wheat is just getting under way. It is hedging sales against the latter crop which is expected to be the dominant influence in the market in the next 10 days.

Corn prices failed to follow wheat quotations yesterday. Wheat futures closed from ¼ to ½ cent higher, with the September delivery ending at 88⅝ cents. Corn futures were ⅜ to ½ cent lower, with September selling at 69¼ cents. Rains were reported in sections of the corn belt in Nebraska and Iowa and there was an increase in country offerings of the grain.

Other Grains Little Changed.

Wheat receipts yesterday at ten markets were reported at 1,522 cars, or in the neighborhood of 3,000,000 bushels. Monday's receipts, which were included in the week-end accumulation, were nearly twice yesterday's arrivals. The lighter hedging pressure was apparent in yesterday's trading.

Although wheat is now traded here on a domestic basis, foreign news yesterday received some attention. The Liverpool market failed to follow Monday's 2 cent decline here and closed ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower. Reports of dry weather were received from parts of the continent and the southern hemisphere. From Argentina news came that locusts are making an appearance in parts of the country and that rain is needed.

Chicago Absorbing Hedging.

The narrowing spread between the price of wheat in Chicago and Kansas City is one of the features of the present trading. This, in part, reflects the fact that the Chicago market is absorbing the hedging. Because of the premiums which cash wheat is commanding, milling interests were recently reported as buyers of July wheat in Kansas City. July wheat in Kansas City yesterday sold within 4 cents of the Chicago prices, whereas the normal differential is around 8½ cents.

The movement of crops in the soft winter wheat belt may not last as long this year as in normal years because of the short crop. However, hedging pressure is almost continuous throughout the harvest in this country, but may begin to taper off after the movement of the Illinois wheat passes its peak.

Crucial Month for Corn.

The private estimates on the corn crop placing production for the year at approximately last year's actual crop did not come as a surprise. It is recognized that this is the crucial month for the crop, and the events of the next three or four weeks will tell the real story. Generally the crop looks good now, but it needs rains. The recent strength in corn has been based on the importance which the crop has this year because of the shortage in other feeds and the potential damage which may come from further dry weather.

James E. Bennett & Co. yesterday received a message from John Freeman, one of the firm's traveling representatives, stating that the threshing from Quincy to Decatur, Ill., is fairly general. Yields are fair to good. Some oats are being cut, with some of the better fields promising 20 bushels to the acre. Growing corn is badly curled during the heat of the day he said. Freeman added that a fair amount of the corn crop is nearing the tasseling state and needs a lot of rain.

NEW YORK CITY BANK CLEARINGS DROP SHARPLY

New York, July 3.—(AP)—A severe decline in New York City bank clearings, while other leading cities showed sizable increases, brought the total for the week below that of the same period one year ago. The aggregate of clearings in all leading cities for five days, omitting Independence Day, was $4,489,068,000, 9.8 per cent below last year's comparable period, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported.

Clearings of $3,035,174,000 in New York City were 16.5 per cent under last year, while all outside centers showed a gain of 8.2 per cent.

Clearings for the five days this week exceeded last week's total by $113,899,000 with the largest gains in Baltimore, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha and Louisville. Midyear settlements constituted the major portion of this week's settlements.

GOLD HOLDINGS OF REICHSBANK SHOW DECLINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 2.—A drop of 2,309,000 gold reichsmarks in the week ended June 30 cut gold holdings of the Reichsbank to 70,100,000 reichsmarks. The reserve ratio fell off to 2 per cent, a 13 per cent drop from the 2.3 per cent coverage reported for the week ended June 23.

Reserves in foreign currencies increased 2,601,000 reichsmarks to 6,600,000, while notes in circulation totaled 3,776 million, up 378,876,000 reichsmarks from the week before.

During the week investments rose 11,591,000 reichsmarks; silver and other coins dropped 109,100,000; maturing obligations were up 111,001,000; other liabilities up 11,591,000, and other assets were up 34,716,000.

MAY CHAIN STORE SALES INCREASE; GAIN WELL BELOW NORMAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 3.—Although total chain store sales in May were larger than April the seasonal increase this year was considerably below normal, indicating a slackening of trade activity, the Chain Store Age declares in its current issue, published today.

"Effect of this subseasonal showing for the second consecutive month," that publication continues, "reduced the percentage gain in sales over a year ago to one-half of what it was in March. The state of trade in the chain store field in May, measured by this publication's index, dropped to 84.7 of the 1929-'31 average for the month, from 86 in April. The index of independent department store sales, measured by the index and based on preliminary figures published by the federal reserve board, was 72.4 in May, against 71.6 in April."

Total average daily sales of the nineteen chains regularly reviewed were $7,368,000 in May, compared with $7,158,000 in April, and $6,778,500 in May, 1933. May sales this year were approximately 8 per cent above those for May last year.

The index for the grocery group, comprising six chains, was practically unchanged at 78.3 for May, against 78.2 in April. The group of six five-and-ten department store chains showed a sales index decline of 97.2 in May from 100.6 in April. In May, 1933, the figure declined to 82.9 from 85.4 in April.

START OPERATION OF RECIPROCAL TRADE ACTIVITIES

Washington, D. C., July 3.—(AP)—Machinery set up by congress for presidential negotiation of reciprocal trade treaties to recapture America's lost export markets began operation today. Acting Secretary Carr of the state department gave notice of this government's intention to negotiate a reciprocal pact with Cuba and said the views of persons interested would be heard here on July 21 and July 23.

Carr's announcement said the committee for reciprocity information, authorized by a presidential executive order to conduct treaty work here, would accept information and views on the Cuban treaty in writing and applications for supplemental oral presentation up to noon on July 21. The oral presentation will be heard by the committee on July 23.

This action is in accordance with the congressional tarif bargaining act requiring at least 30 days public notice before conclusion of any treaty in order that affected persons might urge or object to concessions proposed. The new Cuban treaty will be the first completed under the new presidential power. It has been under negotiation in Havana for the past year and is expected to be concluded in late August.

Federal Bank Control Twice That Year Ago

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 3. — The New Deal's growing power over the nation's banks was dramatically revealed today when the government sent a call for condition reports as of June 30 to almost every bank in the country.

The call went to 14,000 banks, whereas a similar call issued a year ago affected only about 7,000. Within 12 months the federal authorities have doubled the number of banks under their sway, embracing almost every bank in the country.

FDIC Spreads Power.

The rapid spread of power has been due to the creation of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation which today issued its first condition statement call. This corporation, beside taking in all banks formerly in the federal reserve system, has reached out over almost all of the state banks which previously were independent of federal supervision.

Three separate agencies participated in the federal call, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, the federal reserve board and the controler of the currency as supervisor of all national banks. Each authority addressed a call for condition to its member banks, except that the FDIC addressed its call not only to banks in the FDIC but outside the reserve system.

In filling out the call blanks banks will be required to list their assets and liabilities. The report is expected to show a total of about 36 billion dollars on deposit in the country's banks. This total would mean an increase of about a billion dollars since the last call.

New Dealers Jubilant.

"As a result of the calls," said Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the FDIC, "information will soon be available in Washington, for the first time, as to the condition of practically every licensed bank in the United States on a given date. Previously, only national banks and state banks holding membership in the federal reserve system forwarded statements of condition to Washington at various periods [at least three times] each year.

"There are 7,587 state banks not affiliated with the federal reserve system which are members of the insurance fund and which now must report their condition as of June 30, 1934, to the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation."

2 FRENCH BANKS SUSPEND; CAN'T COLLECT LOANS

PARIS, France, July 3.—(AP)—Two French banks suspended payments today. The Broissier Bank at Nimes shut its doors, and it was announced that it is $800,000 in the red. Banquet Castelnau and company at Montpelier suspended payments because of inability to collect long-term loans.

A moratorium on the overburdening debts of tens of thousands of small merchants was proposed today by the government to avert widespread bankrupticies. Reduction of the debts would be provided in addition to suspension of interest payments.

A treasury official said French storekeepers owe $465,000,000 on businesses bought during boom times, the value of which has greatly shrunken so that they are now unable to meet their payments.

The government urged a law empowering a commercial tribunal to extend maturities and lower interest rates, and to reduce the principal where the contract price exceeds by one-fourth the present appraised value of a business.

AUTO PRODUCTS EXPORTS IN MAY TOTAL $21,295,707

Washington, D. C., July 3.—(AP)—The value of exports of automotive products from the United States during May was reported today by the commerce department at $21,295,707, a decline of 3 per cent from the April figure of $21,974,167 and an increase of 175 per cent as compared with foreign shipments in May, 1933, valued at $7,728,002.

Mattix of the automotive-aeronautics trade division of the commerce department said the export total in this commodity group for the January-May period was $89,256,239, exceeding the figure of $82,185,100 for the entire year of 1932. The figure is $4,750,000 less than the year's total for 1933.

BROKERS' LOANS RISE $65,853,440 IN LAST MONTH

New York, July 3.—(AP)—The New York Stock exchange reported today that members' collateral borrowings, as of June 30, totaled $1,082,240,126, an increase of $65,853,440 compared with the May 31 total of $1,016,386,686.

CHICAGO BANK DEPOSITS RISE TO TWO BILLIONS

BY HOWARD WOOD.

This was disclosed yesterday when regular quarterly calls for bank figures were issued by federal and state authorities. Deposits of Chicago banks as of June 30 totaled 2 billion, 83 million dollars, an increase of more than 200 million dollars in the last three months alone.

These figures apply to the combined total deposits of the 50 banks within the city of Chicago. In December, 1931, the 2 billions of deposits was distributed among 138 banks.

The deposit gain for the three months period ended June 30 was the greatest for any similar period since the second quarter of last year, when gross deposits of Chicago banks rose about 285 million after the reopening of banks following the moratorium.

First Unified Call.

Yesterday's bank call was unique in that it was the first time in history that a unified checkup of practically all banks in the United States was ordered on the same day. First the controler of the currency at Washington issued a call for reports from all national banks. The federal reserve board followed with a call for figures from all state banks belonging to the reserve system. Then the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation issued a call—its first—for reports on the condition of banks insured by it.

Very few banks in the United States lie outside these three systems. Those that do were taken in by calls issued by state banking commissioners. State Auditor Edward J. Barrett issued a call for reports on all state banks in Illinois simultaneously with the call by the national authorities.

More Information Asked.

In addition to the customary balance sheet figures demanded, both the federal reserve board and the FDIC asked for supplementary information. Banks were requested to report separately the amounts of their demand deposits, time deposits, federal government deposits, deposits secured by pledge of loans or investments and deposits not so secured. They were instructed to append short histories of their institutions together with a list of the active officers and the number of full and part time employés.

Despite the great increase in deposits reported by Chicago banks their outstanding credit instead of expanding actually contracted, total loans and discounts showing a drop of about 15 million dollars during the last three months. Thus the liquidity of the banks increased to an even greater extent than their deposits.

Cash Up 150 Millions.

Cash resources alone increased more than 150 million dollars since the last previous call on March 5, 1934. Political leaders in Washington have contended that this piling up of excess reserves and shaving down of loans is the result of bankers' unwillingness to lend. Bankers insist that it is due to the pressure for liquidity brought against them by bank examiners together with the disinclination to borrow on the part of customers whose credit is good.

The gains in deposits during the last three months were enjoyed by large and small banks alike, thus indicating that they have not been due to one cause alone. Bank deposits may increase from any of four causes: return of money from hoarding, importation of money from abroad, increase in loans and increase in the purchase of government bonds on credit with the government redepositing in the purchasing bank the proceeds of the bond sales.

Where Money Comes From.

Inasmuch as there has been no increase in loans and the amount of funds returned here from abroad during the last three months has been negligible it is believed that the big increase in deposits of Chicago banks has been due largely to release of funds from hoarding and the government's bond selling campaign.

The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, with a jump of 83 millions, showed the biggest deposit gain for the quarter and retains its title as the biggest bank under one roof west of the Hudson river. The First National bank, with a 76 million boost in deposits, is a close second. The Northern Trust company deposits soared to a new all time high of nearly 223 millions, an increase of 17 millions. The Harris Trust and Savings bank gained about 9 millions, rising to a new high of 143 millions. Deposits of the City National Bank and Trust company rose slightly, and the American National gained nearly 2 millions.

The First National Bank of Englewood, whose president, John M. Nichols, has been defying the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation by refusing to join, gained in deposits from $6,375,000 on March 5 to $6,520,000 on June 30.

STOCKS RECOVER IN LATE TRADING; ACTIVITY IS LIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 3.—Mild rallying tendencies developed in stocks late today after prices had dropped from fractions to a point or more in desultory selling. Closing prices were slightly higher.

Trading continued extremely light, volume sloughing off to around 400,000 shares. The heat, humidity, and imminence of the Independence day recess combined to deplete the boardrooms and mitigate interest. Hundreds of traders and brokers had taken a cue from the combination to hie them out of the city for more tolerable stamping grounds.

Incentive to speculation was almost totally lacking, the news of the day exerting little or no influence one way or the other. Observers thought the improvement in commodity markets might have had something to do with what buying appeared late in the afternoon.

Trading Range Narrow.

Searchers for features in the price movements on the big board could find only a narrow range to reward them. A few performers attracted fleeting notice from idle tapewatchers. Reynolds Tobacco shares sold at new high levels. Du Pont went up a point and Allied Chemical dropped one. United Aircraft sold into new low ground for the year with a small loss.

Timken Roller Bearing fell more than 2 points, but recovered about half its loss. Bayuk first preferred jumped 3 points, Bloomingdale preferred rose more than 2 points to the best price since 1929. Losses of 3 to 6 points were sustained by Minneapolis Moline, Remington Rand, and Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred issues.

The best group showing was made by silver stocks under the leadership of U. S. Smelting which rose 3 points. Howe Sound and Cerro de Pasco met with good demand particularly in the earlier dealings.

Rail Shares Recover.

Railroad issues recovered somewhat from the mild attack of jitters they suffered yesterday with the signing of the pension bill by the President. Advance figures indicating further gains in carloadings last week made the carrier shares look better to traders casting about for stocks with a "future."

Revelation of a decline in steel operations brought some selling into United States Steel common and other issues of that division. "Big steel" braced up with the rest of the list toward the close, however, and finished the day unchanged from yesterday.

Utility stocks were irregular with a tendency to improve toward the last. United Gas Improvement and Columbia Gas were under some pressure. Western Union was heavy and American Telephone steady. Motor and farm shares marked time.

Washington, D. C., July 3.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today refused to interfere with operation by the Railway Express agency of a Motor Transport corporation as a subsidiary.

The American Highway Freight association, an organization of truck operators, had complained the express agency was violating the interstate commerce act by operating the Railway Express Motor Transport between South Bend, Chicago, Milwaukee and intermediate points. Rates on the transport line are lower than rates on the railroad.

The commission said it had no jurisdiction over the motor line and that it did not appear to be a "device" within the meaning of the law for revision of the terms of the commerce act. The complaint was dismissed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 3.—The bond market was slightly easier in quieter trading today. Prices moved listlessly in a typical pre-holiday session. Most of the decline in trading, however, came in the United States government group, in which the volume dropped from $3,895,400 on Monday to $1,232,100. For the stock exchange list as a whole the turnover was $9,260,000 against $11,493,400 on Monday.

United States government issues, though quieter, were, on the other hand, the firmest group on the list. The market closed from 1-32 of a point lower to 7-32 higher, with the greater number of issues showing gains. A feature of the trading in this group was the recovery of 7-32 of a point in Home Owners Loan corporation 3s, which dropped sharply on Monday.

Foreign Issues Lower.

As a group, foreign government obligations were lower. A prominent exception, however, occurred in the case of German governments. The 7s recovered one point, while the 5½s advanced 2½ points on the day. French republic issues were active but slightly lower, while United Kingdom issues were dull and irregular.

High grade bonds were further encouraged by the reception given the offering of Pennsylvania Railroad general mortgage 4½s. The oversubscription of this issue, which will refund a maturity of a higher rate, was generally taken for granted.

Rail Issues Mixed.

In the domestic railroad group there were gains for Chicago and Northwestern convertible 4¾s, New York Central convertible 6s and Pennsylvania general 4½s, while there were losses in Rio Grande 4s, Nickel Plate refunding 4½s and St Louis Terminal 4s. St Paul issues were active and irregular.

Public utility and industrial bonds were less active. American Telephone debenture 5s were higher, while International Telephone debenture 5s and American and Foreign Power were lower. THE TRIBUNE average covering 50 domestic bonds lost 10 cents on the day.

Detroit Life Insurance.

Investors' Guide: On June 29, 1926, my father took a nonparticipating child's 20-pay life policy with People's Life Insurance company when I was 14 years old. In 1930 it was taken over by Mississippi Life of St. Louis, who in turn was passed into the hands of Detroit Life Insurance company. Are there any liens against this policy, and, if so, what per cent?—G. F. J.

Answer: We have the following information from F. W. Bennetts of Detroit Life Insurance company:

"Detroit Life Insurance company did not assume any assets of Mississippi Valley Life Insurance company. In accordance with the agreement between Detroit Life Insurance company and the receivers of Mississippi Valley Life, the former issued a new term policy offering all policyholders the privilege of continuing insurance with this company without medical examination.

"The receivers of the defunct Mississippi Valley Life advised that a large portion of the assets taken over consists of real estate which has been difficult to liquidate. Hence they cannot give any date when an accounting can be made nor will they hazard a guess as to any amount which may be paid on the old policy."

Philip Morris & Co.

Investors' Guide: Will you kindly give me information concerning Philip Morris company? I enclose stamped envelope.—Miss C. R.

Answer: Philip Morris & Co., Ltd.'s, main lines of cigarets are Marlboro, Philip Morris, and English Ovals. It does not operate factories. Stephano Brothers and Continental Tobacco company handle the making of the cigarets.

Earnings over the last six years have shown a high degree of stability. Last year they broke the $500,000 mark for the first time in ten years. On June 8 it was announced that sales of Philip Morris cigarets have been increasing steadily and the brand now ranks about fifth, excluding the 10 cent brands.

Net income for the year ended March 31, 1934, was $504,000, or $1.30 a share, against $418,000, or $1.01 a share, for the preceding year. Net in the March 31, 1932 year was $499,000, against $417,000 for the March 31, 1931 year.

On March 31, 1934, current assets were $4,592,000 and current liabilities were $434,000. Securities were carried at $833,000 above market values.

Capitalization consists solely of 386,079 shares of $10 par capital stock on which dividends of 25 cents a quarter are being paid. Options to purchase stock have been granted. The stock is medium grade at present.

BANKERS READY TO AID INDUSTRY, HECHT ASSERTS

Expects Modernization to Speed Recovery.

Deadwood, S. D., July 3.—Bankers attending the joint session of the North and South Dakota Bankers' Associations here today heard that bankers of the country are doing their part in encouraging expansion of business activity. The speaker, R. S. Hecht, chairman of the board of Hibernia National bank, New Orleans, La., and first vice president of the American Bankers' association, also denied that bankers have "developed an undue liquidity complex."

Mr. Hecht spoke of the part that a new industry will pla/ in recovery movements. He said, "perhaps we have at hand, if not the rising of a wholly new industry, a measurable equivalent in the potentialities of a widespread rebuilding and modernizing movement such as home renovising, plant remodeling, the putting of our railroads on a high speed, air conditioned basis, and other valuable developments in the construction field. I can repeat without reservation that we bankers are willing and eager to play our full economic part in any such constructive developments."

Hopes for Upward Trend.

He said that it has been the lack of confidence on the part of business men in the business outlook, rather than the timidity of bankers, that has kept bank funds from going to work. It is hoped, he said, that with the adjournment of congress that this distrust and fear will disappear and an upward trend be shown in the general business situation.

It was pointed out that under the banking act all insured banks must become members of the federal reserve system by 1937, but that it is extremely doubtful, with the strong feeling of states rights, that congress could ever agree on a plan for federal control over all of the banks.

Supports Commission Plan.

Mr. Hecht supported the suggestion of the American Bankers' association that President Roosevelt appoint a mixed and nonpartisan commission to make a thorough study of banking and economic problems in their relations to one another.

He stated that experimental legislation had its place when the economic system had to be kept alive at all costs, but that it is now time to find true and permanent remedies. He added that on the whole the great powers given the President have been wisely and temperately used.

NATION PAYING 10 MILLION A DAY FOR INSURANCE

New York, July 3.—The people of the United States are paying life insurance premiums at the rate of almost $10,000,000 a day, or about $425,000 more than a year ago.

Statistics from 42 leading companies with 85 per cent of the insurance in force in the country show that 5,661,054 policies and certificates were taken out in the first five months of 1934, against only 4,934,000 in the corresponding period of 1934. Premium receipts for the first four months of this year amounted to $970,778,000, an increase of $42,675,000 over the same months of 1933.

More than half the population of the United States carries life insurance. Roughly 68,000,000 to 70,000,000 people have life policies out of a population of close to 130,000,000. There are only about 10,000,000 individual stockholders and 8,000,000 owners of bonds. These policies, numbering more than 90,000,000, include ordinary life insurance policies, together with group and industrial policies generally assumed by employers for the benefit of their workers.

Group certificates, which get low rates because they are usually undertaken by an employer for his working force and are effective only during the course of employment, had the largest gain of the several classifications in the first five months of this year. Some 154,293 group certificates were issued, against only 63,000 last year, a rise of 145 per cent.

DAILY AVERAGE CRUDE OUTPUT SHOWS DECLINE

New York, July 3.—(AP)—Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 10,100 barrels in the week ended June 30, totaling 2,592,000 barrels, the American Petroleum institute's weekly summary indicates. Daily average production east of California increased 10,100 barrels to 2,077,000 barrels.

Interest Modest as London Wool Auction Is Reopened

LONDON, July 3.—(AP)—At the opening of the fourth wool auction today 11,437 bales were offered of which 6,981 were sold. There was a large number of buyers in attendance but the tone was subdued. Buyers for the home trade were fairly active while those from the continent were quiet. The demand for Queensland greasies was poor. South Australian scoured and miscellaneous lots were frequently withdrawn due to sellers limits and the lack of demand.

TOP LIVE STOCK PRICES ADVANCE; OTHERS DECLINE

Holiday Slump in Meat Demand Hits Trading.

The pre-holiday slump in demand for meats served further to unsettle the live stock markets yesterday. Supplies were not excessive, but with packers carrying lighter buying orders all but the meager run of well fattened meat animals were forced slightly lower. The trend of prices was two ways, best classes commanding a better premium than heretofore, while the others were discounted still further.

Members of the trade here predict that the spread between highly finished cattle and hogs and the unfinished stock will continue to widen so long as the top notchers comprise such a meager share of the total receipts.

Reach $4.95 Mark.

Selected heavy butchers showing a long corn feeding raised the top for hogs 5 cents to the $4.95 line, the highest mark since last Friday, but the bulk of offerings were barely steady, and many of the light weights were cleaned up on afternoon rounds at weak to 25 cents lower rates. The general average price for the day remained unchanged at $4.55.

Yesterday's receipts at 20,000 were augmented by a fairly liberal carryover of lights, estimated at upwards to 5,000 head, including some that have been around the yards since last week. Many of the fair grades of 140 to 180 pound averages went over the scales to local houses within a price range of $3.50 to $4.25, while selected 180 pound averages sold upwards to $4.65 and top grades of 200 to 250 pound butchers cashed at $4.75 to $4.90.

Some of the top grades of steers on eastern account yesterday were sold 15 to 25 cents higher. Representatives of the packers in the east were here in search of prime 1,200 to 1,500 pound steers that would get down east tomorrow and be ready to be slaughtered after the holiday. Competition for such kinds waxed brisk as long as the limited supply lasted.

The trade slowed down abruptly as soon as the eastern orders had been taken care of, and the close on the plainer classes was steady to lower. Choice 1,205 pound steers topped the price list at $10.15, while the bulk of all weights of sters of beef merit sold within a range of $5,50 to $9.00, inferior grades of grassy stock and southwestern "yellowhammers" ranging downwards to $3.50 and under, depending on their condition.

The lamb trade finished steady to 25 cents lower after a deadlock had developed when packers attempted to take off a flat 25 cents. Packers bought native new crop lambs at $8.00 and under, while city butchers paid up to $8.25. The string of $8.40 range lambs were better in quality and carried more weight than those at the same figure on Monday.

The pre-holiday slump in demand for meats served further to unsettle the live stock markets yesterday. Supplies were not excessive, but with packers carrying lighter buying orders all but the meager run of well fattened meat animals were forced slightly lower. The trend of prices was two ways, best classes commanding a better premium than heretofore, while the others were discounted still further.

Members of the trade here predict that the spread between highly finished cattle and hogs and the unfinished stock will continue to widen so long as the top notchers comprise such a meager share of the total receipts.

Reach $4.95 Mark.

Selected heavy butchers showing a long corn feeding raised the top for hogs 5 cents to the $4.95 line, the highest mark since last Friday, but the bulk of offerings were barely steady, and many of the light weights were cleaned up on afternoon rounds at weak to 25 cents lower rates. The general average price for the day remained unchanged at $4.55.

Yesterday's receipts at 20,000 were augmented by a fairly liberal carryover of lights, estimated at upwards to 5,000 head, including some that have been around the yards since last week. Many of the fair grades of 140 to 180 pound averages went over the scales to local houses within a price range of $3.50 to $4.25, while selected 180 pound averages sold upwards to $4.65 and top grades of 200 to 250 pound butchers cashed at $4.75 to $4.90.

Some of the top grades of steers on eastern account yesterday were sold 15 to 25 cents higher. Representatives of the packers in the east were here in search of prime 1,200 to 1,500 pound steers that would get down east tomorrow and be ready to be slaughtered after the holiday. Competition for such kinds waxed brisk as long as the limited supply lasted.

The trade slowed down abruptly as soon as the eastern orders had been taken care of, and the close on the plainer classes was steady to lower. Choice 1,205 pound steers topped the price list at $10.15, while the bulk of all weights of sters of beef merit sold within a range of $5.50 to $9.00, inferior grades of grassy stock and southwestern "yellowhammers" ranging downwards to $3.50 and under, depending on their condition.

The lamb trade finished steady to 25 cents lower after a deadlock had developed when packers attempted to take off a flat 25 cents. Packers bought native new crop lambs at $8.00 and under, while city butchers paid up to $8.25. The string of $8.40 range lambs were better in quality and carried more weight than those at the same figure on Monday.
